Medical Society Approves Plan on Blood Donations

Prefers Collections With Existing Facilities in Area, Group Reports

The executive committee of the Ulster County Medical Society this week approved local procurement by the Red Cross of blood for the armed forces, "preferably through existing facilities."

The action was taken by the Comitia Minora of the Medical Society at its regular meeting on Nov. 6 at the home of Dr. Virgil DeWitt in New Paltz.

A committee report adopted by the Comitia Minora stressed the urgent need for a more complete recruitment of blood donors for the armed forces, and offered the Society's "wholehearted cooperation" toward procurement of blood by the Red Cross for armed forces.

The report also recommended that the existing blood bank in Ulster county be maintained and coordinated to supply adequate amounts of blood for civilian defense purposes. It noted that the Medical Society of the State of New York resolved at a meeting April 30 that existing blood banks should be maintained, strenghtened and expanded.

Czech Is Labelled As Top Red Spy; Assigned to U. S.

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP) — A Czech diplomat assigned to duty here has been described by Senate internal security investigators as a top Communist spy.

He was named by Senators McCarran (D-Nev.) and O'Conor (D-Md.) last night as Col. Oto Bikeler, military and air attache to the Czechoslovakian embassy. The senators said he is now in Czechoslovakia.

McCarran, chairman of the Senate Internal Security Committee, said "it is known to our intelligence agents that Bikeler, for two years, has been gathering information on this country's research into bacteriological warfare and atomic weapons and other advanced methods of defense."

In a separate statement, O'Conor described the Czech as "a key figure in the Communist espionage apparatus in the United States." O'Conor heads a subcommittee which has been probing into the administration of provisions of the internal security law relating to subversive aliens.

Carroll Denies Story He Quits as Chairman

John J. Carroll of 30 Catskill avenue has not resigned as city chairman of the Democratic party, he said today.

Contacted at his home this morning, Carroll said that any reports that he had resigned the party chairmanship were mistaken.

Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman, also said that, to his knowledge, Carroll is still city chairman and had not resigned.

Murray Re-elected President of CIO

No Direct Merger Talks Held, AFL Says, Blames Murray

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Philip Murray, 65-year old former coal miner, was re-elected today to his 12th year as president of the CIO after a confetti-throwing demonstration by shouting convention delegates.

Murray's name was put into nomination by Jacob Potofsky, head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, who called Murray "not only a union leader but a leader of mankind."

Election of officers followed the passage of resolutions calling for intensified political action next year and authorizing Murray and other officers to pursue whatever avenues toward labor unity that may develop.

Possibility of a CIO-AFL merger appeared remote, however. Murray has declared the CIO against immediate merger while favoring cooperation between the two big labor groups.

After the AFL made overtures for algamation, there were rumors a week ago that the CIO and AFL might in some way over-

Security Is Big Concern Of Nations

Smaller Countries Are Jittery as Russia and U. S. Talk on Arms Conference

Action Is Urged

New Zealand for Move to Pull Together to Avert Aggression

Paris, Nov. 9 (AP)—Small nations pleaded for greater collective security against the possibility of another Korea today in speeches before the United Nations Assembly. Their pleas followed discouraging new tough talk by the United States and Russia.

As they spoke, U. S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, in a special news conference, challenged the Soviet Union to start disarmament talks in the UN now—not to wait until some time before June 1, 1952, as the Russians proposed yesterday. Jessup also accused the Russians of trying to by-pass the UN in asking a world-wide arms conference.

Would Push for Action

Russia's proposal was in answer to a U. S. plan—also put before the UN general assembly yesterday—for a census of armaments and progressive reduction of both convention and atomic weapons. Jessup said the U. S. and her British and French allies would push for quick UN action on their proposal.

In the general assembly meeting today F. W. Doidge of New Zealand urged increased measures of collective security to give the free world strength to repel any future aggressions such as occured in Korea.

In his policy speech he called on all UN members to "pull their weight in deeds as well as words" for an effective system of world-wide collective security.

Cuba's chief delegate, Dr. Aureliano Sanchez Aranco said his government supported all measures intended to repel aggression and added that Cuba wanted "peace based on rights, liberty and justice."

UN Has Plans Ready

The United Nations already has drawn up a blueprint for such a security plan, embracing not only military but political, financial and economic phases as well.

Any hope that the small nations had entertained that a lessening in east-west tensions might come about in this session was shattered yesterday by the hard-hitting policy speeches of Russia's Andrei Vishinsky and U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Both said they wanted peace. But they were worlds apart in their approach to the problem.

White-haired Vishinsky, his arms flailing and his voice rising sometimes to a shout, scornfully rejected the western Big Three's proposals for controlled arms reduction.

Instead, he put forward his own peace program.

Both the British and American delegations appeared disappointed by the swift Russian rejection of the three-power plan. But a French spokesman said the west refused to be discouraged. He said he hoped Russia would, as she sometimes has done in past sessions, reverse herself and accept the western proposals.

Hearings Are Opened

New City, Nov. 9 (AP)—The State Water Power and Control Commission opened hearings yesterday on a proposed dam and reservoir to draw water from the Hackensack river. The New York Water and Supply Co. wants to build the project to service consumers in Rockland County. It is a subsidiary of the Hackensack, N. J., Water Co. George H. Buck, president of the Hackensack Company, told the hearing the population serviced in Rockland county by the New York Water and Supply has increased 130 per cent in 30 years.

Times Says Democrats Pledge Eisenhower Truman Backing

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—The New York Times said today Democrats have visited Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Paris twice within five weeks and promised him President Truman's support for the 1952 presidential nomination.

The visits, the Times said, appeared to be part of a "much more active and organized campaign than has been generally known" to get Eisenhower as the Democratic nominee.

Arthur Krock, the Washington correspondent for the newspaper, wrote that he received his information from a Republican who should know and whose "standing in the nation is very high indeed."

First, the article said, Eisenhower was approached by a Democrat "described as very influential in the party and not associated with the southern opponents of the President."

Later, Krock quoted the Republican source, "a group of similar type" also called on the general.

On each occasion, the story said, the same statement was made to Eisenhower. Krock elaborated:

"It was that if, at any time before the Democratic national convention, he would say he would accept its presidential nomination, his visitors were convinced they could 'guarantee' it and he could count on the support of President Truman.

"General Eisenhower's reported

Central Operates At 2-Million Loss, Attorney Declares

Statement Is Offered at Hearing to Back Removal of Two Trains

The New York Central Railroad Company operated at a loss of $2,126,000 during the first nine months of this year, according to testimony introduced at a Public Service Commission hearing in this city Thursday afternoon.

The deficit was stated on a summary of the railroad's revenues, expenses and net income for the years 1945 to 1950. William R. Stevens, railroad counsel, offered the statement as evidence to defend the company's action in removing two daily and two weekend trains from its West Shore Division.

In the calendar year 1950, the railroad reported a net income of $18,315,000. Testimony by Ralph J. Mueller, accountant for the railroad's comptroller's office, pointed out two factors that in part accounted for the spread between last year's profit and the loss the first part of this year: (1) Last year's figure includes $17,826,993 in retroactive mail pay covering years 1947 to 1950, and (2) the railroad strike this year cut into profits.

Testimony Offered

Financial testimony was offered to support the railroad's contention that it was forced to curtail unprofitable service because the company as a whole was losing money.

The hearing, before Examiner A. H. Williamson, was scheduled by the P.S.C. after local groups had protested the removal on September 30 of this year of four trains, No. 6 and 19, daily; and No. 20 and 25 on week-ends.

Testimony during the morning session was offered by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, County Attorney Frederick Stang; Attorney Thomas A. Schankey of Stony Point in Rockland county, and Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. They protested the removal as part of a "dangerous trend" toward the elimination of passenger service on the West Shore, and contended that the railroad has an obligation to the public of providing service. John L. Larkin, attorney for Senator Arthur H. Wicks, conducted the protest case, with other appearances by Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly and County Attorney Stang. Richard C. Llope appeared for the P.S.C.

Among Witnesses

The railroad's case was begun Thursday afternoon by Attorney Stevens. Witnesses included Mueller; W. R. Main, former trainmaster at Weehawken and now research assistant; and D. T. Hart, aassistant to the manager of passenger transportation.

The hearing was adjourned until Thursday, Dec. 6, at 10 a. m., when the railroad's case will be continued. The following day will be reserved by the P.S.C. for completion of the hearing, if required.

Although financial exhibits were accepted in evidence Thursday afternoon for the railroad company as a whole, no breakdown of financial conditions for the West Shore, or River Division, was given. Stang requested the

Nuckols Has Idea Stall Is Perpetrated

Other Sources Believe Reds Await Later Instructions in View of Paris Talks

Front Bolstered

About 30,000 Chinese Are Pushed to Area in Center

Munsan, Korea, Nov. 9 (AP)—Truce negotiators canceled their afternoon meeting today after an "inconclusive and unproductive" morning session.

A United Nations command communique, which described the talks as fruitless, said negotiators would meet tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 a. m. Friday EST).

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN spokesman, said he got the impression Communist representatives might be stalling.

Allied sources suggested the Reds might be waiting for new instructions in view of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's proposal Thursday in Paris for a cease-fire within 10 days. Vishinsky suggested all troops withdraw from the 38th Parallel and foreign units leave Korea within three months.

Nuckols said neither Vishinsky nor the 38th Parallel were mentioned during Friday's two hour and 25 minute meeting in a dirty yellow tent in Panmunjom.

Red negotiators long ago agreed to leave the withdrawal of foreign troops for consideration in recommendations to the governments concerned on both sides." That is point five of the agenda on which the negotiators are working. More recently the Reds dropped their insistence on a cease-fire buffer zone along the 38th Parallel.

Nuckols said he felt Vishinsky's remarks would not "tend to allay any of the fears that have arisen" about Communist intentions.

On the fighting front Reds were reported shoving in a new Chiese army corps (30,000 men) to bolster its central front around Kumsong and massing tanks on the western sector facing Yonchon. Communist troops probed along both fronts in sub-freezing weather.

Air battles over northwest Korea, the Fifth Air Force reported, cost the Reds three more jets destroyed and two damaged. It said no allied planes were lost.

Buffer Is Created

Negotiators of both sides propose creating a 2½ mile wide buffer zone along the present battle line with certain alterations. They differ on the alterations and the time for drafting the buffer zone.

Friday's meeting was again devoted to the Communist proposal which the allies "completely rejected" Thursday.

Nuckols described the Red position as "elusive." He said it was "very obvious" the Communists were still demanding what would amount to a cease-fire now which would relieve them from pressure to solve other armistice problems.

(Red China's Peiping radio said "the American side in disregard of the facts is stating that our side wants an immediate fixing of an unchangeable military demarcation line." The radio said this was a "trick of the American side to confuse the public.")

The dispute hinges on the wording of the Reds' five-point plan, and its intent.

Could Change Zone

(Peiping radio said the Reds proposed "that if any real changes occur in the actual line of contact before the signing of the armistice agreement" the buffer zone could be changed "to correspond to the actual area of the line of contact."

(Peiping said "the American side is mixing up" two different points on the Red proposal. It indicated that ultimate possession of Kaesong, now in Red hands,

Budget Group Tries To Avoid Taxation In State for 1953

Will Sidestep Increases in Fiscal Program—Hearings Are Scheduled

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 9 (AP)—Governor Dewey's budget-makers today were trying to map a near billion-dollar state spending program for 1952-53 that would require no tax increases.

State Budget Director T. Norman Hurd will open formal hearings Tuesday on departmental budget requests for the next fiscal year.

Hurd's budget examiners already have held informal conferences with departmental bigwigs and the annual process of "cutting to the bone" will come with the formal, private hearings.

The 1951-52 state budget lists $999,700,000 in appropriations, but the actual "tax budget" amounts to about $952,000,000.

Dewey's fiscal experts look for a surplus at the end of the fiscal year, next March 31—the first since 1949. There was a $9,000,000 deficit last March.

Some Republican fiscal authorities contend that state revenue from existing taxes will continue at a high level in 1952 because the general prosperity in 1951 has been as good or better than it was in 1950. Taxes on 1951 income, personal and business, will be collected during 1952, for the most part.

Increases Conceded

This, in effect, would make it possible to balance another budget as high as the current one, without increasing taxes, they theorize.

They concede some "inevitable" increases in the cost of government due to inflated prices, but look for some favorable counterbalancing conditions to help preclude the need for tax boosts.

The state administration anticipates receipt of some federal funds for civil defense activities.

Also, for the 1952-53 fiscal year, the state is counting on collecting the new weight-distance tax on big trucks.

A factor working against any tax increases is that 1952 is an "election year," in which the actions of members of the Legislature will be appraised by the voters.

Budget boss Hurd will meet Tuesday with representatives of the State Health and Banking Departments, the State Police Division and the State Civil Defense Agency.

Conferences with other departmental chiefs will follow.

State law requires Governor Dewey to submit the budget to the Legislature by Feb. 1.

Chief Has Conference

Tokyo, Nov. 9 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the U. S. Air Forces, spent today conferring with Far East Air Forces commanders in Tokyo. Vandenberg flew in early this morning from Washington, slept a few hours and then plunged into his conferences. Commenting on the growing frequency of air battles between U. S. jets and Russian-type MIG-15s, the air chief said: "I'll look into the MIG situation. But I'll have more to say when I get back from Korea."

To Stay in Capital

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran today decided to stay in Washington for a fourth week in a last-ditch effort to settle the critical Iranian-British oil dispute.

Two Aerial Duels Are Fought in Northwest Sector

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Nov. 9 (AP) — Allied warplanes sent three Communist jets crashing to the ground in flames today, U. S. Fifth Air Force reported.

Two other Russian-made MIG-15s were damaged. The air force said all allied planes returned safely to base.

Two aerial duels were fought over northwest Korea, with 52 American jets pitted against about 50 Communist planes. It was one of the few times the two sides have met on near-even terms.

On the ground, Chinese forces threw a series of small attacks before daylight at allied positions near Yonchon and Kumsong. Yonchon is in the west, Kumsong on the central front.

The temperature dipped to 17 degrees Thursday night. The ground was white with frost.

The recent surge in Red activity around Kumsong may have been a screen for the shifting of Communist troops, the officer said. The Eighth Army estimated that 610 Reds were killed and 527 were wounded yesterday in the Kumsong sector fighting.

Tank Forces Increase

The Reds also were reported building up their tank forces around Yonchon in the west.

An Allied briefing officer said the Chinese have moved up enough armor and artillery to be "capable of launching a limited offensive" on the western front.

The Chinese, bundled in their quilted winter uniforms, appeared more intent upon staying warm than launching an offensive. Some Red patrols braved the sub-freezing weather. But generally they confined their daylight activity to exchanging artillery and mortar fire with UN guns.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, wearing his familiar grenade, visited the front and took a look at the Chinese through field glasses.

The UN commander remarked he wanted "to get some of that good front line air."

Air observers reported intense Red activity behind the front appeared to be dropping off after Allied warplanes attacked more

Sabotage Guards Are Established For Reservoirs

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Constant sabotage guard on New York's watersheds by 151 armed men with 24 jeep station wagons begins today.

The force, equipped with two-way mobile radios, will cover the 1,000-square-mile area of the Catskill mountain and Croton reservoir systems.

The city office of civilian defense announced establishment of the guard yesterday.

The force will have two mobile laboratories in which water contamination tests could be made in event of atomic attack or bacteriological warfare.

The guards, employes of the city water supply department, will patrol aqueducts and pumping stations as well as reservoirs. The water department is cooperating with the civil defense department.

The new equipment cost about $100,000.

NPA Says It May Be Tougher; Most Construction Denied

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP) — The National Production authority reported today it had denied 63 per cent of the construction applications for this quarter and may be still tougher in the first quarter of next year.

Price control chiefs were revamping regulations affecting 100,000 manufacturers, and said generally higher price ceilings may be expected on many consumer goods as a result.

And a halt was ordered in the government stockpiling of tin so that all available supplies can go to industry to speed defense production.

The NPA report on building permits was based on applications representing more than $1,000,000,000 worth of commercial and other construction, most of which must be deferred until materials are available.

The agency said it was unable to permit the start of any project not connected with defense directly or indirectly, except a small number of hardship cases in which buildings had been destroyed by fire, flood or other disaster.

The construction controls division now is handling applications for the January-through-March quarter. For that period, the report said, "it is unlikely that approval will be given to any project not at least 20 per cent completed."

As in the present quarter, approval will be given only to proj-

Costliest Strike Is Ended After 25 Days — No Mention Made About Differences

Affected 20,000

Third of Union Lists Quit During Fight in Union

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Striking longshoremen flocked back to freight-jammed piers today after their leaders agreed to end the port's billion dollar, 25-day wildcat walkout.

Along the miles of waterfront from Hoboken and Jersey City, N. J., to the far reaches of Brooklyn, thousands streamed to work before the 1 p. m. deadline set by their leaders.

There were jobs aplenty for all at the long-idle piers. In Hoboken, police were helping round up extra men.

The rebel union faction which steamrollered the strike into New York's longest port tieup, yielded to a New York fact-finding board in the pre-dawn hours to end the strike.

No mention was made concerning settlement of intra-union differences. The dispute—principally over wage scales in a new contract and legality of the contract itself—still must be aired by the board.

Costliest in History

The strike was the costliest in the history of the world's biggest port, with piers sprawled along both New York and New Jersey.

At the peak of the walkout, 114 ships were tied up.

New York State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, who appointed the three-man inquiry panel, announced shortly before 2 a. m., that the ports of New York and Boston would be open at 1 p. m. today.

Boston was the only other port completely shut down by the strike, with other east coast ports being affected from time to time.

In New York, an increasing number of dockers had been returning to work on non-military ships in recent days.

Corsi's announcement followed a four-hour closed meeting between representatives of rebel longshoremen and the panel.

More than 20,000 union dockers were affected by the minority walkout, which began over ratification Oct. 12 of a new ILA contract with east coast shipping and stevedoring companies. The dissident group, led by John (Gene) Sampson, went out three days later.

Pickets, aided by motorcades of strikers, barred entrance to the docks by non-striking ILA members. In many instances, fists and rocks flew during the dispute, but no serious incidents occurred. In some instances, workers went to and from the docks aided by police details.

Meanwhile, cargoes piled up on the docks and warehouses, with only military ships being worked. They, too, were tied up for a short time at the start of the strike.

In announcing the back-to-work move, Corsi made no mention of concessions, if any, coming from either side. He said the inquiry board would continue its public hearings on the dispute.

The board urged "that there be no discrimination in hiring or rehiring" and added:

"The strike committee lent its cooperation to the board of inquiry in full recognition of the necessity of protecting the port of New York and of the public interest."

Ryan 'Very Happy'

Joseph P. Ryan, head of the ILA, said he was "very happy" that the walkout was over and there would "of course" be no discrimination against strikers in the shape-up hiring system.

The panel succeeded where federal and state mediators were forced to give up earlier in the dispute.

The strike brewed after Ryan announced ILA acceptance of a new contract with the New York Shipping Association. Ryan said the stevedore balloting among the 65,000 men showed a two-to-one majority in favor of contract acceptance.

The Sampson group contends that the vote was a fraud, and that ILA voting machinery is outmoded. It demands renegotiation of wage and other issues.

The agreement gave the dockers a $2.10 hourly wage, a 10-cent boost over previous wages. The strikers wanted a 25-cent an hour pay hike.

About 30,000 Chinese Are Pushed to Area in Center

Munsan, Korea, Nov. 9 (AP)—Truce negotiators canceled their afternoon meeting today after an "inconclusive and unproductive" morning session.

A United Nations command communique, which described the talks as fruitless, said negotiators would meet tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 a. m. Friday EST).

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN spokesman, said he got the impression Communist representatives might be stalling.

Allied sources suggested the Reds might be waiting for new instructions in view of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's proposal Thursday in Paris for a cease-fire within 10 days. Vishinsky suggested all troops withdraw from the 38th Parallel and foreign units leave Korea within three months.

Nuckols said neither Vishinsky nor the 38th Parallel were mentioned during Friday's two hour and 25 minute meeting in a dirty yellow tent in Panmunjom.

Red negotiators long ago agreed to leave the withdrawal of foreign troops for consideration in recommendations to the governments concerned on both sides." That is point five of the agenda on which the negotiators are working. More recently the Reds dropped their insistence on a cease-fire buffer zone along the 38th Parallel.

Nuckols said he felt Vishinsky's remarks would not "tend to allay any of the fears that have arisen" about Communist intentions.

On the fighting front Reds were reported shoving in a new Chiese army corps (30,000 men) to bolster its central front around Kumsong and massing tanks on the western sector facing Yonchon. Communist troops probed along both fronts in sub-freezing weather.

Air battles over northwest Korea, the Fifth Air Force reported, cost the Reds three more jets destroyed and two damaged. It said no allied planes were lost.

Buffer Is Created

Negotiators of both sides propose creating a 2½ mile wide buffer zone along the present battle line with certain alterations. They differ on the alterations and the time for drafting the buffer zone.

Friday's meeting was again devoted to the Communist proposal which the allies "completely rejected" Thursday.

Nuckols described the Red position as "elusive." He said it was "very obvious" the Communists were still demanding what would amount to a cease-fire now which would relieve them from pressure to solve other armistice problems.

(Red China's Peiping radio said "the American side in disregard of the facts is stating that our side wants an immediate fixing of an unchangeable military demarcation line." The radio said this was a "trick of the American side to confuse the public.")

The dispute hinges on the wording of the Reds' five-point plan, and its intent.

Could Change Zone

(Peiping radio said the Reds proposed "that if any real changes occur in the actual line of contact before the signing of the armistice agreement" the buffer zone could be changed "to correspond to the actual area of the line of contact."

(Peiping said "the American side is mixing up" two different points on the Red proposal. It indicated that ultimate possession of Kaesong, now in Red hands,

WarplanesSmash Three Enemy Jets

Two Aerial Duels Are Fought in Northwest Sector

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Nov. 9 (AP) — Allied warplanes sent three Communist jets crashing to the ground in flames today, U. S. Fifth Air Force reported.

Two other Russian-made MIG-15s were damaged. The air force said all allied planes returned safely to base.

Two aerial duels were fought over northwest Korea, with 52 American jets pitted against about 50 Communist planes. It was one of the few times the two sides have met on near-even terms.

On the ground, Chinese forces threw a series of small attacks before daylight at allied positions near Yonchon and Kumsong. Yonchon is in the west, Kumsong on the central front.

The temperature dipped to 17 degrees Thursday night. The ground was white with frost.

The recent surge in Red activity around Kumsong may have been a screen for the shifting of Communist troops, the officer said. The Eighth Army estimated that 610 Reds were killed and 527 were wounded yesterday in the Kumsong sector fighting.

Tank Forces Increase

The Reds also were reported building up their tank forces around Yonchon in the west.

An Allied briefing officer said the Chinese have moved up enough armor and artillery to be "capable of launching a limited offensive" on the western front.

The Chinese, bundled in their quilted winter uniforms, appeared more intent upon staying warm than launching an offensive. Some Red patrols braved the sub-freezing weather. But generally they confined their daylight activity to exchanging artillery and mortar fire with UN guns.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, wearing his familiar grenade, visited the front and took a look at the Chinese through field glasses.

The UN commander remarked he wanted "to get some of that good front line air."

BudgetGroupTries To Avoid Taxation In State for 1953

Will Sidestep Increases in Fiscal Program—Hearings Are Scheduled

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 9 (AP)—Governor Dewey's budget-makers today were trying to map a near billion-dollar state spending program for 1952-53 that would require no tax increases.

State Budget Director T. Norman Hurd will open formal hearings Tuesday on departmental budget requests for the next fiscal year.

Hurd's budget examiners already have held informal conferences with departmental bigwigs and the annual process of "cutting to the bone" will come with the formal, private hearings.

The 1951-52 state budget lists $999,700,000 in appropriations, but the actual "tax budget" amounts to about $952,000,000.

Dewey's fiscal experts look for a surplus at the end of the fiscal year, next March 31—the first since 1949. There was a $9,000,000 deficit last March.

Some Republican fiscal authorities contend that state revenue from existing taxes will continue at a high level in 1952 because the general prosperity in 1951 has been as good or better than it was in 1950. Taxes on 1951 income, personal and business, will be collected during 1952, for the most part.

Increases Conceded

This, in effect, would make it possible to balance another budget as high as the current one, without increasing taxes, they theorize.

They concede some "inevitable" increases in the cost of government due to inflated prices, but look for some favorable counterbalancing conditions to help preclude the need for tax boosts.

The state administration anticipates receipt of some federal funds for civil defense activities.

Also, for the 1952-53 fiscal year, the state is counting on collecting the new weight-distance tax on big trucks.

A factor working against any tax increases is that 1952 is an "election year," in which the actions of members of the Legislature will be appraised by the voters.

Budget boss Hurd will meet Tuesday with representatives of the State Health and Banking Departments, the State Police Division and the State Civil Defense Agency.

Conferences with other departmental chiefs will follow.

State law requires Governor Dewey to submit the budget to the Legislature by Feb. 1.

Chief Has Conference

Tokyo, Nov. 9 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the U. S. Air Forces, spent today conferring with Far East Air Forces commanders in Tokyo. Vandenberg flew in early this morning from Washington, slept a few hours and then plunged into his conferences. Commenting on the growing frequency of air battles between U. S. jets and Russian-type MIG-15s, the air chief said: "I'll look into the MIG situation. But I'll have more to say when I get back from Korea."

To Stay in Capital

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP)—Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran today decided to stay in Washington for a fourth week in a last-ditch effort to settle the critical Iranian-British oil dispute.

Costliest Strike Is Ended After 25 Days — No Mention Made About Differences

Affected 20,000

Third of Union Lists Quit During Fight in Union

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Striking longshoremen flocked back to freight-jammed piers today after their leaders agreed to end the port's billion dollar, 25-day wildcat walkout.

Along the miles of waterfront from Hoboken and Jersey City, N. J., to the far reaches of Brooklyn, thousands streamed to work before the 1 p. m. deadline set by their leaders.

There were jobs aplenty for all at the long-idle piers. In Hoboken, police were helping round up extra men.

The rebel union faction which steamrollered the strike into New York's longest port tieup, yielded to a New York fact-finding board in the pre-dawn hours to end the strike.

No mention was made concerning settlement of intra-union differences. The dispute—principally over wage scales in a new contract and legality of the contract itself—still must be aired by the board.

Costliest in History

The strike was the costliest in the history of the world's biggest port, with piers sprawled along both New York and New Jersey.

At the peak of the walkout, 114 ships were tied up.

New York State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, who appointed the three-man inquiry panel, announced shortly before 2 a. m., that the ports of New York and Boston would be open at 1 p. m. today.

Boston was the only other port completely shut down by the strike, with other east coast ports being affected from time to time.

In New York, an increasing number of dockers had been returning to work on non-military ships in recent days.

Corsi's announcement followed a four-hour closed meeting between representatives of rebel longshoremen and the panel.

More than 20,000 union dockers were affected by the minority walkout, which began over ratification Oct. 12 of a new ILA contract with east coast shipping and stevedoring companies. The dissident group, led by John (Gene) Sampson, went out three days later.

Pickets, aided by motorcades of strikers, barred entrance to the docks by non-striking ILA members. In many instances, fists and rocks flew during the dispute, but no serious incidents occurred. In some instances, workers went to and from the docks aided by police details.

Meanwhile, cargoes piled up on the docks and warehouses, with only military ships being worked. They, too, were tied up for a short time at the start of the strike.

In announcing the back-to-work move, Corsi made no mention of concessions, if any, coming from either side. He said the inquiry board would continue its public hearings on the dispute.

The board urged "that there be no discrimination in hiring or rehiring" and added:

"The strike committee lent its cooperation to the board of inquiry in full recognition of the necessity of protecting the port of New York and of the public interest."

Ryan 'Very Happy'

Joseph P. Ryan, head of the ILA, said he was "very happy" that the walkout was over and there would "of course" be no discrimination against strikers in the shape-up hiring system.

The panel succeeded where federal and state mediators were forced to give up earlier in the dispute.

The strike brewed after Ryan announced ILA acceptance of a new contract with the New York Shipping Association. Ryan said the stevedore balloting among the 65,000 men showed a two-to-one majority in favor of contract acceptance.

The Sampson group contends that the vote was a fraud, and that ILA voting machinery is outmoded. It demands renegotiation of wage and other issues.

The agreement gave the dockers a $2.10 hourly wage, a 10-cent boost over previous wages. The strikers wanted a 25-cent an hour pay hike.

Offices to Close

Offices of three federal agencies will be closed Monday in observance of Armistice Day. They are the post office, Internal Revenue and Veterans Administration, the latter at 286 Fair street.

Medical Society Approves Plan on Blood Donations

Prefers Collections With Existing Facilities in Area, Group Reports

The executive committee of the Ulster County Medical Society this week approved local procurement by the Red Cross of blood for the armed forces, "preferably through existing facilities."

The action was taken by the Comitia Minora of the Medical Society at its regular meeting on Nov. 6 at the home of Dr. Virgil DeWitt in New Paltz.

A committee report adopted by the Comitia Minora stressed the urgent need for a more complete recruitment of blood donors for the armed forces, and offered the Society's "wholehearted cooperation" toward procurement of blood by the Red Cross for armed forces.

The report also recommended that the existing blood bank in Ulster county be maintained and coordinated to supply adequate amounts of blood for civilian defense purposes. It noted that the Medical Society of the State of New York resolved at a meeting April 30 that existing blood banks should be maintained, strenghtened and expanded.

Carroll Denies Story He Quits as Chairman

John J. Carroll of 30 Catskill avenue has not resigned as city chairman of the Democratic party, he said today.

Contacted at his home this morning, Carroll said that any reports that he had resigned the party chairmanship were mistaken.

Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman, also said that, to his knowledge, Carroll is still city chairman and had not resigned.

No Direct Merger Talks Held, AFL Says, Blames Murray

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Philip Murray, 65-year old former coal miner, was re-elected today to his 12th year as president of the CIO after a confetti-throwing demonstration by shouting convention delegates.

Murray's name was put into nomination by Jacob Potofsky, head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, who called Murray "not only a union leader but a leader of mankind."

Election of officers followed the passage of resolutions calling for intensified political action next year and authorizing Murray and other officers to pursue whatever avenues toward labor unity that may develop.

Possibility of a CIO-AFL merger appeared remote, however. Murray has declared the CIO against immediate merger while favoring cooperation between the two big labor groups.

After the AFL made overtures for algamation, there were rumors a week ago that the CIO and AFL might in some way over-

Czech Is Labelled As Top Red Spy; Assigned to U. S.

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP) — A Czech diplomat assigned to duty here has been described by Senate internal security investigators as a top Communist spy.

He was named by Senators McCarran (D-Nev.) and O'Conor (D-Md.) last night as Col. Oto Bikeler, military and air attache to the Czechoslovakian embassy. The senators said he is now in Czechoslovakia.

McCarran, chairman of the Senate Internal Security Committee, said "it is known to our intelligence agents that Bikeler, for two years, has been gathering information on this country's research into bacteriological warfare and atomic weapons and other advanced methods of defense."

In a separate statement, O'Conor described the Czech as "a key figure in the Communist espionage apparatus in the United States." O'Conor heads a subcommittee which has been probing into the administration of provisions of the internal security law relating to subversive aliens.

TimesSaysDemocratsPledge EisenhowerTrumanBacking

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—The New York Times said today Democrats have visited Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Paris twice within five weeks and promised him President Truman's support for the 1952 presidential nomination.

The visits, the Times said, appeared to be part of a "much more active and organized campaign than has been generally known" to get Eisenhower as the Democratic nominee.

Arthur Krock, the Washington correspondent for the newspaper, wrote that he received his information from a Republican who should know and whose "standing in the nation is very high indeed."

First, the article said, Eisenhower was approached by a Democrat "described as very influential in the party and not associated with the southern opponents of the President."

Later, Krock quoted the Republican source, "a group of similar type" also called on the general.

On each occasion, the story said, the same statement was made to Eisenhower. Krock elaborated:

"It was that if, at any time before the Democratic national convention, he would say he would accept its presidential nomination, his visitors were convinced they could 'guarantee' it and he could count on the support of President Truman.

"General Eisenhower's reported

Sabotage Guards Are Established For Reservoirs

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Constant sabotage guard on New York's watersheds by 151 armed men with 24 jeep station wagons begins today.

The force, equipped with two-way mobile radios, will cover the 1,000-square-mile area of the Catskill mountain and Croton reservoir systems.

The city office of civilian defense announced establishment of the guard yesterday.

The force will have two mobile laboratories in which water contamination tests could be made in event of atomic attack or bacteriological warfare.

The guards, employes of the city water supply department, will patrol aqueducts and pumping stations as well as reservoirs. The water department is cooperating with the civil defense department.

The new equipment cost about $100,000.

NPA Says It May Be Tougher; Most Construction Denied

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP) — The National Production authority reported today it had denied 63 per cent of the construction applications for this quarter and may be still tougher in the first quarter of next year.

Price control chiefs were revamping regulations affecting 100,000 manufacturers, and said generally higher price ceilings may be expected on many consumer goods as a result.

And a halt was ordered in the government stockpiling of tin so that all available supplies can go to industry to speed defense production.

The NPA report on building permits was based on applications representing more than $1,000,000,000 worth of commercial and other construction, most of which must be deferred until materials are available.

The agency said it was unable to permit the start of any project not connected with defense directly or indirectly, except a small number of hardship cases in which buildings had been destroyed by fire, flood or other disaster.

The construction controls division now is handling applications for the January-through-March quarter. For that period, the report said, "it is unlikely that approval will be given to any project not at least 20 per cent completed."

As in the present quarter, approval will be given only to proj-

Six Jurors Are Accepted for Trial

Two more jurors had been selected for the murder trial of Edward Kelley early this afternoon, making a total of six by 1:30 p. m.

One of the new jurors is a woman and the other a man. Juror No. 5 is Mrs. Marion Marcks, of Marlborough and No. 6 is Gosta Lindgren, of Accord.

The first degree murder trial of Edward H. Kelly, now on in County Court before Judge John M. Cashin, moved ahead with remarkable speed Thursday when after selection of only one juror at the morning session three more were accepted at the afternoon session. None was selected at this morning's session.

When Judge Cashin recessed the court at 5 o'clock there were the following in the jury box:

Mrs. Emma K. Jenkins, Clintondale housewife.

Mathias Thiel, Rosendale, retired electrical contractor.

Ann M. Van Der Lieth, Rifton housewife.

Helen S. Turner, Accord housewife.

Kelly stands indicted for the shooting of Mrs. Eloise McHugh on May 22, 1950, as she was walking along Main street by the Old First Dutch Reformed Church on her way to work. Kelly and Mrs. McHugh had been friendly for several years. His defense will be that he had been drinking heavily at the time and did not know the nature of his act. Howard C. St. John and Whitman Knapp are co-counsel for defendant by assignment and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Assistant James Abernethy appear for the prosecution. The case is to be retried after a reversal of the former conviction of Kelly by the Court of Appeals after Kelly had been found guilty and sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Released in Bail

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—A Brooklyn housewife charged with smuggling more than $250,000 in diamonds into the United States was released in $10,000 bail today. U. S. Commissioner Edward Fay postponed a removal hearing for Mrs. Adele Meppen, 41, until Nov. 27. Federal authorities are seeking to take her to Syracuse, to answer the charge. Officials said Mrs. Meppen denied the charge.

Members of Kingston Council 275 Knights of Columbus Fourth Degree Assembly acted as honorary guard at the funeral.

Heart Condition Is Cause of Death

Miss Anna Reckenwald, 75, of 67 German street, who was found ill in her home yesterday, died at Kingston Hospital last night.

It was thought at first that the woman had been overcome by coal gas fumes but the examining physician attributed death to a heart condition and other causes.

Police headquarters was notified at 12:30 p. m. yesterday when neighbors noticed that a light had been left on in the house and she had not been seen about the place.

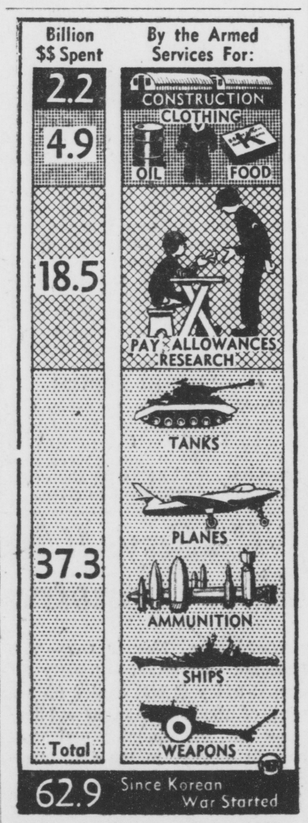
Motorcycle Patrolman Ernest Bartroff was dispatched to the house and found the woman seated in a chair in her living room. Firemen applied an inhalator and she was taken to the hospital in a Conner ambulance.

She was the daughter of the late Frank and Cresentia Schatzel Recktenwald, and is survived by several nieces and nephews. She had been employed at Kingston Hospital, and was a member of St. Peter's Church.

The funeral will be held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, Monday at 9 a. m., and at St. Peter's Church at 9:30 a. m., where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time starting Saturday afternoon.

About the Folks

Miss Gloria Paulucci, 338 Broadway, is in the Benedictine Hospital.



Since the start of the Korean War, the U. S. has spent or awarded contracts for $62.9 billion for weapons and military equipment, or $420 for each U. S. citizen. Newschart above shows how the sum was spent. U. S. rearmament costs for the 12 months immediately preceding the war were $13.2 billion.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—A substantial advance was scored today in the stock market with air lines providing a considerable portion of the inspiration.

Leading issues extended the rise to around 2 points at the best. There were few laggards.

Along with the air lines on the higher side were steels, rails, motors, rubbers, coppers, chemicals, aircrafts, and oils.

There was a bullish air about the market. Trading started briskly and higher, an apparent carryover from yesterday's market which ended higher after swinging about from side to side during the day.

This factor of restricted trading volume is a prime reason advanced by traders in describing current market movements as indecisive over the short-term.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks still is right near the lowest points touched in the big break from the 1951 high reached in mid-October. There is a disposition to look for relatively quiet markets until a base is formed for a major movement either way.

Gotham Gets Meters

New York (AP)—Following the example of some 2,500 other American towns and cities, New York is trying out parking meters. More than a thousand have been installed but the project still is in the experimental stage and the idea is to produce parking space rather than revenue.

City, Bus Company to Hold Meeting to Seek Solution

Representatives of this city and the Kingston City Transportation Corporation will get together to try to find a possible solution to troubles.

Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly and Thomas J. Whalen of the law office of Senator Pliny Williamson, counsel for the bus company, agreed to the suggestion by Hearing Examiner John F. O'Brien that they confer to try to save the city's bus service from abandonment.

Examiner O'Brien made his suggestion at this morning's Public Service Commission hearing of the bus company's application to surrended its franchise, or as an alternative continue only its Broadway line. The company pleaded that it was operating at a loss.

A report by Accountant Robert B. O'Reilly of an examination of the bus corporation's accounts was placed in evidence by Connelly. After stating the increased costs of operation, O'Reilly's report concluded that certain segments of the line were unprofitable, but that in his opinion, certain other parts of the system "can be run profitably."

Suggestions Offered

Two ward supervisors testified this morning, both offering suggestions for bettering the bus service.

Supervisor James Martin of the 12th Ward said the Fairview-Lucas line is "impractical to use" as it is presently set up. He suggested it be made a part of the Washington-Foxhall run, and that buses be run in both directions. He pointed out that, with buses running only one way, residents on one end of the belt line "actually save time by walking home."

As indication of the demand for transportation in this city, Martin claimed that "individuals and companies are growing by leaps and bounds in the formation of taxicab companies. There must be a desire for additional transportation facilities when this is so evident," he said.

Supervisor Martin reviewed the trend toward more families moving into his ward and needing bus service. Between 75 and 100 new homes have been built in the past year, a "vast and largely growing" amusement park has been developed just beyond the city limits two blocks from the Fairview-Lucas line, thousands of people visit the Forsyth Park, and the Board of Education is contemplating the erection of a junior high school on Lucas avenue, the supervisor said.

'Overlooking Revenue'

Supervisor Ray Lindhurst of the Third Ward suggested the bus company is overlooking an additional source of revenue by not trying out the proposition of providing service in his ward, which has a population of approximately 3,000.

Martin stated he was "not alarmed" over what he termed the bus company's "ultimatum." Indicating that he knew of a person interested in obtaining the franchise, Martin said that local persons are "much more aware of the problems than a firm with its office in New York city."

Examiner O'Brien told Martin that the issue of the franchise was not involved in this hearing and his remarks could not be considered. Attorney Whalen said that the bus company's application to surrender its franchise was "not an ultimatum, but just a stating of facts," and that the bus company's main office is in Kingston.

Concluding the hearing, O'Brien remarked, "To an impartial observer, it seems to me you have a very serious matter here. The city of Kingston is threatened with the loss of all its public transportation." He then suggested the counsel "sit down together and see if it is possible to work out some solution that might be reasonable." The suggestion was agreed to by the opposing counsel, and the hearing adjourned subject to call.

DREAMER or SAVER?

The dreamer dreams of a treasure chest
With golden coins galore,
But when he wakes—try his best
He can find his coins no more.

The saver saves as best he can,
He saves each little dollar,
Now he's no more an "also ran"—
He holds security's collar.

The dreamer's dreams will never pay
Mr. Dreamer's bills.....
The dreamer's screams will always say
Someday I'll save.....I will.

But Mr. Saver found a friend
In his savings bank account,
Now his money knows no end
For he has a great amount.

You too should be a saver
And save a little each week,
You'll do yourself a favor
And get the things you seek

Six Jurors Are Accepted for Trial

Two more jurors had been selected for the murder trial of Edward Kelley early this afternoon, making a total of six by 1:30 p. m.

One of the new jurors is a woman and the other a man. Juror No. 5 is Mrs. Marion Marcks, of Marlborough and No. 6 is Gosta Lindgren, of Accord.

The first degree murder trial of Edward H. Kelly, now on in County Court before Judge John M. Cashin, moved ahead with remarkable speed Thursday when after selection of only one juror at the morning session three more were accepted at the afternoon session. None was selected at this morning's session.

When Judge Cashin recessed the court at 5 o'clock there were the following in the jury box:

Mrs. Emma K. Jenkins, Clintondale housewife.

Mathias Thiel, Rosendale, retired electrical contractor.

Ann M. Van Der Lieth, Rifton housewife.

Helen S. Turner, Accord housewife.

Kelly stands indicted for the shooting of Mrs. Eloise McHugh on May 22, 1950, as she was walking along Main street by the Old First Dutch Reformed Church on her way to work. Kelly and Mrs. McHugh had been friendly for several years. His defense will be that he had been drinking heavily, at the time and did not know the nature of his act. Howard C. St. John and Whitman Knapp are co-counsel for defendant by assignment and District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Assistant James Abernethy appear for the prosecution. The case is to be retried after a reversal of the former conviction of Kelly by the Court of Appeals after Kelly had been found guilty and sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Heart Condition Is Cause of Death

Miss Anna Reckenwald, 75, of 67 German street, who was found ill in her home yesterday, died at Kingston Hospital last night.

It was thought at first that the woman had been overcome by coal gas fumes but the examining physician attributed death to a heart condition and other causes.

Police headquarters was notified at 12:30 p. m. yesterday when neighbors noticed that a light had been left on in the house and she had not been seen about the place.

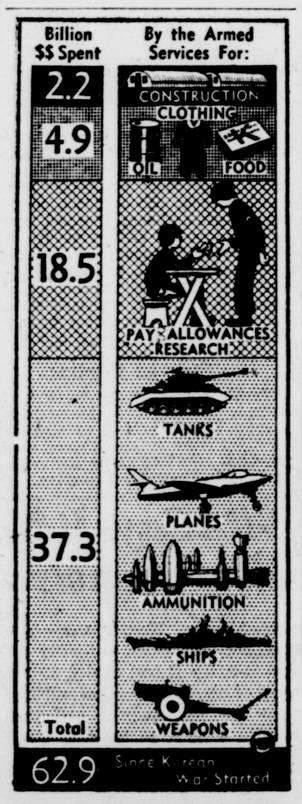
Motorcycle Patrolman Ernest Bartroff was dispatched to the house and found the woman seated in a chair in her living room. Firemen applied an inhalator and she was taken to the hospital in a Conner ambulance.

She was the daughter of the late Frank and Cresentia Schatzel Recktenwald, and is survived by several nieces and nephews. She had been employed at Kingston Hospital, and was a member of St. Peter's Church.

The funeral will be held from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, Monday at 9 a. m., and at St. Peter's Church at 9:30 a. m., where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time starting Saturday afternoon.

About the Folks

Miss Gloria Paulucci, 338 Broadway, is in the Benedictine Hospital.



Since the start of the Korean War, the U. S. has spent or awarded contracts for $62.9 billion for weapons and military equipment, or $420 for each U. S. citizen. Newschart above shows how the sum was spent. U. S. rearmament costs for the 12 months immediately preceding the war were $13.2 billion.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—A substantial advance was scored today in the stock market with air lines providing a considerable portion of the inspiration.

Leading issues extended the rise to around 2 points at the best. There were few laggards.

Along with the air lines on the higher side were steels, rails, motors, rubbers, coppers, chemicals, aircrafts, and oils.

There was a bullish air about the market. Trading started briskly and higher, an apparent carryover from yesterday's market which ended higher after swinging about from side to side during the day.

This factor of restricted trading volume is a prime reason advanced by traders in describing current market movements as indecisive over the short-term.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks still is right near the lowest points touched in the big break from the 1951 high reached in mid-October. There is a disposition to look for relatively quiet markets until a base is formed for a major movement either way.

City, Bus Company to Hold Meeting to Seek Solution

Representatives of this city and the Kingston City Transportation Corporation will get together to try to find a possible solution to troubles.

Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly and Thomas J. Whalen of the law office of Senator Pliny Williamson, counsel for the bus company, agreed to the suggestion by Hearing Examiner John F. O'Brien that they confer to try to save the city's bus service from abandonment.

Examiner O'Brien made his suggestion at this morning's Public Service Commission hearing of the bus company's application to surrended its franchise, or as an alternative continue only its Broadway line. The company pleaded that it was operating at a loss.

A report by Accountant Robert B. O'Reilly of an examination of the bus corporation's accounts was placed in evidence by Connelly. After stating the increased costs of operation, O'Reilly's report concluded that certain segments of the line were unprofitable, but that in his opinion, certain other parts of the system "can be run profitably."

Suggestions Offered

Two ward supervisors testified this morning, both offering suggestions for bettering the bus service.

Supervisor James Martin of the 12th Ward said the Fairview-Lucas line is "impractical to use" as it is presently set up. He suggested it be made a part of the Washington-Foxhall run, and that buses be run in both directions. He pointed out that, with buses running only one way, residents on one end of the belt line "actually save time by walking home."

As indication of the demand for transportation in this city, Martin claimed that "individuals and companies are growing by leaps and bounds in the formation of taxicab companies. There must be a desire for additional transportation facilities when this is so evident," he said.

Supervisor Martin reviewed the trend toward more families moving into his ward and needing bus service. Between 75 and 100 new homes have been built in the past year, a "vast and largely growing" amusement park has been developed just beyond the city limits two blocks from the Fairview-Lucas line, thousands of people visit the Forsyth Park, and the Board of Education is contemplating the erection of a junior high school on Lucas avenue, the supervisor said.

'Overlooking Revenue'

Supervisor Ray Lindhurst of the Third Ward suggested the bus company is overlooking an additional source of revenue by not trying out the proposition of providing service in his ward, which has a population of approximately 3,000.

Martin stated he was "not alarmed" over what he termed the bus company's "ultimatum." Indicating that he knew of a person interested in obtaining the franchise, Martin said that local persons are "much more aware of the problems than a firm with its office in New York city."

Examiner O'Brien told Martin that the issue of the franchise was not involved in this hearing and his remarks could not be considered. Attorney Whalen said that the bus company's application to surrender its franchise was "not an ultimatum, but just a stating of facts," and that the bus company's main office is in Kingston.

Concluding the hearing, O'Brien remarked, "To an impartial observer, it seems to me you have a very serious matter here. The city of Kingston is threatened with the loss of all its public transportation." He then suggested the counsel "sit down together and see if it is possible to work out some solution that might be reasonable." The suggestion was agreed to by the opposing counsel, and the hearing adjourned subject to call.

Brooklyn Woman To Be Questioned In Gem Smuggling

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—A housewife charged with smuggling more than $250,000 worth of diamonds into the U. S. was called before a U. S. commissioner for a hearing today.

The defendant, Mrs. Adele Meppen, 41, of Brooklyn (1587 Carroll street), denied the charge, authorities said.

The diamonds were found in a hotel toilet at Rouses Point, near the Canadian border.

Mrs. Meppen, arrested at her home yesterday, was scheduled for a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Edward E. Fay who held her in $10,000 bail after her arrest.

Assistant U. S. Attorney George W. Percy said the woman was questioned and searched by customs agents at the Holland Hotel, Rouses Point, last Sunday and later released.

Authorities said she was arrested yesterday by a U. S. marshal on a smuggling warrant from Syracuse, N. Y., and faces arraignment in that city. There may have to be court proceedings for an order removing her from the federal eastern district of New York to the northern district.

Percy, calling Mrs. Meppen "a member of an international smuggling ring," said she secreted the diamonds on her person to bring them into this country.

Authorities said a toilet near a room she occupied at the upstate hotel was found plugged and a plastic bag full of daimonds was found when a plumber made repairs on Nov. 5. The same toilet was clogged Wednesday, and another bag of diamonds was discovered.

Mrs. Meppen's husband, Maurice, is in the women's wear business in New York. They have a daughter, Adrian, 11. Mrs. Meppen came to the United States from Poland 11 years ago.

Percy quoted her as saying she had been visiting in Montreal before she stopped at the hotel Nov. 4.

RPI Scholarship Begins for 1952

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation today opened its 1952 competition for a four-year engineering scholarship to Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute to high school juniors in approximately 34 area high schools. Each high school principal in the area served by Central Hudson may select a student candidate and report his name to the utility company by June 1.

For the fifth successive year, students selected will take an indoctrination course next summer covering all phases of public utility operation. One of the students will be awarded a four-year scholarship at RPI to become effective for the college term beginning September, 1953.

A student is eligible to take the 1952 summer course if he has finished his junior year with an average of 75 per cent or better, has had at least one year of general science and two years of mathematics, and will agree to study physics during his senior year if he has not already taken this course.

Selection by the high school principals will be based upon the academic standing and the personality and leadership qualities of candidates.

Three previous winners of the scholarship now attending RPI are: Roger Hard, formerly of Red Hook Central School, William Van Wagenen, formerly of Poughkeepsie High School and Julian Smetana, formerly of Arlington High School. The winner of the 1951 RPI scholarship award will be announced in the spring.

Will Give Fellowship

Troy, Nov. 9 (AP)—Fifty high school mathematics teachers will be awarded General Electric Company fellowships next spring for summer study at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. The awards to teachers from the 12 northeastern states and the District of Columbia will launch the annual GE fellowship program. GE and the institute announced jointly yesterday that the grants would provide tuition, fees, living and traveling expenses for a six-week course from July 7 through Aug. 16. The study is designed to help the teachers apply mathematics to other fields, Dr. Livingston W. Houston, RPI president, said. An RPI committee will make the awards.

Congressmen Start Tour to Check Aid

Waashington, Nov. 9 (AP)—Two Republican congressmen began a six-week globe-circling tour yesterday to see how American money is being spent to bolster economic and military defenses among free nations.

The G.O.P. leader of the House, Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Maassachusetts, and Rep. Leonard W. Hall (R., N.Y.) took off from Bolling Field for the Pacific in an air force plane.

It was one of the air force's regular daily flights, the congressman plan to make the tour beyond Tokyo by commercial plane at their own expense.

Martin told a reporter he believes the next session of Congress will have to decide issues that will determine the future security of America and its allies.

He said the United States is spending billions abroad and he wishes to get a personal knowledge with which to form his own judgments on how efficiently and effectively it is being distributed.

Martin said he and Hall hope to talk with such world leaders as Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa and General Franco in Spain. He said that they want to talk not only with government leaders but with leaders in all phases of international affairs.

The congressmen will be in Honolulu Nov. 10-12; in Japan 13-15; in Formosa Nov. 16-18, Hong Kong Nov. 19, Philippines, Nov. 20-23. From there they proceed to Thailand, thence to Turkey and other European points.

Jet Trainer Plunges, Kills Naval Pilot

Corpus Christi, Tex., Nov. 9 (AP)—A navy jet training plane plunged into the pavement of a busy four-lane thoroughfare yesterday at an estimated 500-miles per hour.

The resulting explosion rattled windows in houses two miles away.

Killed was the pilot, Aviation Machinist Mate 1/c Grant Leefe Deming, of Corpus Christi.

The plummeting jet narrowly missed automobiles traveling both directions on the north-south arterial road. It fell about 50 yards from the nearest house.

No injuries were reported.

O'Conor said the information he detailed about Bikeler's activities was confirmed in a secret hearing over which he presided Wednesday.

At the State Department, officials said there would be no comment, at least until they had seen the senatorial reports. No one in authority was available for comment at the Czech embassy.

Both McCarran and O'Conor coupled their discussions of Bikeler with new criticism of the State and Justice Departments over the way the internal security act is being administered.

Declaring that the record of Bikeler is "typical of hundreds" of cases which have been handled by O'Conor's subcommittee in recent months, McCarran said:

"It would seem that the State Department does not wish to impede the activities of these people and the Justice Department does not recognize the authority Congress has given it."

O'Conor said it was "another typical case of a Communist agent who, in the recent past has repeatedly gained admission into the United States in diplomatic status."

While in this country, O'Conor said, Bikeler was issued visas by the State Department for trips to and from Czechoslovakia, Canada and Mexico. The last of these issued Feb. 14, 1951, the senator said, was for a trip to Canada. However, he added, Bikeler used this visa—effective until Feb. 14—to return to Czechoslovakia.

WAGERS BY WIRE

There may be a significant precedent in the New Jersey conviction of the Western Union Telegraph Company and one of its office managers on bookmaking charges, based on the acceptance of messages which dealt with wagers. The company said it was merely fulfilling its duty as a common carrier to accept all messages which did not violate obscenity or libel laws. The interpretation of the court was that the company is not required to accept any message which serves an illegal purpose, and that therefore it is answerable to the law if it does so.

This argument may seem to be simple logic — the company's wires were used to transmit wagers and therefore the company was a party to gambling. But such an interpretation of the company's liability makes it responsible for the legality of the use of every message it delivers. Is the company to examine every message, and inquire about its purpose to make sure that it is legal? Such a policy would not mix well with the traditional American regard for privacy.

Some highly placed people have seemed to think that it would be a good idea to hold the telegraph company, the telephone company and similar agencies to account for the uses made of their services. But perhaps not so many would want to submit their own messages, telephone conversations and such to the inquiring observation of company censors.

LIBRARIES ON WHEELS

Many libraries both in metropolitan areas and in smaller communities in all parts of the nation have been working for some time with what is called the "bookmobile." It is a truck or bus which brings library service to a central point in a suburban or rural area, to enable the residents to select and borrow books without making the trip to the main library.

The service is particularly valuable to the busy housewife, who can obtain a book to read in such spare time as she has. She might not be able to do it if she had to make her way into town. The portable libraries in some places make periodic trips to the playgrounds during the summer months in a special effort to put useful books into the hands of children.

The effort to make reading matter more easily available to people is not catering to laziness. There are many reasons why people find it hard to get to a library and the bookmobiles bring the library to them. Libraries are among the oldest and most treasured institutions of man. By adopting modern methods of book distribution they are keeping up with the world, and expanding their vital part in our culture.

PHILANTHROPY

Fears have often been expressed that the heavy taxation of the present day, making it hard to accumulate and keep fortunes, might destroy philanthropy. The dire predictions have not yet been justified, according to a report by the John Price Jones Company of New York City, which has directed many fund-raising operations for universities and benevolent institutions. The report is that, in ten representative cities, gifts and bequests for philanthropic enterprises in the first nine months of 1951 were almost a third greater than in the corresponding period of the previous year. The nine-month total, moreover, surpassed the total for any full year since the foundation began its studies of giving in 1931.

Evidently private benefactions are not yet on the verge of disappearance; they are encouraged to some extent by the income tax rules which allow deductions for approved gifts. University trustees, foundation officials and others seeking money for worthwhile projects may take heart.

Americans are accustomed to the idea, which received much attention in the war, that United States servicemen are about the highest paid in the world. There have been increases in pay since the war, but the inflationary trend has outstripped the pay schedule and the House Armed Services Committee has now unanimously approved a ten per cent pay boost for the armed services. It may be as much as a year, however, before the proposed increase can be approved and put into effect.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE ENVELOPING COLD WAR

If what our military and diplomatic experts say is true, then it is essential for us to hold Western Europe and the Mediterranean countries on our side. This must include Spain as well as Turkey and Greece; the Arab countries and Israel as well as the North Atlantic ones. Although this effort has already cost us greatly, it has not been very successful. Most of the countries of Northern Europe are sitting on their hands, hopeful that they will get whatever benefits accrue without much labor, productivity or sacrifice.

Two wars in which this country came to the aid of Western Europe, have produced the historic situation of American responsibility for the next war. And that gives each European country bargaining power with us.

There may be another side of this question; perhaps the continental Europeans cannot understand what we mean or what we want. They understand Stalin. His presentation of his case is clear-cut; he seeks to establish a universal socialist state within which existing nations will be permitted a degree of autonomy. His alternative is a constant condition of war and the preparation for war, with attendant costs and disorders.

Even his definitions of socialism are clear, at any rate to a European, because they are based on the Leninist modification of Marxism as interpreted by Stalin. The Marxist basis is, in Europe, more than a century old and is understood. Whereas to Americans Marxism may be confusing, a European high school student can expound dialectical materialism and will be for or against it.

Thus far, no American has stated the case for the United States in terms understandable to an educated European or, for that matter, to an educated Asiatic. The only European who has made clear the western opposition to Soviet Russia and to communism has been the Pope.

Again this needs explanation, particularly when so many Catholics and Protestants in the United States are concerned with 16th Century problems rather than with the urgencies of the year 1951.

To most Americans the Communists pose an economic question: Government ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange versus private ownership. But two wars, various depressions, revolutions, inflations and other disasters have forced even upon unwilling Europeans socialism in varying degrees, so that private enterprise, capitalism, has not the meaning or the value that it has for Americans. Furthermore, as the European looks upon the United States, this country is marked by an increasing socialism, not a product of mass revolution, but imposed by government using the mechanism of taxation, subsidies and war controls.

The struggle then becomes, for the European, philosophic and theological. It has to do with man's place in the cosmos; with the relations of man to his environment; with whether man is a creature of God, created by Him, or whether he is the end result of specialization in a biologic process. Whereas Christianity insists upon absolutes in morals, Marxism insists that man is controlled by an ever-changing environment and that therefore there can be no absolutes.

Translated into political terms, this struggle might be as between a free man, possessing free will and decision, versus the man who has been mastered by the state which controls his environment.

(Each side uses the word, "democracy," falsely and for different reasons. It may be omitted from any serious discussion of the problem.)

From this standpoint, the Pope represents the most clear and articulate statement of the case for a moral versus a mastered society. No one else has stated the anti-Marxist case as understandably or as correctly.

In Ameica's battle against Soviet Russia, then, Marxism is the principal issue. Unfortunately for us, many of those who are engaged in fighting our cause are either Marxists themselves or do not understand Marxism and therefore deal with it incorrectly. If our propaganda agencies have failed in Europe, or have not succeeded as well as might have been expected, it is because they have not been able to approach this problem from the philosophic and theological side. They keep shouting the word, "democracy," which means so many different things that it has become an element of confusion rather than of understanding.

When President Truman appointed General Mark Clark as ambassador to the Vatican, he could have made this clear had he understood the struggle, one side of which he captains. Instead, he has raised a political issue in the United States which can only strengthen the Marxist and therefore the anti-American forces in Europe.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE FAMILY PHYSICIAN

A recent article in one of our medical journals pointed out the great help the laboratory, the X-ray and other special departments of our hospitals give to the practicing physician, making known to him in a matter of minutes, or hours, at most, whether or not his diagnosis of a case is correct. These aids also usually give the correct or nearly correct diagnosis.

It is certainly true that the lab is very valuable to patient and physician; besides making more sure of the diagnosis, it saves a lot of valuable time for them both. However, patients and physicians are rapidly becoming more aware of what is called psychosomatic (mind and body) medicine and the great influence the physician's or surgeon's manner and confidence have in the patient's physical and mental outlook on his present illness. One of the failures of some social systems of medicine is that the patient may have to visit a strange doctor, one whom he does not know, and whose abilities he is not aware of. If social medicine is to be of real help, the patient should be able to choose his own or his family doctor, in the first instance, anyway. After the first visit or two, if the patient needs treatment outside the knowledge or equipment of his own physician, his own physician should then be able to refer him to this new source of help.

As stated before, the very appearance of the known and loved physician in the sickroom gives the patient a mental and physical lift that nothing else or nobody else can give. This may be the difference between prolonged illness or worse and rapid recovery. There will always be a place in the medical profession for the family doctor. I believe this idea of the proper handling of a patient is well put in the words of Lord Alfred Johnson in Review of Gastroenterology (stomach and intestines): "What I want to make clear is that to handle the disease or to handle the patient on the physical plane alone is to deal only with the half. The cure of the sick sometimes depends on kindness more than efficiency. He wants comfort. He hopes for cure. He may think you have given him cure but at least you have given him something of yourself, if you are a good doctor."

Constipation

It is estimated that more people suffer with constipation than are free of it. Write today for Dr. Barton's helpful booklet on this condition entitled "Constipation." Who Said He Was Invulnerable?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Next to his grandchildren, what General Eisenhower enjoyed most in Washington was playing bridge with Chief Justice Fred Vinson, ex-White House jester George Allen and Sid Richardson, the Texas oilman.

Early in the game when Allen was winning, he remarked to Eisenhower, who is supposed to be one of the best bridge players in the country:

"I'm going to take an hour off every day to give you lessons."

Later Eisenhower started winning.

"I think I had better arrange for you to come over to Paris and play cards," he remarked solemnly to Allen.

The luncheon Eisenhower had with President Truman was highlighted by the general's view both on peace and the difficulties of the job in Europe.

Eisenhower told Truman that he had no intention of leaving his post in Paris until his job was done. Then emphasizing his agreement with Truman that peace is the greatest issue in the world and that we can achieve peace only through strength, the general added something to this effect: "Every time I look at the picture of my grandchildren, I know how everything else is unimportant."

Truman added something to the effect that he would go to bat for Eisenhower on whatever he needed to do the job in western Europe.

After Ike left town, someone asked George Allen: "When do you think Eisenhower will announce his intentions?"

"You know I don't badger Ike about politics," replied Allen in his Mississippi drawl. "I just play cards and joke with him. But if I were to go way out on a limb, I would say on the second ballot."

This somewhat inconclusive comment was interpreted as meaning that Eisenhower would run, but only at the last minute. He cannot leave Europe until sometime next spring. The rearmament program is dragging and he feels he cannot launch a political career until he has the job reasonably well under way.

Whether Republican politicians, now eyeing the Taft bandwagon, can wait until "the second ballot"—in other words until the last minute before the Republican convention—remains to be seen.

However, Eisenhower did reveal to at least one friend during his Washington visit that on diplomatic issues he sided with the Republicans in that he felt that Washington needed a housecleaning. But on foreign policy he said he sided with the Democrats. In fact, he went so far as to indicate that if Senator Taft was the Republican nominee, he Eisenhower, would not only not support him but might even consider running against him as a Democrat.

Truman's Cronies

Rather sadly, President Truman told new Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney that "friends" had let him down.

The comment came after the President urged Hoosier banker McKinney to clean house in both the Democratic party and administration. "I might have to step on the toes of some of your friends, Mr. President," McKinney replied.

"I'm loyal to my friends," said Truman, then unhappily added: "But some of them have let me down. You have my complete confidence and do what's needed for the good of the party, regardless of whose toes you step on."

GOP and Tax Scandals

The cue has gone out to Republican speakers across the country to fan the flames of the internal revenue scandals into a hot political issue for 1952. To supply the ammunition, the Senate GOP Policy Committee has done a painstaking research job, which will be sent out for the confidential use of Republicans.

This eight-page research pamphlet goes into the case histories of 27 officials who are linked directly or indirectly with the internal revenue scandals. It also gives helpful hints on how to slant the scandals in order to embarrass the Truman administration. Here are some sample quotes, which the pamphlet suggests to Republican speakers:

"The Bureau of Internal Revenue, with all the power it exercises over the most intimate financial affairs of the public, should be a citadel of integrity. But the dishonest acts of the Truman administration appointees are discrediting it in the minds of the people," the confidential GOP pamphlet charges.

"What brought this sorry state of affairs to the bureau, which for so long was held in wide acclaim and was a stronghold of public confidence?" Demands the pamphlet. "Nearly twenty years of entrenched government sowed the seeds of corruption. The Truman administration is reaping now the fruits of its own abuse of political power.

"One bevy of political hacks, chiselers and ward heelers has succeeded another in top-flight jobs within the agency," the confidential GOP instruction continues. "Generosity in political campaign contributions has been the open sesame for incompetents to aspire and obtain jobs . . . The Truman administration has sired the corruption of the tax collection agency by the intrusion of a brand of politics which makes no distinction between political loyalty and integrity."

Clean-Up Man

The GOP campaign letter also attacks the man Truman appointed to clean up the Internal Revenue Bureau—Commissioner John Dunlap.

"There is nothing on the record to show that there would have been any attempt at a clean-up within the bureau, except for outside prodding," declared the GOP brochure. "It was not until after several cases had been exposed to the public view that the commissioner of internal revenue, John Dunlap, on October 3 ordered an investigation of the tax returns of all officials and enforcement officers of the bureau. Dunlap was confirmed by the Senate several months before on July 18."

Note—The truth is, Dunlap began the clean-up the moment he was appointed. However, he tried to do his housecleaning quietly and keep it out of the press.

Merry-Go-Round Pioneered

The interesting thing about the 27 case histories, prepared by the GOP policy committee, is that they are headed by Daniel A. Bolich, formerly No. 2 man in the Internal Revenue Bureau, who requested reassignment last August because of his "health." However, no official charges have been made against Bolich, and the GOP research guide underlines this fact to keep Republican speakers out of a law suit.

Of Bolich, the GOP states: "Included only because during revelations of irregularities, Bolich requested reassignment for reasons of health, August 14, 1951 . . . No charges have been made against Bolich." These were the only underlined passages in the pamphlet.

Thus the pamphlet has laid down the line that GOP speakers will be following on the soapbox circuit.

Note—This column began investigating the Internal Revenue Bureau three years ago, was the first to expose the tax scandals that led to the dismissal of collectors James W. Johnson in New York city and James Smythe in San Francisco.

Revenue Collections Drop

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya (AP)—Federal and state revenue collections are declining since the ban on the export of rubber to Red China and restrictions on shipments to Red-dominated countries. Receipts from customs duties in September amounted to $14,400,000 or $2,400,000 less than in August.

Eisenhower Influence Is Having Big Effect Upon Both Parties' Plans

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 9 — The Eisenhower influence is looming up as perhaps even more important than an Eisenhower candidacy. It is already affecting strategy in both political parties and it could conceivably affect the outcome of the 1952 presidential election even if the general is not himself a candidate.

For it is plainly apparent now that the Allied commander in Europe has his heart set on influencing American policy in both a military and diplomatic sense to the end that his hard-won battles of World War II shall not prove to have been futile. He doesn't want America to scuttle Europe by withholding what he thinks is adequate military power.

More than anything else General Eisenhower is concerned about the direction of American policy toward Europe's defense. Does Senator Taft mean to carry on wholeheartedly the present defense program if he is elected? If he does, then he may win Eisenhower's support should the Republican convention nominate the Ohio senator.

Does President Truman mean on domestic policies to carry on the present drift toward bankruptcy by policies of spending on nondefense items that have never been cut as they should have been? Is it the intention of the Democratic party platform to go all-out for a repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act without any substitue that really safeguards employers as well as employes? Then General Eisenhower's influence, let alone his acceptance of a nomination for the presidency, cannot be on the Democratic side.

This fits in with the remarkably good piece of reporting done by Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of the New York Times, in discovering a reliable source able to say that the President and General Eisenhower did discuss briefly the possibility of the Eisenhower influence being thrown toward the Democratic party and perhaps toward the Democratic nomination with President Truman's support, and the implied rejection by the general unless certain platform changes could be made. Mr. Krock is unmoved by the official or technical denials, and rightly so because he has told this correspondent flatly that his source was in a position to learn afterward what did transpire at the conferences between the general and President Truman.

Unquestionably the possibility of Eisenhower running on the Democratic ticket has been in President Truman's mind along with the possibility that the general, as a vote-getter, would be able to knock off Senator Taft. Assuming that Mr. Truman will stick to his present determination not to run in 1952, it is natural that he should want to see vindication of his international policies. Election of Eisenhower on the Democratic ticket would afford that opportunity. But it turns out now that the general isn't swallowing the domestic side of the Truman policies just because he is wholeheartedly in favor of the administration's defense and foreign policies.

So it boils down to the fact that, if either party wants Eisenhower as a candidate—or, what is more important, perhaps, Eisenhower support in the campaign—there has to be a change in the attitude of Senator Taft, on the one hand, and of President Truman, on the other. Mr. Taft must come further toward the Eisenhower viewpoint on international policy, and Mr. Truman must come further toward the more conservative viewpoint that the general has on labor-management relations, non-socialistic programs and federal spending as it relates to domestic policies.

The tremendous influence of one man who is himself extremely popular with the people and who may be in a position to swing the election next year will grow as he makes it clear that, while he is willing to serve as president if called, he has a greater obligation as a citizen—namely, to use his mind to help whatever cause seems to him to be the better suited to the critical times through which America is passing.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

S.S. Caronia — One of the topics which I hope I will be able to investigate in Europe is a political and diplomatic service, under the management of David Dubinsky and other bosses of American unions, which has the effrontery to promote as well as it can a foreign policy independent of the foreign policy of the United States. The State Department and others who make our official foreign policy and carry it out, have many terrible errors or crimes to answer for. But, as a nation, the American people are responsible for the commitments which our official agents assume in the name of the Washington government. The citizens of the United States have never authorized David Dubinsky to speak for us in the field of international politics and we are almost unanimously ignorant of the fact that this impudent Socialist plotter has had the nerve to presume to do so. This is a secret from all of us.

Under the "date-line" of Bad Nauheim, Germany, however, and under the by-line of David J. Dallin, the American Mercury tells us that "the American Federation of Labor since the war has not seen fit to restrict itself to merely functioning as a domestic economic movement."

Beyond that, Mr. Dallin writes, "The A. F. of L. has developed its own unique foreign policy, which has differed in significant ways from that of the State Department and both political parties."

We then are told that the A. F. of L. refused to be drawn into the International Communist Union movement after the war and "quietly went about planning and setting up its own foreign service structure and concentrated on evolving its own foreign policies."

The A.F. of L. became the "natural leader" of a rival organization dedicated to the establishment of socialism all over the world. This is called the Confederation of Free Trade Unions, with headquarters in Brussels. All socialism is Marxian and Russian communism also is a version of Marx. But Dubinsky, like the English Laborite Socialists, want the revolution their way, not the Russian way.

"The success of the new international confederation was due in no small degree to the personalities of its leaders in the international field, Matthew Woll, David Dubinsky, George Meany, Jay Lovestone, and George Harrison," says Dallin. "Minister of foreign affairs, so to put it, is actually Jay Lovestone, an expert in the international field, a man undoubtedly too little publicized on the American scene."

Indeed, he is too little publicized, this "minister of foreign affairs" of this upstart, irresponsible "State Department." And the fact that he is acceptable to Dubinsky, the perpetual international president of the Garment Workers' Union, a parasitic socialistic state within the United States which operates its own political party as a union auxiliary in New York, makes it the more important that we learn all about him and Dubinsky and what they are up to. Lovestone is an apostate Communist who "for a time bore the same title that Stalin has carried for over two decades, general secretary" of the Communist party.

"Lovestone has weaved his six envoys in the east and west into a well-coordinated political and labor network. Ambassador in Europe is Irving Brown, short-time former Communist, an organizer for the United Auto

Questions — Answers

Q—What is the derivation of the word budget?

A—From the French bougette, meaning a wallet. Its present sense stems from the custom of bringing into the House of Commons all papers pertaining to expenditures in a leather bag.

Q—What is the so-called "Betty lamp"?

A—This was an American colonial lamp of the seventeenth century. The "Betty lamp" consists of a dish of iron with an iron lid and operates on the prehistoric principle of a wick floating in oil. It is curved so it can be hooked over the back of a chair.

Some animals can go for as much as 100 days without organic food, but die in from five to 10 days without water.

WAGERS BY WIRE

There may be a significant precedent in the New Jersey conviction of the Western Union Telegraph Company and one of its office managers on bookmaking charges, based on the acceptance of messages which dealt with wagers. The company said it was merely fulfilling its duty as a common carrier to accept all messages which did not violate obscenity or libel laws. The interpretation of the court was that the company is not required to accept any message which serves an illegal purpose, and that therefore it is answerable to the law if it does so.

This argument may seem to be simple logic — the company's wires were used to transmit wagers and therefore the company was a party to gambling. But such an interpretation of the company's liability makes it responsible for the legality of the use of every message it delivers. Is the company to examine every message, and inquire about its purpose to make sure that it is legal? Such a policy would not mix well with the traditional American regard for privacy.

Some highly placed people have seemed to think that it would be a good idea to hold the telegraph company, the telephone company and similar agencies to account for the uses made of their services. But perhaps not so many would want to submit their own messages, telephone conversations and such to the inquiring observation of company censors.

LIBRARIES ON WHEELS

Many libraries both in metropolitan areas and in smaller communities in all parts of the nation have been working for some time with what is called the "bookmobile." It is a truck or bus which brings library service to a central point in a suburban or rural area, to enable the residents to select and borrow books without making the trip to the main library.

The service is particularly valuable to the busy housewife, who can obtain a book to read in such spare time as she has. She might not be able to do it if she had to make her way into town. The portable libraries in some places make periodic trips to the playgrounds during the summer months in a special effort to put useful books into the hands of children.

The effort to make reading matter more easily available to people is not catering to laziness. There are many reasons why people find it hard to get to a library and the bookmobiles bring the library to them. Libraries are among the oldest and most treasured institutions of man. By adopting modern methods of book distribution they are keeping up with the world, and expanding their vital part in our culture.

PHILANTHROPY

Fears have often been expressed that the heavy taxation of the present day, making it hard to accumulate and keep fortunes, might destroy philanthropy. The dire predictions have not yet been justified, according to a report by the John Price Jones Company of New York City, which has directed many fund-raising operations for universities and benevolent institutions. The report is that, in ten representative cities, gifts and bequests for philanthropic enterprises in the first nine months of 1951 were almost a third greater than in the corresponding period of the previous year. The nine-month total, moreover, surpassed the total for any full year since the foundation began its studies of giving in 1931.

Evidently private benefactions are not yet on the verge of disappearance; they are encouraged to some extent by the income tax rules which allow deductions for approved gifts. University trustees, foundation officials and others seeking money for worthwhile projects may take heart.

Americans are accustomed to the idea, which received much attention in the war, that United States servicemen are about the highest paid in the world. There have been increases in pay since the war, but the inflationary trend has outstripped the pay schedule and the House Armed Services Committee has now unanimously approved a ten per cent pay boost for the armed services. It may be as much as a year, however, before the proposed increase can be approved and put into effect.

'These Days'

THE ENVELOPING COLD WAR

If what our military and diplomatic experts say is true, then it is essential for us to hold Western Europe and the Mediterranean countries on our side. This must include Spain as well as Turkey and Greece; the Arab countries and Israel as well as the North Atlantic ones. Although this effort has already cost us greatly, it has not been very successful. Most of the countries of Northern Europe are sitting on their hands, hopeful that they will get whatever benefits accrue without much labor, productivity or sacrifice.

Two wars in which this country came to the aid of Western Europe, have produced the historic situation of American responsibility for the next war. And that gives each European country bargaining power with us.

There may be another side of this question; perhaps the continental Europeans cannot understand what we mean or what we want. They understand Stalin. His presentation of his case is clear-cut; he seeks to establish a universal socialist state within which existing nations will be permitted a degree of autonomy. His alternative is a constant condition of war and the preparation for war, with attendant costs and disorders.

Even his definitions of socialism are clear, at any rate to a European, because they are based on the Leninist modification of Marxism as interpreted by Stalin. The Marxist basis is, in Europe, more than a century old and is understood. Whereas to Americans Marxism may be confusing, a European high school student can expound dialectical materialism and will be for or against it.

Thus far, no American has stated the case for the United States in terms understandable to an educated European or, for that matter, to an educated Asiatic. The only European who has made clear the western opposition to Soviet Russia and to communism has been the Pope.

Again this needs explanation, particularly when so many Catholics and Protestants in the United States are concerned with 16th Century problems rather than with the urgencies of the year 1951.

To most Americans the Communists pose an economic question: Government ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange versus private ownership. But two wars, various depressions, revolutions, inflations and other disasters have forced even upon unwilling Europeans socialism in varying degrees, so that private enterprise, capitalism, has not the meaning or the value that it has for Americans. Furthermore, as the European looks upon the United States, this country is marked by an increasing socialism, not a product of mass revolution, but imposed by government using the mechanism of taxation, subsidies and war controls.

The struggle then becomes, for the European, philosophic and theological. It has to do with man's place in the cosmos; with the relations of man to his environment; with whether man is a creature of God, created by Him, or whether he is the end result of specialization in a biologic process. Whereas Christianity insists upon absolutes in morals, Marxism insists that man is controlled by an ever-changing environment and that therefore there can be no absolutes.

Translated into political terms, this struggle might be as between a free man, possessing free will and decision, versus the man who has been mastered by the state which controls his environment.

(Each side uses the word, "democracy," falsely and for different reasons. It may be omitted from any serious discussion of the problem.)

From this standpoint, the Pope represents the most clear and articulate statement of the case for a moral versus a mastered society. No one else has stated the anti-Marxist case as understandably or as correctly.

In Ameica's battle against Soviet Russia, then, Marxism is the principal issue. Unfortunately for us, many of those who are engaged in fighting our cause are either Marxists themselves or do not understand Marxism and therefore deal with it incorrectly. If our propaganda agencies have failed in Europe, or have not succeeded as well as might have been expected, it is because they have not been able to approach this problem from the philosophic and theological side. They keep shouting the word, "democracy," which means so many different things that it has become an element of confusion rather than of understanding.

When President Truman appointed General Mark Clark as ambassador to the Vatican, he could have made this clear had he understood the struggle, one side of which he captains. Instead, he has raised a political issue in the United States which can only strengthen the Marxist and therefore the anti-American forces in Europe.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE FAMILY PHYSICIAN

A recent article in one of our medical journals pointed out the great help the laboratory, the X-ray and other special departments of our hospitals give to the practicing physician, making known to him in a matter of minutes, or hours, at most, whether or not his diagnosis of a case is correct. These aids also usually give the correct or nearly correct diagnosis.

It is certainly true that the lab is very valuable to patient and physician; besides making more sure of the diagnosis, it saves a lot of valuable time for them both. However, patients and physicians are rapidly becoming more aware of what is called psychosomatic (mind and body) medicine and the great influence the physician's or surgeon's manner and confidence have in the patient's physical and mental outlook on his present illness. One of the failures of some social systems of medicine is that the patient may have to visit a strange doctor, one whom he does not know, and whose abilities he is not aware of. If social medicine is to be of real help, the patient should be able to choose his own or his family doctor, in the first instance, anyway. After the first visit or two, if the patient needs treatment outside the knowledge or equipment of his own physician, his own physician should then be able to refer him to this new source of help.

As stated before, the very appearance of the known and loved physician in the sickroom gives the patient a mental and physical lift that nothing else or nobody else can give. This may be the difference between prolonged illness or worse and rapid recovery. There will always be a place in the medical profession for the family doctor. I believe this idea of the proper handling of a patient is well put in the words of Lord Alfred Johnson in Review of Gastroenterology (stomach and intestines): "What I want to make clear is that to handle the disease or to handle the patient on the physical plane alone is to deal only with the half. The cure of the sick sometimes depends on kindness more than efficiency. He wants comfort. He hopes for cure. He may think you have given him cure but at least you have given him something of yourself, if you are a good doctor."

Who Said He Was Invulnerable?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Next to his grandchildren, what General Eisenhower enjoyed most in Washington was playing bridge with Chief Justice Fred Vinson, ex-White House jester George Allen and Sid Richardson, the Texas oilman.

Early in the game when Allen was winning, he remarked to Eisenhower, who is supposed to be one of the best bridge players in the country:

"I'm going to take an hour off every day to give you lessons."

Later Eisenhower started winning.

"I think I had better arrange for you to come over to Paris and play cards," he remarked solemnly to Allen.

The luncheon Eisenhower had with President Truman was highlighted by the general's view both on peace and the difficulties of the job in Europe.

Eisenhower told Truman that he had no intention of leaving his post in Paris until his job was done. Then emphasizing his agreement with Truman that peace is the greatest issue in the world and that we can achieve peace only through strength, the general added something to this effect: "Every time I look at the picture of my grandchildren, I know how everything else is unimportant."

Truman added something to the effect that he would go to bat for Eisenhower on whatever he needed to do the job in western Europe.

After Ike left town, someone asked George Allen: "When do you think Eisenhower will announce his intentions?"

"You know I don't badger Ike about politics," replied Allen in his Mississippi drawl. "I just play cards and joke with him. But if I were to go way out on a limb, I would say on the second ballot."

This somewhat inconclusive comment was interpreted as meaning that Eisenhower would run, but only at the last minute. He cannot leave Europe until sometime next spring. The rearmament program is dragging and he feels he cannot launch a political career until he has the job reasonably well under way.

Whether Republican politicians, now eyeing the Taft bandwagon, can wait until "the second ballot"—in other words until the last minute before the Republican convention—remains to be seen.

However, Eisenhower did reveal to at least one friend during his Washington visit that on diplomatic issues he sided with the Republicans in that he felt that Washington needed a housecleaning. But on foreign policy he said he sided with the Democrats. In fact, he went so far as to indicate that if Senator Taft was the Republican nominee, he Eisenhower, would not only not support him but might even consider running against him as a Democrat.

Truman's Cronies

Rather sadly, President Truman told new Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney that "friends" had let him down.

The comment came after the President urged Hoosier banker McKinney to clean house in both the Democratic party and administration. "I might have to step on the toes of some of your friends, Mr. President," McKinney replied.

"I'm loyal to my friends," said Truman, then unhappily added: "But some of them have let me down. You have my complete confidence and do what's needed for the good of the party, regardless of whose toes you step on."

GOP and Tax Scandals

The cue has gone out to Republican speakers across the country to fan the flames of the internal revenue scandals into a hot political issue for 1952. To supply the ammunition, the Senate GOP Policy Committee has done a painstaking research job, which will be sent out for the confidential use of Republicans.

This eight-page research pamphlet goes into the case histories of 27 officials who are linked directly or indirectly with the internal revenue scandals. It also gives helpful hints on how to slant the scandals in order to embarrass the Truman administration. Here are some sample quotes, which the pamphlet suggests to Republican speakers:

"The Bureau of Internal Revenue, with all the power it exercises over the most intimate financial affairs of the public, should be a citadel of integrity. But the dishonest acts of the Truman administration appointees are discrediting it in the minds of the people," the confidential GOP pamphlet charges.

"What brought this sorry state of affairs to the bureau, which for so long was held in wide acclaim and was a stronghold of public confidence?" Demands the pamphlet. "Nearly twenty years of entrenched government sowed the seeds of corruption. The Truman administration is reaping now the fruits of its own abuse of political power.

"One bevy of political hacks, chiselers and ward heelers has succeeded another in top-flight jobs within the agency," the confidential GOP instruction continues. "Generosity in political campaign contributions has been the open sesame for incompetents to aspire and obtain jobs . . . The Truman administration has sired the corruption of the tax collection agency by the intrusion of a brand of politics which makes no distinction between political loyalty and integrity."

Clean-Up Man

The GOP campaign letter also attacks the man Truman appointed to clean up the Internal Revenue Bureau—Commissioner John Dunlap.

"There is nothing on the record to show that there would have been any attempt at a clean-up within the bureau, except for outside prodding," declared the GOP brochure. "It was not until after several cases had been exposed to the public view that the commissioner of internal revenue, John Dunlap, on October 3 ordered an investigation of the tax returns of all officials and enforcement officers of the bureau. Dunlap was confirmed by the Senate several months before on July 18."

Note—The truth is, Dunlap began the clean-up the moment he was appointed. However, he tried to do his housecleaning quietly and keep it out of the press.

Merry-Go-Round Pioneered

The interesting thing about the 27 case histories, prepared by the GOP policy committee, is that they are headed by Daniel A. Bolich, formerly No. 2 man in the Internal Revenue Bureau, who requested reassignment last August because of his "health." However, no official charges have been made against Bolich, and the GOP research guide underlines this fact to keep Republican speakers out of a law suit.

Of Bolich, the GOP states: "Included only because during revelations of irregularities, Bolich requested reassignment for reasons of health, August 14, 1951 . . . No charges have been made against Bolich." These were the only underlined passages in the pamphlet.

Thus the pamphlet has laid down the line that GOP speakers will be following on the soapbox circuit.

Note—This column began investigating the Internal Revenue Bureau three years ago, was the first to expose the tax scandals that led to the dismissal of collectors James W. Johnson in New York city and James Smythe in San Francisco.

Revenue Collections Drop

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya (AP)—Federal and state revenue collections are declining since the ban on the export of rubber to Red China and restrictions on shipments to Red-dominated countries. Receipts from customs duties in September amounted to $14,400,000 or $2,400,000 less than in August.

Eisenhower Influence Is Having Big Effect Upon Both Parties' Plans

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 9 — The Eisenhower influence is looming up as perhaps even more important than an Eisenhower candidacy. It is already affecting strategy in both political parties and it could conceivably affect the outcome of the 1952 presidential election even if the general is not himself a candidate.

For it is plainly apparent now that the Allied commander in Europe has his heart set on influencing American policy in both a military and diplomatic sense to the end that his hard-won battles of World War II shall not prove to have been futile. He doesn't want America to scuttle Europe by withholding what he thinks is adequate military power.

More than anything else General Eisenhower is concerned about the direction of American policy toward Europe's defense. Does Senator Taft mean to carry on wholeheartedly the present defense program if he is elected? If he does, then he may win Eisenhower's support should the Republican convention nominate the Ohio senator.

Does President Truman mean on domestic policies to carry on the present drift toward bankruptcy by policies of spending on nondefense items that have never been cut as they should have been? Is it the intention of the Democratic party platform to go all-out for a repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act without any substitue that really safeguards employers as well as employes? Then General Eisenhower's influence, let alone his acceptance of a nomination for the presidency, cannot be on the Democratic side.

This fits in with the remarkably good piece of reporting done by Arthur Krock, Washington correspondent of the New York Times, in discovering a reliable source able to say that the President and General Eisenhower did discuss briefly the possibility of the Eisenhower influence being thrown toward the Democratic party and perhaps toward the Democratic nomination with President Truman's support, and the implied rejection by the general unless certain platform changes could be made. Mr. Krock is unmoved by the official or technical denials, and rightly so because he has told this correspondent flatly that his source was in a position to learn afterward what did transpire at the conferences between the general and President Truman.

Unquestionably the possibility of Eisenhower running on the Democratic ticket has been in President Truman's mind along with the possibility that the general, as a vote-getter, would be able to knock off Senator Taft. Assuming that Mr. Truman will stick to his present determination not to run in 1952, it is natural that he should want to see vindication of his international policies. Election of Eisenhower on the Democratic ticket would afford that opportunity. But it turns out now that the general isn't swallowing the domestic side of the Truman policies just because he is wholeheartedly in favor of the administration's defense and foreign policies.

So it boils down to the fact that, if either party wants Eisenhower as a candidate—or, what is more important, perhaps, Eisenhower support in the campaign—there has to be a change in the attitude of Senator Taft, on the one hand, and of President Truman, on the other. Mr. Taft must come further toward the Eisenhower viewpoint on international policy, and Mr. Truman must come further toward the more conservative viewpoint that the general has on labor-management relations, non-socialistic programs and federal spending as it relates to domestic policies.

The tremendous influence of one man who is himself extremely popular with the people and who may be in a position to swing the election next year will grow as he makes it clear that, while he is willing to serve as president if called, he has a greater obligation as a citizen—namely, to use his mind to help whatever cause seems to him to be the better suited to the critical times through which America is passing.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

S.S. Caronia — One of the topics which I hope I will be able to investigate in Europe is a political and diplomatic service, under the management of David Dubinsky and other bosses of American unions, which has the effrontery to promote as well as it can a foreign policy independent of the foreign policy of the United States. The State Department and others who make our official foreign policy and carry it out, have many terrible errors or crimes to answer for. But, as a nation, the American people are responsible for the commitments which our official agents assume in the name of the Washington government. The citizens of the United States have never authorized David Dubinsky to speak for us in the field of international politics and we are almost unanimously ignorant of the fact that this impudent Socialist plotter has had the nerve to presume to do so. This is a secret from all of us.

Under the "date-line" of Bad Nauheim, Germany, however, and under the by-line of David J. Dallin, the American Mercury tells us that "the American Federation of Labor since the war has not seen fit to restrict itself to merely functioning as a domestic economic movement."

Beyond that, Mr. Dallin writes, "The A. F. of L. has developed its own unique foreign policy, which has differed in significant ways from that of the State Department and both political parties."

We then are told that the A. F. of L. refused to be drawn into the International Communist Union movement after the war and "quietly went about planning and setting up its own foreign service structure and concentrated on evolving its own foreign policies."

The A.F. of L. became the "natural leader" of a rival organization dedicated to the establishment of socialism all over the world. This is called the Confederation of Free Trade Unions, with headquarters in Brussels. All socialism is Marxian and Russian communism also is a version of Marx. But Dubinsky, like the English Laborite Socialists, want the revolution their way, not the Russian way.

"The success of the new international confederation was due in no small degree to the personalities of its leaders in the international field, Matthew Woll, David Dubinsky, George Meany, Jay Lovestone, and George Harrison," says Dallin. "Minister of foreign affairs, so to put it, is actually Jay Lovestone, an expert in the international field, a man undoubtedly too little publicized on the American scene."

Indeed, he is too little publicized, this "minister of foreign affairs" of this upstart, irresponsible "State Department." And the fact that he is acceptable to Dubinsky, the perpetual international president of the Garment Workers' Union, a parasitic socialistic state within the United States which operates its own political party as a union auxiliary in New York, makes it the more important that we learn all about him and Dubinsky and what they are up to. Lovestone is an apostate Communist who "for a time bore the same title that Stalin has carried for over two decades, general secretary" of the Communist party.

"Lovestone has weaved his six envoys in the east and west into a well-coordinated political and labor network. Ambassador in Europe is Irving Brown, short-time former Communist, an organizer for the United Auto

Questions — Answers

Q—What is the derivation of the word budget?

A—From the French bougette, meaning a wallet. Its present sense stems from the custom of bringing into the House of Commons all papers pertaining to expenditures in a leather bag.

Q—What is the so-called "Betty lamp"?

A—This was an American colonial lamp of the seventeenth century. The "Betty lamp" consists of a dish of iron with an iron lid and operates on the prehistoric principle of a wick floating in oil. It is curved so it can be hooked over the back of a chair.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 9—In 1850 there were eleven workers under 65 years of age for every person over 65 years old. Gradually the number of workers over 65 has increased until in 1951 there are only five working adults under 65 for every adult over 65. Projecting this trend to 1960 we find there will be only about three working adults for every oldster. If we project to 2000 A.D., which is only fifty years hence, fantastic conclusions are indicated. The time can come when the idle retired population will be greater than the young and middle-aged workers who must pay the taxes to support them.

The vast majority of people over 65 will never own sufficient income-producing property to live on. Even though practising thrift all their life long, they can lack the ability to invest advantageously and establish financial independence. Hence, most aged citizens must rely on their children or on pensions.

Many persons think the problem of the aged can be disposed of by voting in favor of whatever pensions are demanded; but this is only like pulling yourself up by your "boot straps." Distribution of vast sums of money by the government to any group, whether oldsters, veterans, or farmers, means making it harder for the other groups, unless offset by a corresponding increase in the production of goods and services.

Oldsters Politically Powerful

The oldsters are becoming a formidable political pressure group. They have made California a pensioner's paradise. Political proposals on behalf of older citizens are often foolishly supported by members of the younger generation. They welcome the opportunity to shift to the state the financial burden of supporting aged parents. What will happen when the oldsters, teamed up with their friends, account for a greater percentage of the national electorate? Will they vote themselves preposterously generous incomes from the federal treasury? This would be highly inflationary because it would put the nation completely out of line with the nation's productivity.

Medical Progress

The modern American trend toward birth control is a large factor in bringing about an alarmingly high percentage of oldsters in the population. Yet, turning the clock backward on this trend might cause our population to expand beyond the ability of the land to support it. Some have suggested that medical science will eventually solve the problem by discovering how to preserve full powers of body and mind until 85, thus deferring the average age of retirement by ten or twenty years. To me, this seems to miss the point completely.

The problem is concerned not with the age of retirement, but with the length of life after retirement. If science succeeds in stretching the period of adult vigor to 85 or more, it is quite likely that it will also succeed in stretching considerably the period of declining vigor and senility, bringing the problem right back where we started. From the humanitarian point of view, progress in medical science is desirable, but from the economic point of view it is dangerous.

In spite of all the discouraging aspects of the problem of our retired citizens, American industry, operating as a free capitalistic enterprise, can produce plenty for the aged without lowering the standard of living of the productive workers and their families. Pensions and other benefits can be expanded slowly enough to prevent shock to the nation's economy. No lethal chambers for excess senile population need ever be necessary.

In a free capitalistic society productivity per worker can be multiplied indefinitely. It is amazing how many labor-saving machines and labor-saving methods of distribution can be devised when needed. The solution lies with young workers using improved machines and methods and producing not only an abundance of goods for themselves and their children, but also an abundance for the leisure class of retired oldsters. One thing more—even more than economic security oldsters need the respect and sympathy of their descendants. Old people hunger for a share in the social and spiritual life of the young, even more than for a share in the wealth.

College Rehabilitation

Manila, (AP)—The expenditure of $541,500 for rehabilitation of the College of Agriculture at Los Banos has been approved by the Philippine Council for United States Aid. The college was badly damaged during the war. The project will be financed from ECA funds and is designed to improve the productivity of Philippine farms and thereby raise the islands' standard of living

Art Show Next Year Approved by AnniversaryGroup

Plans for an art show from July 15 to August 15, 1952, were approved Wednesday night at a meeting of Kingston's 300th Anniversary Executive Committee. The possibility of combining the art show with antique furniture will be investigated and the location of the exhibition has not been definitely determined. The art show will consist of 150 outstanding paintings. Mrs. E. C. Chadbourne of Stone Ridge and Mrs. George V. D. Hutton are co-chairmen of the Art Show Committee.

A definite procedure for handling the funds of the anniversary group also were approved. Each committee chairman has been asked to submit a budget. A purchase order, approved by the Finance, Ways and Means Committee, must be secured before any purchases or services are contracted and the vendor must execute a voucher to be approved by two members of the Executive Committee.

Stanley J. Matthews, president of the anniversary group, stated that another meeting of the Executive Committee will be held on Thursday, November 15, to consider a tentative budget for the anniversary celebration and consider the appointment of several additional committee chairmen.

Bigger Police Pay Roll

Singapore, (AP)—Singapore's police bill for 1952 will rise by almost $3,500,000. High salaries and allowances for the rank and file, and the formation of a special constabulary of 1,659 officers and men, a stronger Volunteer Special Constabulary and the appointment of 94 inspectors are the cause.

Kerhonkson, Nov. 9—Mr. and Mrs. Al Fritchie of Poughkeepsie spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Laurin Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. William George of Massachusetts spent the weekend with her father, Increase Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Depuy of North Beverly were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coddington of Monticello. Both couples were entertained at dinner at the home of the latter's son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Coddington.

Sunday, Nov. 11, the church school meets at 9:45 followed by divine worship at 11 a. m. The Rev. John Pfromm will speak on Temples of Souls.

Sunday at 7:45 p. m., the Rev. John Pfromm will conduct services at the Methodist Church in Leibhardt. This will be the service which was postponed from last Sunday due to the illness of the pastor. Services in that church are conducted every other Sunday.

Monday, Nov. 12, at 7:30 p. m., the Youth Fellowship will meet. Fred Misner will lead a debate on the subject, Conscription and the Christian Principles.

On Wednesday, Nov. 13, the executive board will hold a regular business meeting at 8 p. m.

Choir rehearsal will be held Thursday at 7:45 p. m.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor their third annual semi-formal ball Saturday night, Nov. 10, at the Veterans Memorial Hall. Music will be furnished by Donald Sprague and his Commodores. The entertainment will be handled by Harry Guy Dembo, master of ceremonies. The ticket committee is Mary and Donald J. VanEtten. The proceeds will be used to liquidate the mortgage of the Veterans Memorial Hall.

Lyle Proper and Francis Van Vliet spent Wednesday in Albany where Francis VanVliet was called for medical consultation.

Association Fetes Teetsel at Dinner

His associates in the Ulster County Hotel, Restaurant and Liquor Dealers Association feted Bob Teetsel Wednesday night at his own night club, The Barn, where his courage, fortitude and happy demeanor were praised by those who saw him make a come-back after floods almost floated his place away. In brief speeches after the dinner, various speakers expressed sentiments of well wishes for the future. Teetsel, a past president of the association and also the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, expressed gratitude for cooperation received from friends during his period of distress. Seated from left are Mrs. Frank Carpino, treasurer of the association; Henry Doell, State Liquor Authority representative; President and Mrs. George Broome of Saugerties; and Joe Kelly, alderman-at-large, Kingston; standing, Frank Carpino, Bob Teetsel and Jack Griffin, Catskill, president of the Greene county association. (Freeman Photo)

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 9—In 1850 there were eleven workers under 65 years of age for every person over 65 years old. Gradually the number of workers over 65 has increased until in 1951 there are only five working adults under 65 for every adult over 65. Projecting this trend to 1960 we find there will be only about three working adults for every oldster. If we project to 2000 A.D., which is only fifty years hence, fantastic conclusions are indicated. The time can come when the idle retired population will be greater than the young and middle-aged workers who must pay the taxes to support them.

The vast majority of people over 65 will never own sufficient income-producing property to live on. Even though practising thrift all their life long, they can lack the ability to invest advantageously and establish financial independence. Hence, most aged citizens must rely on their children or on pensions.

Many persons think the problem of the aged can be disposed of by voting in favor of whatever pensions are demanded; but this is only like pulling yourself up by your "boot straps." Distribution of vast sums of money by the government to any group, whether oldsters, veterans, or farmers, means making it harder for the other groups, unless offset by a corresponding increase in the production of goods and services.

Oldsters Politically Powerful

The oldsters are becoming a formidable political pressure group. They have made California a pensioner's paradise. Political proposals on behalf of older citizens are often foolishly supported by members of the younger generation. They welcome the opportunity to shift to the state the financial burden of supporting aged parents. What will happen when the oldsters, teamed up with their friends, account for a greater percentage of the national electorate? Will they vote themselves preposterously generous incomes from the federal treasury? This would be highly inflationary because it would put the nation completely out of line with the nation's productivity.

Medical Progress

The modern American trend toward birth control is a large factor in bringing about an alarmingly high percentage of oldsters in the population. Yet, turning the clock backward on this trend might cause our population to expand beyond the ability of the land to support it. Some have suggested that medical science will eventually solve the problem by discovering how to preserve full powers of body and mind until 85, thus deferring the average age of retirement by ten or twenty years. To me, this seems to miss the point completely.

The problem is concerned not with the age of retirement, but with the length of life after retirement. If science succeeds in stretching the period of adult vigor to 85 or more, it is quite likely that it will also succeed in stretching considerably the period of declining vigor and senility, bringing the problem right back where we started. From the humanitarian point of view, progress in medical science is desirable, but from the economic point of view it is dangerous.

In spite of all the discouraging aspects of the problem of our retired citizens, American industry, operating as a free capitalistic enterprise, can produce plenty for the aged without lowering the standard of living of the productive workers and their families. Pensions and other benefits can be expanded slowly enough to prevent shock to the nation's economy. No lethal chambers for excess senile population need ever be necessary.

In a free capitalistic society productivity per worker can be multiplied indefinitely. It is amazing how many labor-saving machines and labor-saving methods of distribution can be devised when needed. The solution lies with young workers using improved machines and methods and producing not only an abundance of goods for themselves and their children, but also an abundance for the leisure class of retired oldsters. One thing more—even more than economic security oldsters need the respect and sympathy of their descendants. Old people hunger for a share in the social and spiritual life of the young, even more than for a share in the wealth.

Six Calves Born, Die

Middleville, Nov. 9 (AP)—A veterinarian says Frank Snyder's cow may have set a world record when she gave birth to six calves. The calves died shortly after birth Wednesday on Snyder's Herkimer county farm. Glenn Robens, a veterinarian at nearby Poland, said he'd never heard of more than five calves at one time. Six might be a new mark, he said.

SAWKILL NEWS

Sawkill, Nov. 9—The children of the lower Sawkill school enjoyed their Halloween party at the schoolhouse last week. Games were played, a parade of the costumed merrymakers was featured and the afternoon's fun completed with refreshments.

Mrs. Frank Joy spent several days in Kingston last week visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Leahy, Sr., and family.

Mrs. S. Myers of Sawkill, accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Bouer and daughter, Barbara, of Kingston, spent the weekend in Yonkers. Sunday, they attended the wedding of Mrs. Myers' grandson, Ralph Bouer, Jr., to Miss Marie Ulsenheimer, at St. John's Church at high Mass. The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vanak. Mrs. Myers and Mrs. R. Bouer were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weideman.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Myers and son, Gregory, spent the weekend in Sawkill with Sylvester Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Duffy, Sr., had as guests for several days last week, James Maguire and son, James, Jr., of Brooklyn.

The Sawkill Home Bureau unit reports 25 members to date. The next regular meeting of the unit will be held at Mrs. Paul Burton's home in the village at 8 p. m,. Tuesday, Nov. 13. The meeting will be on foods, and is titled How to Get the Most for Your Food Dollar.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hulsair and family of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsair Sr., Sunday.

Miss Margaret Mary Canty of Sawkill and Brooklyn is studying music at the Father Young School of Music in New York. She is a member of the St. Pius X Choir and sang at the vespers service commemorating the 40th anniversary of the Catholic Daughters of America at St. Joseph's Church in Kingston Oct. 28. Miss Canty's name was inadvertantly omitted in last week's column.

Harry Siemsen and Joseph Carcaramo attended a meeting of the Hurley unit of the Ulster County Farm Bureau at Harry Beatty's farm, Hurley avenue, Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lohmaier celebrated their wedding anniversary Nov. 7. Mr. and Mrs. E. Mossl will celebrate their anniversary Nov. 10.

Mrs. Paul Burton and Miss Emma Herrmann attended a sewing machine school, Ulster County Home Bureau, at the Town of Ulster Barn last Friday. Mrs. Burton announced a class could be arranged locally if at least seven women could bring their machines to a central location in the village. The class is extremely interesting, and helpful, as the women are taught how to completely dismantle, clean, and adjust their machines, and put them in perfect working order upon completion. Anyone interested in a class is requested to contact Mrs. Burton for further details.

Miss Catherine Carcaramo is spending a few days this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Carcaramo on Hallahan's Hill.

Miss Mary Ann Leahy spent the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joy, on Hallahan's Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Boice and family, Onteora Trail, visited the Joys Sunday night.

The Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company will hold a meeting at the school house Monday, Nov. 12, at 8 p. m.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company will hold a meeting at the school house Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 8 p. m. Anyone interested in the fire company or auxiliary is cordially invited to attend any or all meetings of these organizations.

Mrs. Paul Burton attended the Ulster County Home Bureau executive committee meetings at the Home Bureau office in Kingston Saturday.

Mrs. E. Logan and Thomas Gaskin of Brooklyn visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leahy Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Liberatore and son, Mario Liberatore, of Geneva, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson and son, William, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ruhman and daughter, Evelyn, moved to Woodstock Saturday.

Miss Mormile, school nurse, visited the lower Sawkill school Friday and conducted a discussion on the importance of a good breakfast and the value of milk.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boice entertained Mrs. E. Wyant and grandson, Edward Wyant, Leonard Korth, Calvin Wyant, Jr., and Donald Keyser, Kingston, Saturday.

Halloween pranksters caused considerable damage to quite a few of the rural mail boxes through Sawkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Reiff moved to Kingston last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Hugger and daughter, Irene, were in Poughkeepsie Tuesday. En route, they visited Henry Olson in New Paltz.

One hundred and 84 votes were polled at the Town of Kingston in Tuesday's election. Michael Haggerty, Republican, was elected supervisor; Joseph Carcaramo, Republican, assessor; Sylvester Myers, Democrat, superintendent of highways; George Leedecke, Republican, town clerk; Herman Schreivogel, Republican, tax collector; and Mrs. R. Schreivogel, Republican, school director. The total votes cast for the candidates were as follows: Supervisor—Michael Haggerty, Rep., 91; Lewis Hulsair, Dem., 89; assessor—Joseph Carcaramo, Rep., 111; Arthur Granquist, Dem., 67; supt. of highways—Sylvester Myers, Dem., 93; Thomas Leahy, Rep. 87; town clerk—George Leedecke, Rep., endorsed, 92 on Rep., 78 on Dem.; tax collector—Herman Schreivogel, Rep., 95 on Rep., 79 on Dem.; school director—Mrs. R. Schreivogel, Rep., 104. Serving on the board were Mrs. C. Callahan, Mrs. G. Gerdts, Mrs. K. Hulsair, and Mrs. L. Hulsair. Watchers were Ludwig Ritzhaupt and Ernst Mossl.

Town Historian Harry Siemsen reports five years ago Nov. 7, 1946, the Town of Kingston accepted delivery on the first town owned truck. This year on Nov. 7, Sylvester Myers, road superintendent, received delivery of the second town truck.

As Pegler Sees It

Workers and later member of the War Production Board. The job of representing the strong and wealthy United States in chaotic and disturbed Europe is a difficult one."

These are enough quotations. They inform us that Dubinsky, who brazenly undertakes to supervise the politics of his subjects in public elections at home and inflicts financial penalties on ill-paid women needle-workers for refusing to contribute to his personal political projects in foreign lands thinly disguised as "charities," is engaged in mischief far beyond the known scope of even the most arrogant unions. During the war he operated an "underground" of his own in Europe by his own permission and without reporting to anyone or accounting for his expenditures of money which belonged to his subjects. Now he runs a "foreign service" with a "foreign policy" of his own, with a "minister of foreign affairs" which is a continental European title, and with an "ambassador in Europe" whom the American people never heard of, and a "well coordinated political and labor network" composed of six mysterious agents planted in Europe, Burma, Latin America, India, Formosa and "the Far East." The American people never heard of these people either.

Woll, Meany and Harrison are meaningless here, well-fed, flabby bureaucrats who are merely names on a roster. Dubinsky is the force, Dubinsky has done as much as any other individual and more than most to deceive the Americans with elements of socialism represented as "democracy." If he could have his way entirely in the United States, our government would imitate in all important respects the socialist program of the miscalled British Labor Party which has now brought the old empire to disaster.

Yet, Dallin, typical of this development, refers in the most casual and incidental manner to the news that Dubinsky's unknown "ambassador in Europe" has the job of "representing" the United States.

Who elected these mysterious unknowns to "represent the United States"? What are their qualifications? Who are they, anyway?

Company Fights Payment

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Penn-Liberty Insurance Company says it refuses to pay actress Magda Gabor for gems and furs she lost in a robbery because its agent didn't tell his office she was a celebrity and a "target risk." Miss Gabor is suing the company for $14,250, the value of jewelry and furs taken by two gunmen from her apartment last Jan. 13. In State Supreme Court yesterday, the company also contended that the beauteous actress "failed and refused to participate in legal action" against a man she identified as one of the robbers. Miss Gabor's two sisters—Eva and Sari—also are actresses.

Adagio Equilibrists for Monday Ball

One of the featured acts for the American Legion Victory Ball, Monday night in the municipal auditorium, is this family of adagio Equilibrists, Taffy 'n' Terry and Trio. They have appeared on television and in some of the leading theatres and night clubs of the country. Their act is considered one of the most unique in show business. Ticket sales indicate a crowd for the ball, proceeds of which will be used by Kingston Post, 150, on Legion projects for the year. (Kriegsmann Photo)

Baby Case Review Is Due in Court

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 9 (AP)—The appellate division of state Supreme Court will hear a request Tuesday that it review adoption proceedings in Columbia county Surrogate's Court in connection with an alleged black market in baby adoptions.

Presiding Justice Sydney J. Foster of the court's third department said yesterday he would present the request of a Queens grand jury for "review and scrutiny" of the surrogate's records.

Grand juries in Queens, Manhattan and Brooklyn indicted Marcus Siegel, a Brooklyn attorney, last Friday in connection with the alleged adoption ring.

The Queens panel charged that 89 fake adoptions were put through the Surrogate's Court in Hudson.

Foster said the grand jury made no charges against Surrogate Sherwood B. Speed "but felt it was a matter that should, at least, be investigated by the appellate division."

Speed has declined comment on the grand jury charge. He said last July that "every paper for every adoption I ever handled was done in proper, judicial order."

District Attorney Charles Sullivan of Queens gave Foster the grand jury's request.

Siegel, charged with subornation of perjury—inducing a person to lie—and several violations of state adoption laws, has pleaded innocent and is free on bail pending trial.

Lots of Brass

Xenia, O., (AP)—The brass outnumbers the enlisted men in nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. The Public Information Officer says there were 3,900 enlisted men there at last count. Officers numbered 4,450 and civilian workers 24,850. Every two weeks the base hands out $3,800,000 in payroll checks.

Six Calves Born, Die

Middleville, Nov. 9 (AP)—A veterinarian says Frank Snyder's cow may have set a world record when she gave birth to six calves. The calves died shortly after birth Wednesday on Snyder's Herkimer county farm. Glenn Robens, a veterinarian at nearby Poland, said he'd never heard of more than five calves at one time. Six might be a new mark, he said.

SAWKILL NEWS

Sawkill, Nov. 9—The children of the lower Sawkill school enjoyed their Halloween party at the schoolhouse last week. Games were played, a parade of the costumed merrymakers was featured and the afternoon's fun completed with refreshments.

Mrs. Frank Joy spent several days in Kingston last week visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Leahy, Sr., and family.

Mrs. S. Myers of Sawkill, accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Bouer and daughter, Barbara, of Kingston, spent the weekend in Yonkers. Sunday, they attended the wedding of Mrs. Myers' grandson, Ralph Bouer, Jr., to Miss Marie Ulsenheimer, at St. John's Church at high Mass. The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vanak. Mrs. Myers and Mrs. R. Bouer were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weideman.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Myers and son, Gregory, spent the weekend in Sawkill with Sylvester Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Duffy, Sr., had as guests for several days last week, James Maguire and son, James, Jr., of Brooklyn.

The Sawkill Home Bureau unit reports 25 members to date. The next regular meeting of the unit will be held at Mrs. Paul Burton's home in the village at 8 p. m., Tuesday, Nov. 13. The meeting will be on foods, and is titled How to Get the Most for Your Food Dollar.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hulsair and family of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsair Sr., Sunday.

Miss Margaret Mary Canty of Sawkill and Brooklyn is studying music at the Father Young School of Music in New York. She is a member of the St. Pius X Choir and sang at the vespers service commemorating the 40th anniversary of the Catholic Daughters of America at St. Joseph's Church in Kingston Oct. 28. Miss Canty's name was inadvertantly omitted in last week's column.

Harry Siemsen and Joseph Carcaramo attended a meeting of the Hurley unit of the Ulster County Farm Bureau at Harry Beatty's farm, Hurley avenue, Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lohmaier celebrated their wedding anniversary Nov. 7. Mr. and Mrs. E. Mossl will celebrate their anniversary Nov. 10.

Mrs. Paul Burton and Miss Emma Herrmann attended a sewing machine school, Ulster County Home Bureau, at the Town of Ulster Barn last Friday. Mrs. Burton announced a class could be arranged locally if at least seven women could bring their machines to a central location in the village. The class is extremely interesting, and helpful, as the women are taught how to completely dismantle, clean, and adjust their machines, and put them in perfect working order upon completion. Anyone interested in a class is requested to contact Mrs. Burton for further details.

Miss Catherine Carcaramo is spending a few days this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Carcaramo on Hallahan's Hill.

Miss Mary Ann Leahy spent the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joy, on Hallahan's Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Boice and family, Onteora Trail, visited the Joys Sunday night.

The Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company will hold a meeting at the school house Monday, Nov. 12, at 8 p. m.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company will hold a meeting at the school house Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 8 p. m. Anyone interested in the fire company or auxiliary is cordially invited to attend any or all meetings of these organizations.

Mrs. Paul Burton attended the Ulster County Home Bureau executive committee meetings at the Home Bureau office in Kingston Saturday.

Mrs. E. Logan and Thomas Gaskin of Brooklyn visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leahy Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Liberatore and son, Mario Liberatore, of Geneva, visited Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson and son, William, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ruhman and daughter, Evelyn, moved to Woodstock Saturday.

Miss Mormile, school nurse, visited the lower Sawkill school Friday and conducted a discussion on the importance of a good breakfast and the value of milk.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boice entertained Mrs. E. Wyant and grandson, Edward Wyant, Leonard Korth, Calvin Wyant, Jr., and Donald Keyser, Kingston, Saturday.

Halloween pranksters caused considerable damage to quite a few of the rural mail boxes through Sawkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Reiff moved to Kingston last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Hugger and daughter, Irene, were in Poughkeepsie Tuesday. En route, they visited Henry Olson in New Paltz.

One hundred and 84 votes were polled at the Town of Kingston in Tuesday's election. Michael Haggerty, Republican, was elected supervisor; Joseph Carcaramo, Republican, assessor; Sylvester Myers, Democrat, superintendent of highways; George Leedecke, Republican, town clerk; Herman Schreivogel, Republican, tax collector; and Mrs. R. Schreivogel, Republican, school director. The total votes cast for the candidates were as follows: Supervisor—Michael Haggerty, Rep., 91; Lewis Hulsair, Dem., 89; assessor—Joseph Carcaramo, Rep., 111; Arthur Granquist, Dem., 67; supt. of highways—Sylvester Myers, Dem., 93; Thomas Leahy, Rep. 87; town clerk—George Leedecke, Rep., endorsed, 92 on Rep., 78 on Dem.; tax collector—Herman Schreivogel, Rep., 95 on Rep., 79 on Dem.; school director—Mrs. R. Schreivogel, Rep., 104. Serving on the board were Mrs. C. Callahan, Mrs. G. Gerdts, Mrs. K. Hulsair, and Mrs. L. Hulsair. Watchers were Ludwig Ritzhaupt and Ernst Mossl.

Town Historian Harry Siemsen reports five years ago Nov. 7, 1946, the Town of Kingston accepted delivery on the first town owned truck. This year on Nov. 7, Sylvester Myers, road superintendent, received delivery of the second town truck.

As Pegler Sees It

Workers and later member of the War Production Board. The job of representing the strong and wealthy United States in chaotic and disturbed Europe is a difficult one."

These are enough quotations. They inform us that Dubinsky, who brazenly undertakes to supervise the politics of his subjects in public elections at home and inflicts financial penalties on ill-paid women needle-workers for refusing to contribute to his personal political projects in foreign lands thinly disguised as "charities," is engaged in mischief far beyond the known scope of even the most arrogant unions. During the war he operated an "underground" of his own in Europe by his own permission and without reporting to anyone or accounting for his expenditures of money which belonged to his subjects. Now he runs a "foreign service" with a "foreign policy" of his own, with a "minister of foreign affairs" which is a continental European title, and with an "ambassador in Europe" whom the American people never heard of, and a "well coordinated political and labor network" composed of six mysterious agents planted in Europe, Burma, Latin America, India, Formosa and "the Far East." The American people never heard of these people either.

Woll, Meany and Harrison are meaningless here, well-fed, flabby bureaucrats who are merely names on a roster. Dubinsky is the force, Dubinsky has done as much as any other individual and more than most to deceive the Americans with elements of socialism represented as "democracy." If he could have his way entirely in the United States, our government would imitate in all important respects the socialist program of the miscalled British Labor Party which has now brought the old empire to disaster.

Yet, Dallin, typical of this development, refers in the most casual and incidental manner to the news that Dubinsky's unknown "ambassador in Europe" has the job of "representing" the United States.

Who elected these mysterious unknowns to "represent the United States"? What are their qualifications? Who are they, anyway?

Company Fights Payment

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—The Penn-Liberty Insurance Company says it refuses to pay actress Magda Gabor for gems and furs she lost in a robbery because its agent didn't tell his office she was a celebrity and a "target risk." Miss Gabor is suing the company for $14,250, the value of jewelry and furs taken by two gunmen from her apartment last Jan. 13. In State Supreme Court yesterday, the company also contended that the beauteous actress "failed and refused to participate in legal action" against a man she identified as one of the robbers. Miss Gabor's two sisters—Eva and Sari—also are actresses.

Adagio Equilibrists for Monday Ball

One of the featured acts for the American Legion Victory Ball, Monday night in the municipal auditorium, is this family of adagio Equilibrists, Taffy 'n' Terry and Trio. They have appeared on television and in some of the leading theatres and night clubs of the country. Their act is considered one of the most unique in show business. Ticket sales indicate a crowd for the ball, proceeds of which will be used by Kingston Post, 150, on Legion projects for the year. (Kriegsmann Photo)

Baby Case Review Is Due in Court

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 9 (AP)—The appellate division of state Supreme Court will hear a request Tuesday that it review adoption proceedings in Columbia county Surrogate's Court in connection with an alleged black market in baby adoptions.

Presiding Justice Sydney J. Foster of the court's third department said yesterday he would present the request of a Queens grand jury for "review and scrutiny" of the surrogate's records.

Grand juries in Queens, Manhattan and Brooklyn indicted Marcus Siegel, a Brooklyn attorney, last Friday in connection with the alleged adoption ring.

The Queens panel charged that 89 fake adoptions were put through the Surrogate's Court in Hudson.

Foster said the grand jury made no charges against Surrogate Sherwood B. Speed "but felt it was a matter that should, at least, be investigated by the appellate division."

Speed has declined comment on the grand jury charge. He said last July that "every paper for every adoption I ever handled was done in proper, judicial order."

District Attorney Charles Sullivan of Queens gave Foster the grand jury's request.

Siegel, charged with subornation of perjury—inducing a person to lie—and several violations of state adoption laws, has pleaded innocent and is free on bail pending trial.

Lots of Brass

Xenia, O., (AP)—The brass outnumbers the enlisted men in nearby Wright-Patterson Air Force Base. The Public Information Officer says there were 3,900 enlisted men there at last count. Officers numbered 4,450 and civilian workers 24,850. Every two weeks the base hands out $3,800,000 in payroll checks.

Europe's Inflation Crisis May Be Most Dangerous Threat

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Europe's inflation crisis—which some see as more dangerous now than any military threat—is likely to cost American businessmen in several ways:

Loss of some markets for their goods—Example: Britain's billion dollar cut back in imports announced yesterday.

More financial aid in the future—paid for by American taxpayers.

And, probably, a move to spend more American defense dollars in Europe than with American industry for war material to rearm Europe.

American military brass is reported just as worried about the European economic crisis as are the Europeans themselves, seeing in inflation the greatest stumbling block at present to the entire program of rearming western Europe against the Communist threat.

That is why General Eisenhower flew back to Washington for talks with President Truman—in the opinion of George A. Sloan, chairman of the U. S. Council of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Sloan, just back from Paris, says he talked for two hours with the general there and found him "more concerned over inflation and the economic strain of rearmament on European governments than over the military problems of uniting the western European army."

Spend to Aid Europe

Sloan believes this country should spend in Europe as much as possible of its funds earmarked for rearmament. This would aid European economy directly and also free the hard-pressed Europeans from spending their dwindling supply of dollars.

It's going to take a long time to improve economic conditions in England, Sloan believes.

The Churchill government took its first steps in that direction yesterday. The first was to put the Bank of England in direct control of the money supply—for the first time in 19 years. The bank raised interest rates at once, to make borrowing tougher and thus curb inflation.

The second step was to announce that England will buy one billion dollars less of goods from the dollar and non-sterling areas. This is aimed at halting the alarming drain of dollars and gold from the British exchequer. The British will try to get some of these goods from the Commonwealth nations, and some it will just do without—as Churchill gives even the Laborites a lesson in austerity.

Spends All on Defense

The British supply of gold and dollars has been draining away because it spends more on importing raw materials for defense than it gets for the goods it exports.

The immediate effect on American business of the two steps will probably be: Further enthusiasm here for higher interest rates (American banks recently raised them again), and a further drop in exports of American goods to the sterling area.

Many businessmen, however, believe the effect on our exports will not be large. They say that most of the things Britain buys from us now are essential foods and raw materials. They think the first cut in British buying will be with her European neighbors. These same businessmen, however, believe the British will look to us for financial aid in the purchase of our essential materials for their defense.

Businessmen fear more the shove the British action will give to the growing tendency to put curbs on world trade. American businessmen already are prevented from selling their products in many lands—either through foreign bans on spending dollars or by direct quotas limiting the amount of American goods that can enter the lands.

The day when goods and money can move freely again is being put back once more—this time by the inflation crisis growing out of Europe's rearmament program.

Safety plays are seldom made in tournament bridge because extra tricks are usually just as important as making the contract itself. Today's hand shows the exception to the rule—but it has a surprise ending.

Ruth Sherman was the shrinking violet who went to four hearts with the South hand. It was at a crucial point in last year's mixed pair championship, and Miss Sherman decided that she needed a good result to win. She got a good result, and she did win the championship, so who can criticize her bid?

West opened the king of spades. East followed with the seven, and Miss Sherman dropped the six. West glared at her suspiciously, but Miss Sherman looked the very picture of innocence, so West continued with the ace of spades.

West realized he had made a mistake, but he was still afraid to break a new suit, so he continued with a third round of spades. Miss Sherman won with the queen of spades and decided that normal defense would take three spades and a diamond against any heart contract. Therefore she was going to make sure of her game contract by making a safety play in trumps.

The safety play is to cash dummy's king of hearts first. If only small cards fall, declarer gets back to her own hand with the ace of clubs and leads a small trump towards dummy's jack. This play gives up one trump trick, to be sure, but it assures the contract against any 4-1 trump break. Later on, the losing diamond is discarded on dummy's nine of spades.

The surprise twist came when Miss Sherman led a trump to dummy's king. East's queen fell. Now the rest of the hand was easy. West eventually won a trump trick, but declarer threw her losing diamond on the nine of spades and made her contract.

At most tables the opening lead was the nine of clubs. This was taken in the South hand, and the jack of hearts was immediately finessed. Now declarer had to lose two trump tricks, three spades, and a diamond — down three.

Parties Will Convene At Chicago Site

Chicago, Nov. 9 (AP) — The Republican and Democratic parties will hold their 1952 national political conventions in Chicago's 23,000-seat International Amphitheatre.

Television facilities accounted for the selection of the Amphitheatre rather than the Chicago Stadium, where the 1944 conventions were held.

Chairmen Guy G. Gabrielson of the Republican party and Frank E. McKinney of the Democratic party said yesterday "television was the most important single factor" in the choice.

The parties each will pay $6,500 daily rental during their respective conventions next summer.

Mettacahonts

Mettacahonts, Nov. 9 — The Willing Workers will hold their meeting at the home of Mrs. Franklin Kelder Wednesday at 2 p. m.

The Reformed Church will celebrate its 250th anniversary Nov. 11 and 12.

The supper recently held at the hall was reported to be largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Gates entertained relatives from New Jersey Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wood entertained guests from Kingston recently.

Mrs. William Treadway is spending a few days at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Rauch entertained relatives from New York last weekend.

Artist Pleads Guilty

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Artist David Van Tosh, 27, pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of endangering his two children's health and morals by leaving them unattended while he and his wife were away from home. Both he and his wife Lenore, 22, had been arrested on the same charge and both originally pleaded innocent. Van Tosh changed his plea to guilty when the case came up for trial. His wife's case was adjourned pending sentencing of Van Tosh later.

Weiner Is Cleared

New York, Nov. 9 (AP) — Cpl. Irving Weiner, 21-year-old military policeman, has been cleared on charges in connection with a plan to steal a $600,000 pay roll at Mitchel Field Air Force Base. The charges against Weiner were dismissed yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Edward E. Fay. Weiner's home is in (156 Columbia Road) Dorchester, Mass.

I WILL "STEP UP" MY PLEDGE ON

LOYALTY SUNDAY, NOV. 11th

BECAUSE

I could give more by a little sacrifice.
I should share my increased income with Christ
The opportunities before my Church require added funds.
The growing program of service throughout the community is such a splendid investment.
A number of pledges have been lost this year through the passing of loyal members or their removal to some other community.
Some church expenses, such as fuel, have increased.
Our Christlike missionaries need more help in serving needy peoples.
My Church leaders who have studied and prepared the budgets have asked me to "step up" my pledge.

Europe's Inflation Crisis May Be Most Dangerous Threat

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Europe's inflation crisis—which some see as more dangerous now than any military threat—is likely to cost American businessmen in several ways:

Loss of some markets for their goods—Example: Britain's billion dollar cut back in imports announced yesterday.

More financial aid in the future—paid for by American taxpayers.

And, probably, a move to spend more American defense dollars in Europe than with American industry for war material to rearm Europe.

American military brass is reported just as worried about the European economic crisis as are the Europeans themselves, seeing in inflation the greatest stumbling block at present to the entire program of rearming western Europe against the Communist threat.

That is why General Eisenhower flew back to Washington for talks with President Truman—in the opinion of George A. Sloan, chairman of the U. S. Council of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Sloan, just back from Paris, says he talked for two hours with the general there and found him "more concerned over inflation and the economic strain of rearmament on European governments than over the military problems of uniting the western European army."

Spend to Aid Europe

Sloan believes this country should spend in Europe as much as possible of its funds earmarked for rearmament. This would aid European economy directly and also free the hard-pressed Europeans from spending their dwindling supply of dollars.

It's going to take a long time to improve economic conditions in England, Sloan believes.

The Churchill government took its first steps in that direction yesterday. The first was to put the Bank of England in direct control of the money supply—for the first time in 19 years. The bank raised interest rates at once, to make borrowing tougher and thus curb inflation.

The second step was to announce that England will buy one billion dollars less of goods from the dollar and non-sterling areas. This is aimed at halting the alarming drain of dollars and gold from the British exchequer. The British will try to get some of these goods from the Commonwealth nations, and some it will just do without—as Churchill gives even the Laborites a lesson in austerity.

Spends All on Defense

The British supply of gold and dollars has been draining away because it spends more on importing raw materials for defense than it gets for the goods it exports.

The immediate effect on American business of the two steps will probably be: Further enthusiasm here for higher interest rates (American banks recently raised them again), and a further drop in exports of American goods to the sterling area.

Many businessmen, however, believe the effect on our exports will not be large. They say that most of the things Britain buys from us now are essential foods and raw materials. They think the first cut in British buying will be with her European neighbors. These same businessmen, however, believe the British will look to us for financial aid in the purchase of our essential materials for their defense.

Businessmen fear more the shove the British action will give to the growing tendency to put curbs on world trade. American businessmen already are prevented from selling their products in many lands—either through foreign bans on spending dollars or by direct quotas limiting the amount of American goods that can enter the lands.

The day when goods and money can move freely again is being put back once more—this time by the inflation crisis growing out of Europe's rearmament program.

Parties Will Convene At Chicago Site

Chicago, Nov. 9 (AP) — The Republican and Democratic parties will hold their 1952 national political conventions in Chicago's 23,000-seat International Amphitheatre.

Television facilities accounted for the selection of the Amphitheatre rather than the Chicago Stadium, where the 1944 conventions were held.

Chairmen Guy G. Gabrielson of the Republican party and Frank E. McKinney of the Democratic party said yesterday "television was the most important single factor" in the choice.

The parties each will pay $6,500 daily rental during their respective conventions next summer.

Mettacahonts

Mettacahonts, Nov. 9 — The Willing Workers will hold their meeting at the home of Mrs. Franklin Kelder Wednesday at 2 p. m.

The Reformed Church will celebrate its 250th anniversary Nov. 11 and 12.

The supper recently held at the hall was reported to be largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Gates entertained relatives from New Jersey Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wood entertained guests from Kingston recently.

Mrs. William Treadway is spending a few days at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Rauch entertained relatives from New York last weekend.

Artist Pleads Guilty

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Artist David Van Tosh, 27, pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of endangering his two children's health and morals by leaving them unattended while he and his wife were away from home. Both he and his wife Lenore, 22, had been arrested on the same charge and both originally pleaded innocent. Van Tosh changed his plea to guilty when the case came up for trial. His wife's case was adjourned pending sentencing of Van Tosh later.

Weiner Is Cleared

New York, Nov. 9 (AP) — Cpl. Irving Weiner, 21-year-old military policeman, has been cleared on charges in connection with a plan to steal a $600,000 pay roll at Mitchel Field Air Force Base. The charges against Weiner were dismissed yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Edward E. Fay. Weiner's home is in (156 Columbia Road) Dorchester, Mass.

I WILL "STEP UP" MY PLEDGE ON

BECAUSE

I could give more by a little sacrifice.

I should share my increased income with Christ

The opportunities before my Church require added funds.

The growing program of service throughout the community is such a splendid investment.

A number of pledges have been lost this year through the passing of loyal members or their removal to some other community.

Some church expenses, such as fuel, have increased.

Our Christlike missionaries need more help in serving needy peoples.

My Church leaders who have studied and prepared the budgets have asked me to "step up" my pledge.

Safety plays are seldom made in tournament bridge because extra tricks are usually just as important as making the contract itself. Today's hand shows the exception to the rule—but it has a surprise ending.

Ruth Sherman was the shrinking violet who went to four hearts with the South hand. It was at a crucial point in last year's mixed pair championship, and Miss Sherman decided that she needed a good result to win. She got a good result, and she did win the championship, so who can criticize her bid?

West opened the king of spades, East followed with the seven, and Miss Sherman dropped the six. West glared at her suspiciously, but Miss Sherman looked the very picture of innocence, so West continued with the ace of spades.

West realized he had made a mistake, but he was still afraid to break a new suit, so he continued with a third round of spades. Miss Sherman won with the queen of spades and decided that normal defense would take three spades and a diamond against any heart contract. Therefore she was going to make sure of her game contract by making a safety play in trumps.

The safety play is to cash dummy's king of hearts first. If only small cards fall, declarer gets back to her own hand with the ace of clubs and leads a small trump towards dummy's jack. This play gives up one trump trick, to be sure, but it assures the contract against any 4-1 trump break. Later on, the losing diamond is discarded on dummy's nine of spades.

The surprise twist came when Miss Sherman led a trump to dummy's king. East's queen fell. Now the rest of the hand was easy. West eventually won a trump trick, but declarer threw her losing diamond on the nine of spades and made her contract.

At most tables the opening lead was the nine of clubs. This was taken in the South hand, and the jack of hearts was immediately finessed. Now declarer had to lose two trump tricks, three spades, and a diamond — down three.

Production Is Up Despite Loss of Many Farm Hands

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP) — The heavy migration away from farms that was spurred by World War 2 had been brought to a virtual halt in the late '40's when along came Korea.

Now farm workers are again rushing to defense industries and the armed forces.

Farm employment this year will average 400,000 fewer than last. Yet production of crops and livestock products combined will be the largest in the nation's history.

The ability of agriculture to take losses in its work force and still come up with larger and larger harvests provides evidence of ever-increasing efficiency.

Fewer Cotton Workers

This year's cotton crop of nearly 17,000,000 bales is being harvested, the Agriculture Department reports, with slightly fewer workers than last year's crop of 10,000,000 bales. Farmers are working longer hours and are using much more mechanical equipment.

The department says about 17 per cent of this year's cotton will be harvested mechanically compared with eight per cent last year.

Virtually all of this year's decrease in farm workers, the department reports, has been among male workers. Consequently women make up a larger proportion of the farm labor force than a year ago. The percentage of women this year is estimated at 18 compared with 16 last year. During the war the percentage of women climbed to 23.

Armed Forces Take Them

The number of military-age males employed in agriculture decreased by 275,000 from July 1950 to July 1951. More than half were said to have entered the armed forces, the remainder taking city jobs.

There apparently is room for a further decline in the farm labor force without seriously affecting production.

Farm wage rates are averaging only about 10 per cent above the pre-Korean war level, but farm prices are 18 per cent above.

In periods of very tight farm labor supplies, wages usually rise as much as or more than prices. The department says farmers this year generally are able to obtain needed seasonal labor without stepping up wage rates substantially.

But next year wage rates may advance more than prices if migration from the farm increases.

Want Embargo Lifted

Singapore, (AP) — Hong Kong manufacturers who attended a recent economic conference here with American officials hope to see the U. S. embargo on raw materials to Hong Kong lifted. They escorted E. E. Schnellbacher and Eugene Braderman of the Department of Commerce around their exhibits at the Happy World Exposition here. The idea was to let the Americans see for themselves that goods manufactured from American raw materials were mainly intended for export to Southeast Asia. A spokesman for the Hong Kong Chinese Manufacturers Union pointed out that the U. S. embargo, aimed at preventing essential goods from flowing to Red China, has hampered Hong Kong's industrial expansion.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Nov. 9—Howard Ives of Port Ewen was numbered among the Town of Esopus residents calling in the hub of the reservoir country Monday. He was on his way to Woodstock by way of Mt. Tremper.

Mrs. George Schmeltz of Woburn, Mass., is spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Avery. The former Helen Avery, whose husband is in the navy, attended Kingston High School and was employed in a Wall street store for a time.

Mrs. W. Moshier of Westchester county is visiting her sister, Mrs. Maynard DeLong.

Mrs. Henry L. Daniels, who died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Olds, in Middletown, was a resident of the village center some 20 years ago. She was Ina Krum, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Krum of Krumville.

Ann Ingalls, who was a hospital patient for several weeks following a fall, is again at her home in the church hill neighborhood of Shokan.

Birthdays falling on Thursday, Nov. 8, include that of Mona Dohler, a pupil of the Ashokan school. Mona, who is nine years old, moved here from Williams Lake with her parents, Otto and Martha Dohler, in December, 1950 . . . Thursday also marks the 10th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oakley of Stone Ridge who were married at Ashokan. Mrs. Oakley is the former Mary F. Weeks of Shokan.

Homer Markle, Jr., is painting the new 5-room house of John Haggerty on the south side of the reservoir. This is the second dwelling that Jack has had erected on his large acreage near the Brodhead schoolhouse.

Election Day at the Olive No. 1 polls in Winchell's Store was reminiscent of annual town meeting days in years before the waterworks. There was much of the old time atmosphere as voters from several communities exchanged greetings and pleasantries, and there were two or three rush periods which taxed the standing room of the big store. Delia Lewis, running for town clerk on both tickets received a total of 328 votes here. Grant Avery, local Democrat candidate, received a 43 majority in this traditional Republican stronghold but failed of election to the office. The five oldest voters here were: Homer Markle, Sr., and wife; Julia Winchell, Alonzo Haver and Edwin D. Secor.

The WSCS of the Ashokan Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Vivia Winnie. The monthly meeting of the Shokan Reformed Church Aid Society took place Wednesday at the home of Aner and Edna Longyear.

Pasturage is good this fall in the mountains as a result of the frequent rains. More than 100,000 cows reportedly are pastured in the great Delaware county milkshed. Holsteins make up the preponderant breed of this vast cattle population which require the services of some 43,000 farming people.

Voting for the first time at the local polling place were Prof. Lawrence Gallagher, new principal of the Onteora central school, and wife who make their home in Mrs. E. Brunel's main house at Boiceville. Summer residents coming here to vote included Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, who in late summer moved from Manhattan to 69th street. Others in town to cast their ballots were: Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Every of Richmond Hill; Edwin Swenson of Chestertown and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca of Washington Heights.

Births

The city registrar recorded 88 births in October. This was 15 more than the September total and three less than the October, 1950 total.

Births recorded recently were:

Oct. 27—Edwin to Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Basch, 22 Stuyvesant street.

Oct. 29—Darlene Faye to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joseph Naccarato, Glasco; Hope Elizabeth to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard S. Winfield, Walden; Christopher John to Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Hugo Smedman, 88 Third avenue; Paul F. to Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Solodar, Hunter, and Jean Anhe to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kubicek, 23 Abruyn street.

Oct. 30—Georgia Ann to Mr. and Mrs. George Philip Orsulich, Saugerties; Michael Charles, Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Charles Pugliese, 490 Broadway, and Albert Louis to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Caccarila, New Paltz.

Oct. 31—Richard to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paradies, Tillson, and Karen Maria to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick Bock, Port Ewen.

Wrestling Minister

Columbus, O. (AP)—The Rev. William Charles Jones wrestles with sin—and other wrestlers. He is pastor of the Nelson Memorial Presbyterian Church. While he never wrestled professionally, he taught wrestling at Hanover College in Indiana and at the University of Kentucky. Every few days the 190-pound preacher goes downtown to Al Haft's second-floor gymnasium for a workout with some of the promoter's professional mat stars. The professional wrestlers treat him just like any other wrestler—except they watch their language a little more.

Hand grenades were used by U. S. Marines who served under John Paul Jones during the Revolutionary War.

Panel Discussion Planned Sunday At First Baptist

The Future of Our Sunday Schools will be the topic of a panel discussion to be held at the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue, Sunday, Nov. 11, at 8 p. m., under the auspices of the Sunday Evening Study Club.

Questions of Sunday school methods and programs in churches will be raised and discussed by a group of Sunday school workers under the chairmanship of Miss Ethel M. Hull, primary department superintendent at the First Baptist Church.

Panel members include Chester A. Baltz, Jr., church school superintendent at the First Presbyterian Church; Kenneth L. Hicok, superintendent at the Fair Street Reformed Church; Mrs. Herbert Fister, teacher at the Old First Reformed Church school; and Charles L. Arnold, superintendent at the host church.

Sunday school teachers and workers of the churches of the city are invited to attend. At the close of the panel discussion, questions may be raised by members of the audience, relating to any phase of the church school program.

The planning committee of the Sunday Evening Study Club, which is arranging a series of similar panel programs includes: Harry T. Gumaer, chairman; Miss Alice Hunter, Mrs. Sherwood Lasher, Mrs. Edward Safford and Charles A. Gumaer. The Rev. Donald E. Brown, pastor of the host church, will introduce the panel.

Production Is Up Despite Loss of Many Farm Hands

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP) — The heavy migration away from farms that was spurred by World War 2 had been brought to a virtual halt in the late '40's when along came Korea.

Now farm workers are again rushing to defense industries and the armed forces.

Farm employment this year will average 400,000 fewer than last. Yet production of crops and livestock products combined will be the largest in the nation's history.

The ability of agriculture to take losses in its work force and still come up with larger and larger harvests provides evidence of ever-increasing efficiency.

Fewer Cotton Workers

This year's cotton crop of nearly 17,000,000 bales is being harvested, the Agriculture Department reports, with slightly fewer workers than last year's crop of 10,000,000 bales. Farmers are working longer hours and are using much more mechanical equipment.

The department says about 17 per cent of this year's cotton will be harvested mechanically compared with eight per cent last year.

Virtually all of this year's decrease in farm workers, the department reports, has been among male workers. Consequently women make up a larger proportion of the farm labor force than a year ago. The percentage of women this year is estimated at 18 compared with 16 last year. During the war the percentage of women climbed to 23.

Armed Forces Take Them

The number of military-age males employed in agriculture decreased by 275,000 from July 1950 to July 1951. More than half were said to have entered the armed forces, the remainder taking city jobs.

There apparently is room for a further decline in the farm labor force without seriously affecting production.

Farm wage rates are averaging only about 10 per cent above the pre-Korean war level, but farm prices are 18 per cent above.

In periods of very tight farm labor supplies, wages usually rise as much as or more than prices. The department says farmers this year generally are able to obtain needed seasonal labor without stepping up wage rates substantially.

But next year wage rates may advance more than prices if migration from the farm increases.

Want Embargo Lifted

Singapore, (AP) — Hong Kong manufacturers who attended a recent economic conference here with American officials hope to see the U. S. embargo on raw materials to Hong Kong lifted. They escorted E. E. Schnellbacher and Eugene Braderman of the Department of Commerce around their exhibits at the Happy World Exposition here. The idea was to let the Americans see for themselves that goods manufactured from American raw materials were mainly intended for export to Southeast Asia. A spokesman for the Hong Kong Chinese Manufacturers Union pointed out that the U. S. embargo, aimed at preventing essential goods from flowing to Red China, has hampered Hong Kong's industrial expansion.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Nov. 9—Howard Ives of Port Ewen was numbered among the Town of Esopus residents calling in the hub of the reservoir country Monday. He was on his way to Woodstock by way of Mt. Tremper.

Mrs. George Schmeltz of Woburn, Mass., is spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Avery. The former Helen Avery, whose husband is in the navy, attended Kingston High School and was employed in a Wall street store for a time.

Mrs. W. Moshier of Westchester county is visiting her sister, Mrs. Maynard DeLong.

Mrs. Henry L. Daniels, who died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Olds, in Middletown, was a resident of the village center some 20 years ago. She was Ina Krum, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Krum of Krumville.

Ann Ingalls, who was a hospital patient for several weeks following a fall, is again at her home in the church hill neighborhood of Shokan.

Birthdays falling on Thursday, Nov. 8, include that of Mona Dohler, a pupil of the Ashokan school. Mona, who is nine years old, moved here from Williams Lake with her parents, Otto and Martha Dohler, in December, 1950 . . . Thursday also marks the 10th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oakley of Stone Ridge who were married at Ashokan. Mrs. Oakley is the former Mary F. Weeks of Shokan.

Homer Markle, Jr., is painting the new 5-room house of John Haggerty on the south side of the reservoir. This is the second dwelling that Jack has had erected on his large acreage near the Brodhead schoolhouse.

Election Day at the Olive No. 1 polls in Winchell's Store was reminiscent of annual town meeting days in years before the waterworks. There was much of the old time atmosphere as voters from several communities exchanged greetings and pleasantries, and there were two or three rush periods which taxed the standing room of the big store. Delia Lewis, running for town clerk on both tickets received a total of 328 votes here. Grant Avery, local Democrat candidate, received a 43 majority in this traditional Republican stronghold but failed of election to the office. The five oldest voters here were: Homer Markle, Sr., and wife; Julia Winchell, Alonzo Haver and Edwin D. Secor.

The WSCS of the Ashokan Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Vivia Winnie. The monthly meeting of the Shokan Reformed Church Aid Society took place Wednesday at the home of Aner and Edna Longyear.

Pasturage is good this fall in the mountains as a result of the frequent rains. More than 100,000 cows reportedly are pastured in the great Delaware county milkshed. Holsteins make up the preponderant breed of this vast cattle population which require the services of some 43,000 farming people.

Voting for the first time at the local polling place were Prof. Lawrence Gallagher, new principal of the Onteora central school, and wife who make their home in Mrs. E. Brunel's main house at Boiceville. Summer residents coming here to vote included Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, who in late summer moved from Manhattan to 69th street. Others in town to cast their ballots were: Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Every of Richmond Hill; Edwin Swenson of Chestertown and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Casablanca of Washington Heights.

Births

The city registrar recorded 88 births in October. This was 15 more than the September total and three less than the October, 1950 total.

Births recorded recently were:

Oct. 27—Edwin to Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Basch, 22 Stuyvesant street.

Oct. 29—Darlene Faye to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joseph Naccarato, Glasco; Hope Elizabeth to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard S. Winfield, Walden; Christopher John to Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Hugo Smedman, 88 Third avenue; Paul F. to Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Solodar, Hunter, and Jean Anne to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kubicek, 23 Abruyn street.

Oct. 30—Georgia Ann to Mr. and Mrs. George Philip Orsulich, Saugerties; Michael Charles, Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Charles Pugliese, 490 Broadway, and Albert Louis to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Caccarila, New Paltz.

Oct. 31—Richard to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paradies, Tillson, and Karen Maria to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frederick Bock, Port Ewen.

Wrestling Minister

Columbus, O. (AP)—The Rev. William Charles Jones wrestles with sin—and other wrestlers. He is pastor of the Nelson Memorial Presbyterian Church. While he never wrestled professionally, he taught wrestling at Hanover College in Indiana and at the University of Kentucky. Every few days the 190-pound preacher goes downtown to Al Haft's second-floor gymnasium for a workout with some of the promoter's professional mat stars. The professional wrestlers treat him just like any other wrestler—except they watch their language a little more.

Hand grenades were used by U. S. Marines who served under John Paul Jones during the Revolutionary War.

Panel Discussion Planned Sunday At First Baptist

The Future of Our Sunday Schools will be the topic of a panel discussion to be held at the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue, Sunday, Nov. 11, at 8 p. m., under the auspices of the Sunday Evening Study Club.

Questions of Sunday school methods and programs in churches will be raised and discussed by a group of Sunday school workers under the chairmanship of Miss Ethel M. Hull, primary department superintendent at the First Baptist Church.

Panel members include Chester A. Baltz, Jr., church school superintendent at the First Presbyterian Church; Kenneth L. Hicok, superintendent at the Fair Street Reformed Church; Mrs. Herbert Fister, teacher at the Old First Reformed Church school; and Charles L. Arnold, superintendent at the host church.

Sunday school teachers and workers of the churches of the city are invited to attend. At the close of the panel discussion, questions may be raised by members of the audience, relating to any phase of the church school program.

The planning committee of the Sunday Evening Study Club, which is arranging a series of similar panel programs includes: Harry T. Gumaer, chairman; Miss Alice Hunter, Mrs. Sherwood Lasher, Mrs. Edward Safford and Charles A. Gumaer. The Rev. Donald E. Brown, pastor of the host church, will introduce the panel.

TV Ruling

Columbus, O. (AP) — Here's a break for the kiddies: In divorce cases involving children, the television set goes to the parent who gets custody of the children. That's the way Domestic Relations Judge Clayton W. Rose says he's going to run his court here.

Donations Disclosed By Junior League

At its meeting Monday night at the YWCA when Miss Doris Eldridge, regional director, was a guest, it was learned that the local group voted to donate $200 to the current Benedictine Hospital drive. This is the same amount given by the League to the Kingston Hospital during its drive.

The League also has donated a wheel chair to the Cerebral Palsy Association for use in its treatment center which is opening on the third floor of the Tumor Clinic on Nov. 15. An appeal was made to all members for usable toys and children's furniture to be used at the new center.

In her address, Miss Eldridge told those present that the record series "The Price of Liberty" a dramatization of outstanding historical events in New York state will soon be available to the local schools through the courtesy of the Junior League.

Mrs. Herbert Johnson reported that the exchange under the auspices of the League had just finished the most successful month since its opening. All members were urged to visit the exchange frequently as it is now well stocked with all kinds of winter clothing as well as many novel suggestions for Christmas shoppers.

It was announced during the meeting that the Christmas stockings distributed by the State Charities Aid Society were given to all members present. These will be filled for children in foster homes and should be returned to the county welfare office by Dec. 1.

Mrs. Henry Parker reported that four members of the Junior League have worked steadily for more than a year and a half as volunteers at the Tumor Clinic.

Mrs. Milton Grover of Port Ewen was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Grover has transferred from the Poughkeepsie chapter.

The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. John Kerns and Mrs. James Quinn.

County Club Women Will Be Delegates To Federated Clubs Convention in Elmira

Three delegates from Ulster county will attend the annual convention of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in Hotel Mark Twain, Elmira, Nov. 12 to 15. The delegates are Mrs. William Ochs, president of Sorosis; Miss Alice Scardefield, third district director and member of Twentieth Century Club, and Mrs. Henry Knaust, Ulster county chairman, Saugerties.

Eleven resolutions will be presented to the voting body. One will ask the State Department of Education to re-examine its curricula and lists of recommended textbooks with a view to the avoidance of subversive indoctrinations; another urges the Department of Education to cause the teaching annually in all public schools of the fundamental rules for the proper method of displaying and respecting the flag; another urges support of the bill proposed by Senator Edward Martin of Pennsylvania that the Stars and Stripes when flown with flags of other nations or the flag of the United Nations, be placed above or in a more prominent position than the others.

Other resolutions ask more funds for the Narcotics Bureau of the United States Treasury Department; that records be kept of the proceedings of the New York State Legislature; opposing the Central Arizona project; a review of the Social Security laws and the Social Security fund; limiting the amount of federal income tax; uniform divorce laws and others.

Senator Richard M. Nixon of California will give a "Report from Washington" at the Helmuth Fellowship dinner which will officially open the convention Monday evening, Nov. 12. This dinner is held each year in memory of Mrs. William Tod Helmuth of New York city, founder and third president of the Federation, 1897-1900.

Other prominent speakers who will address the convention include Senator Herbert R. O'Connor of Maryland who will discuss "The Menace of Unrestricted Far Eastern Trade," and Mrs. Dorothy Lewis, coordinator of radio for the United Nations, will tell "The Greatest Story Being Told." There will be forums on state and national economics, programs on gerontology, fine arts, legislation and youth conservation.

Hilarious Audience Learns About 'Good Housekeeping' from KHS Seniors

An audience that filled the auditorium at the Kingston High School last night became hilarious in its response to the opening performance of "Good Housekeeping," a three-act comedy by William McCleery, presented by the Senior Class of 1952 under the direction of Miss Madeleine Tarrant. The entertaining vehicle will continue at the high school tonight and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The action of the play occurs in the living room of the home of a university president, somewhere west of the Missouri river and deals with amusing and complicated incidents in the life of a small town college president whose wife is not only interested in politics for herself but also has high aspirations for her husband, a former newspaperman.

The sympathetic understanding each member of the cast displayed for the role portrayed showed an excellent choice on the part of the director in casting the comedy.

Evelyn Zelickman played the role of Marion Burnett, the college president's wife. Her characterization of the quiet, charming wife and mother who never raises her voice but who knows exactly what is good for each and every member of the household was splendid. An avid student of psychoanalysis, she is of the opinion she knows "all" about the unspoken desires, reactions and ambitions of her two daughters and husband, and in her unobtrusive manner goes about helping them realize their hidden aspirations.

The vigorous Charles Burnett competently portrayed by Norman Foster was a perfect foil for his calm, scheming wife. His performance was heartily applauded by his appreciative audience.

Nancy Brant and Geraldine Billings turned in fine jobs as the daughters. Nancy Brant, as Christine, who is engaged to the energetic and aggressive reporter, aptly played by Thomas Brower, was quite at home in her characterization of the annoyed young woman whose fiance always "checks her at the door" in her own words, when they attend parties always having to do with his "unearthing a story."

Geraldine Billings was delightfully natural as she played the part of the sensitive teenage daughter, Katy. Her antics pleased the audience immeasurably. In the role of her beau, Nat Kahn, Nick Brown was most refreshing.

As the boss politician, Douglass Buddenhagen played a robust Jim O'Neal. The part of the arbitrary maid, Mrs. Benson, was well played by Ann Phelan.

The entire production was efficiently handled. An interesting musical program was presented before the performance and during the intermissions by the Kingston High School orchestra under the direction of Harry Berchin. The attractive young ushers attired in lovely pastel gowns contributed to the success of the evening as did the numerous "behind the scenes" committees, particularly those responsible for the attractive living room set in which the action of the play takes place.

During the second intermission Edmund "Bucky" Bowers, president, on behalf of the senior class, expressed his appreciation to all and presented a gift to their director, Miss Tarrant.

Desirable seats are still available for the performances to be given tonight and tomorrow night.

Good Taste Today

MIGHT HAVE ASKED "MAY WE"

A reader writes: "A girl friend and I would appreciate it very much if you would give us your opinion of the following situation: We live in the suburbs but work in the city and until recently have been commuting by train. About a month ago a neighbor who drives to the city every morning offered to stop by for us. We were, of course, delighted to accept. All went well until last week when we got a flat tire. My friend and I got out of the car to wait while he changed the tire. As we were standing there, a man who works in my office drove by and seeing us in distress stopped and offered to drive us into the city. We accepted as we did not want to be late for work. The next day we waited for this first man to pick us up as usual but he never showed up and we haven't seen him since. We are now wondering if we were wrong in leaving him and whether we should have waited even though it meant being late. We thought that since we couldn't be of any help in changing the tire, it was quite all right to go ahead. If we are wrong, we would like to apologize."

The impression I get from your description is one of a very unsympathetic attitude toward your host. Apparently your leaving him with never so much as a word of regret could scarcely have encouraged his impulse to help you further.

Fiance Should Be Absent

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever proper for the bride's fiance to be present at a shower? Recently I went to a bridal shower and the groom-to-be was present the entire evening. He even sat beside his fiancee and helped unwarp the presents. I have been to many showers but this is the first time I have ever seen this. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: It sounds very strange to me! In fact, this is the first time I have ever heard of the presence of the groom-to-be at a bridal shower.

Cutting Wedding Cake

Dear Mrs. Post: When cutting a three-tiered wedding cake, is the bottom tier cut first or the top one?

Answer: The projecting bottom tier is cut first. After this the small top layer surmounted by figures is set aside for the bride and groom to keep, and the rest of the cake cut into slices.

Showers can be friendly and fun and it is not necessary to spend great sums of money, explains Mrs. Post in her leaflet E-13, "Showers." There are showers for the new home, the baby, and the bride. Antiques Acquired for State DAR Room

Members of the Junior Group of Wiltwyck Chapter, DAR, assisted in raising funds to purchase a pair of old Sheffield silver candlesticks and a black lacquer writing case, approximately 100 years old, trimmed with gold and mother of pearl, and equipped with a pen tray, gold topped ink bottle and another bottle with a tiny brush which was used to seal letters. These items have been presented for use in the State DAR room in the Ten Broeck Mansion, Albany.

Junior Group Wiltwyck Chapter Commended For Outstanding Effort at Conference

Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm, delegate to the recent New York state DAR conference, told members of the Junior Group of Wiltwyck chapter at their meeting this week, that the local chapter had been commended on two occasions during the conference.

The Wiltwyck Juniors were pleased to learn that recognition had been given them for their efforts to raise funds during the past year to purchase the antiques which will be used in the state DAR room in Albany.

Awards Made

They were also pleased to hear that a poem written by four members of Christopher Snyder Junior American Citizens Club of Cottekill, had been awarded a prize by the State JAC chairman, and that a prize was also given to Arthur DePuy, a member of the Christopher Snyder Club, for his entry in the poster contest. Mrs. Dumm, who had received the prizes at the state conference on behalf of the local chapter, presented them to Mrs. Harvey J. Davis, local chairman of the JAC committee and leader of the Cottekill club of 38 members. Junior American Citizens clubs are sponsored in the interest of furthering Americanism by DAR chapters throughout the United States, and last spring members of the Christopher Snyder club were awarded prizes in the poster and poetry contests sponsored by the national society. Mrs. Dumm reported that Walden, with 14 clubs, has the largest number of JAC groups in New York state.

Student Loans

Among other reports given by Mrs. Dumm, she told her listeners that the DAR student loan program is to be expanded to include student nurses and business school students as well as college juniors and seniors, and will be increased to $200 per semester. These loans are repayable, without interest, by the students after completion of their studies.

Plans for 300th Celebration

Mrs. Adam H. Porter, regent, spoke of the plans of Wiltwyck Chapter for participation in Kingston's 300th anniversary celebration. Considerable work in planting tulips and other flowers on the chapter house grounds has already been completed by Mrs. Arthur C. Quimby and her committee, and plans are under way for still further landscaping of the grounds. The junior group voted a contribution toward this project. It was also announced by Mrs. Porter that Wiltwyck Chapter will be hostess to the Hudson Valley DAR Council meeting on June 5, 1952, which is the exact 300th anniversary date, and special plans are being formulated to make the affair an outstanding one.

Mrs. William E. Rylance, guest of the Junior group was introduced by Miss Winifred J. Kimball, program chairman, and played a group of piano selections, including "Romance" by Rubenstein, and Arabesque by Debussy.

Hostesses at the social hour following the meeting were Mrs. Alfred W. Harder, Miss Marion E. Schwenk and Mrs. Harold Smith.

The entertaining vehicle will continue at the high school tonight and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The action of the play occurs in the living room of the home of a university president, somewhere west of the Missouri river and deals with amusing and complicated incidents in the life of a small town college president whose wife is not only interested in politics for herself but also has high aspirations for her husband, a former newspaperman.

The sympathetic understanding each member of the cast displayed for the role portrayed showed an excellent choice on the part of the director in casting the comedy.

Evelyn Zelickman played the role of Marion Burnett, the college president's wife. Her characterization of the quiet, charming wife and mother who never raises her voice but who knows exactly what is good for each and every member of the household was splendid. An avid student of psychoanalysis, she is of the opinion she knows "all" about the unspoken desires, reactions and ambitions of her two daughters and husband, and in her unobtrusive manner goes about helping them realize their hidden aspirations.

The vigorous Charles Burnett competently portrayed by Norman Foster was a perfect foil for his calm, scheming wife. His performance was heartily applauded by his appreciative audience.

Nancy Brant and Geraldine Billings turned in fine jobs as the daughters. Nancy Brant, as Christine, who is engaged to the energetic and aggressive reporter, aptly played by Thomas Brower, was quite at home in her characterization of the annoyed young woman whose fiance always "checks her at the door" in her own words, when they attend parties always having to do with his "unearthing a story."

Geraldine Billings was delightfully natural as she played the part of the sensitive teenage daughter, Katy. Her antics pleased the audience immeasurably. In the role of her beau, Nat Kahn, Nick Brown was most refreshing.

As the boss politician, Douglass Buddenhagen played a robust Jim O'Neal. The part of the arbitrary maid, Mrs. Benson, was well played by Ann Phelan.

The entire production was efficiently handled. An interesting musical program was presented before the performance and during the intermissions by the Kingston High School orchestra under the direction of Harry Berchin. The attractive young ushers attired in lovely pastel gowns contributed to the success of the evening as did the numerous "behind the scenes" committees, particularly those responsible for the attractive living room set in which the action of the play takes place.

During the second intermission Edmund "Bucky" Bowers, president, on behalf of the senior class, expressed his appreciation to all and presented a gift to their director, Miss Tarrant.

Desirable seats are still available for the performances to be given tonight and tomorrow night.

Heavy Import Duties

Singapore (AP)—Some shoe manufacturers who export to Australia say they may soon have to close their factories because of heavy import duties levied on their product which runs higher than that on shipments from Britain.

MIGHT HAVE ASKED "MAY WE"

A reader writes: "A girl friend and I would appreciate it very much if you would give us your opinion of the following situation: We live in the suburbs but work in the city and until recently have been commuting by train. About a month ago a neighbor who drives to the city every morning offered to stop by for us. We were, of course, delighted to accept. All went well until last week when we got a flat tire. My friend and I got out of the car to wait while he changed the tire. As we were standing there, a man who works in my office drove by and seeing us in distress stopped and offered to drive us into the city. We accepted as we did not want to be late for work. The next day we waited for this first man to pick us up as usual but he never showed up and we haven't seen him since. We are now wondering if we were wrong in leaving him and whether we should have waited even though it meant being late. We thought that since we couldn't be of any help in changing the tire, it was quite all right to go ahead. If we are wrong, we would like to apologize."

The impression I get from your description is one of a very unsympathetic attitude toward your host. Apparently your leaving him with never so much as a word of regret could scarcely have encouraged his impulse to help you further.

Fiance Should Be Absent

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever proper for the bride's fiance to be present at a shower? Recently I went to a bridal shower and the groom-to-be was present the entire evening. He even sat beside his fiancee and helped unwarp the presents. I have been to many showers but this is the first time I have ever seen this. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: It sounds very strange to me! In fact, this is the first time I have ever heard of the presence of the groom-to-be at a bridal shower.

Cutting Wedding Cake

Dear Mrs. Post: When cutting a three-tiered wedding cake, is the bottom tier cut first or the top one?

Answer: The projecting bottom tier is cut first. After this the small top layer surmounted by figures is set aside for the bride and groom to keep, and the rest of the cake cut into slices.

Showers can be friendly and fun and it is not necessary to spend great sums of money, explains Mrs. Post in her leaflet E-13, "Showers." There are showers for the new home, the baby, and the bride. Antiques Acquired for State DAR Room

Members of the Junior Group of Wiltwyck Chapter, DAR, assisted in raising funds to purchase a pair of old Sheffield silver candlesticks and a black lacquer writing case, approximately 100 years old, trimmed with gold and mother of pearl, and equipped with a pen tray, gold topped ink bottle and another bottle with a tiny brush which was used to seal letters. These items have been presented for use in the State DAR room in the Ten Broeck Mansion, Albany.

Junior Group Wiltwyck Chapter Commended For Outstanding Effort at Conference

Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm, delegate to the recent New York state DAR conference, told members of the Junior Group of Wiltwyck chapter at their meeting this week, that the local chapter had been commended on two occasions during the conference.

The Wiltwyck Juniors were pleased to learn that recognition had been given them for their efforts to raise funds during the past year to purchase the antiques which will be used in the state DAR room in Albany.

Awards Made

They were also pleased to hear that a poem written by four members of Christopher Snyder Junior American Citizens Club of Cottekill, had been awarded a prize by the State JAC chairman, and that a prize was also given to Arthur DePuy, a member of the Christopher Snyder Club, for his entry in the poster contest. Mrs. Dumm, who had received the prizes at the state conference on behalf of the local chapter, presented them to Mrs. Harvey J. Davis, local chairman of the JAC committee and leader of the Cottekill club of 38 members. Junior American Citizens clubs are sponsored in the interest of furthering Americanism by DAR chapters throughout the United States, and last spring members of the Christopher Snyder club were awarded prizes in the poster and poetry contests sponsored by the national society. Mrs. Dumm reported that Walden, with 14 clubs, has the largest number of JAC groups in New York state.

Student Loans

Among other reports given by Mrs. Dumm, she told her listeners that the DAR student loan program is to be expanded to include student nurses and business school students as well as college juniors and seniors, and will be increased to $200 per semester. These loans are repayable, without interest, by the students after completion of their studies.

Plans for 300th Celebration

Mrs. Adam H. Porter, regent, spoke of the plans of Wiltwyck Chapter for participation in Kingston's 300th anniversary celebration. Considerable work in planting tulips and other flowers on the chapter house grounds has already been completed by Mrs. Arthur C. Quimby and her committee, and plans are under way for still further landscaping of the grounds. The junior group voted a contribution toward this project. It was also announced by Mrs. Porter that Wiltwyck Chapter will be hostess to the Hudson Valley DAR Council meeting on June 5, 1952, which is the exact 300th anniversary date, and special plans are being formulated to make the affair an outstanding one.

Mrs. William E. Rylance, guest of the Junior group was introduced by Miss Winifred J. Kimball, program chairman, and played a group of piano selections, including "Romance" by Rubenstein, and Arabesque by Debussy.

Hostesses at the social hour following the meeting were Mrs. Alfred W. Harder, Miss Marion E. Schwenk and Mrs. Harold Smith.

Works of Bellows And Henri in Show

Woodstock, Nov. 9—That Woodstock was one of the first American art colonies is well known, and there are still many living here now who came in the early days and were in part responsible for the growth of its reputation. Some have become associated with other art centers and others have departed this life in the intervening years. Consequently Woodstockers are not often permitted a glimpse of the work of some of its most famous artists, established as it is in museums, galleries and permanent collections throughout the country. Mollie Higgins Smith in her small gallery, which reopened this fall on the village green, has brought in her new show two of Woodstock's most beloved artists, at one time a living part of the community, to vivid life in the current group exhibition of drawings, etchings and lithographs. One of them, George Bellows did much to lift lithographs out of the commercial into the fine arts field. The other Robert Henri, a painter and teacher of note, was also renowned for his lithographs and drawings.

Woodstock in past years has been one of the lustily rocking cradles of modern art and there is, consequently, a gentle, nostalgic atmosphere in Mrs. Smith's gallery. A visitor may climb the stairs on a gusty November day and step into the serene era existing before two wars and view as well a number of drawings by several of our best contemporary artists. There is a lithograph portrait of Anne Bellows, the artist's oldest daughter, "Anne in the Black Hat," sitting quietly wearing the costume in which she might have walked down a Woodstock street for the first time. In contrast Bellows' waterfront scene is sharp, verile and wonderfully composed.

Visitors might well be somewhat confused at the double signatures appearing on the Bellows' lithographs. Bellows, a generous spirited artist always allowed his printer to sign the drawings as well, and the name of Bolton Brown appears on all the Bellows' works in the exhibition.

Students of Robert Henri have endeavored throughout the years to emulate the artist's free, crisp technique, which is again evident in the drawings included in the show—in a group of picnicers on Monhegan Island, and in the head and figure sketches. But it was Henri himself, however, who advised in his famous book, The Art Spirit, "Don't belong to any school. Don't tie up to any technique."

Another great name, that of an artist once associated with this village, is Leon Kroll. His fluid line and subtle form are to be found in a drawing of a woman reclining easily in a chair.

More familiar, as he is one villages's best-known and most active residents is Eugene Speicher. Included is his fine portrait drawing of a man's head, unique in that Speicher's paintings are most frequently seen here and gallery visitors are not often permitted a glimpse of his drawings.

The same is true of Andree Ruellan and John Taylor, who are best-known here as painters. Taylor's "New Town" is refreshing and atmospheric, giving the viewer some hint as to the fine structural qualities of the drawings behind his paintings. Miss Taylor's sensitive pencil figure drawing contains the same gentle perception inherent in her paintings. Included also is her amusing, deftly handled etching entitled "Musicians." In the same group of present-day Woodstockers is Georgina Klitgaard who is represented with a finely drawn landscape, and Yasuo Kuniyoshi who is showing an engaging circus tightrope walker.

Two sketches by the not-so-well known Marjorie Organ, the girl who as a newspaper artist caught the eye of Robert Henri, have great appeal. Henri thought the "young fellow" whose drawings were signed merely Organ, had exceptional talent, and after meeting her was so interested he married her.

Also worthy of note are Louis Bouche's landscape and figure pencil drawings, Richard Lahey's etching "Toledo," and drawing "Burlesque Theatre Box," John Carroll's nudes, Alexander Brook's inviting "Village Corner," and a head and landscape by Henry Lee McFee.

Not a regular part of the show but also on view is this year's bonus print by Arnold Blanch, of the Woodstock Artists' Association.

The exhibition will remain at the gallery to December 24.

Special Lutheran Services Sunday

Woodstock, Nov. 9—The annual Public Thank Offering Service of the Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church will be held Sunday, Nov. 11, at the church at 7:45 p. m. There will be the following special music by the choirs: "Go and Tell" by Kohlmann and "A Sermon In Shoes" by Harry. The speaker of the evening will be the Rev. W. D. Worman, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church of Guilderland Center. The public is invited to this service.

Craft Classes Are To Start Nov. 13

Woodstock, Nov. 9—As a result of the splendid attendance and the enthusiastic response from the Craftsmen's Conference held in Woodstock Oct. 29, three classes, under the direction of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, are starting immediately. The class in weaving taught by Besse Stowall begins Thursday, Nov. 13, and will meet twice each week—Tuesdays and Thursdays. Thirteen students are already enrolled. Richard Chambers will conduct a class in basic invention, which is a comprehensive course, covering a wide range of crafts. For the class 23 students have enrolled, with classes starting Thursday, Nov. 15, at 7 p. m. The third class under the guidance of Konrad Cramer begins Tuesday, Nov. 13, at 7 p. m., in the field of decorative arts, for which 18 have enrolled.

The registration fee is $2.50 and the only other expense to the students is for the materials used.

Over a hundred responses have been received by the Guild for enrollment in the classes, and as soon as classes are formed applicants will be notified.

Contest Arranged For Book Week

Woodstock, Nov. 9—Mrs. Alice Thompson, Woodstock librarian, has announced that in celebration of Children's Book Week, which begins Monday, Nov. 12, there will be another contest, similar to the one held last year, for the best short poem and the most original story on any subject. School children in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, in both the Woodstock and outlying school districts are eligible. Manuscripts must be submitted before the end of next week.

Both school children and their parents have been invited as well as all others interested are invited to inspect the new books which have been added to the library.

UC Children's Committee Meets

The Ulster County Children's Committee met at the Welfare Department last Friday with Mrs. Virgil DeWitt, presiding, and discussed their annual Christmas program.

Reports were given by the delegates who attended the recent State Charities Aid Regional conference in Albany. The morning session at the conference was divided into two sections. Mrs. Randolph Winston, Saugerties, Mrs. Virgil DeWitt and Mrs. Robert Parks of New Paltz, and Miss Eleanor Easton and Mrs. Everett Fessenden, this city; attended the session relating to Problems of Foster Parents and Children. The other session, relating to Problems of the Aging was attended by Miss Florence Cordts, this city, and Mrs. Albert E. Millikin of the town of Ulster.

It was learned that during the joint afternoon session of the conference, representatives of the State Charities Aid offered constructive criticisms and possible solutions to many problems in connection with welfare work. Various country committees, including Ulster, were commended for the progress shown in this area.

Concrete Pouring To Be Resumed

The pouring of concrete on the west side of the Broadway underpass will be resumed Monday "if the weather is right," a spokesman for Lipsett Inc., contractor on the Broadway crossing project said today.

Recent rains held up the pavement work on the uptown side of the crossing project after concrete had been poured for some distance on the two outside lanes.

It was reported last month that the underpass will be opened for the winter whether concrete work is completed. Traffic will be run over a roadbed of stone, if the contractor is forced to quit pouring of concrete, the construction superintendent said.

Contest Arranged For Book Week

Woodstock, Nov. 9—Mrs. Alice Thompson, Woodstock librarian, has announced that in celebration of Children's Book Week, which begins Monday, Nov. 12, there will be another contest, similar to the one held last year, for the best short poem and the most original story on any subject. School children in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, in both the Woodstock and outlying school districts are eligible. Manuscripts must be submitted before the end of next week.

Both school children and their parents have been invited as well as all others interested are invited to inspect the new books which have been added to the library.

UC Children's Committee Meets

The Ulster County Children's Committee met at the Welfare Department last Friday with Mrs. Virgil DeWitt, presiding, and discussed their annual Christmas program.

Reports were given by the delegates who attended the recent State Charities Aid Regional conference in Albany. The morning session at the conference was divided into two sections. Mrs. Randolph Winston, Saugerties, Mrs. Virgil DeWitt and Mrs. Robert Parks of New Paltz, and Miss Eleanor Easton and Mrs. Everett Fessenden, this city; attended the session relating to Problems of Foster Parents and Children. The other session, relating to Problems of the Aging was attended by Miss Florence Cordts, this city, and Mrs. Albert E. Millikin of the town of Ulster.

It was learned that during the joint afternoon session of the conference, representatives of the State Charities Aid offered constructive criticisms and possible solutions to many problems in connection with welfare work. Various country committees, including Ulster, were commended for the progress shown in this area.

Concrete Pouring To Be Resumed

The pouring of concrete on the west side of the Broadway underpass will be resumed Monday "if the weather is right," a spokesman for Lipsett Inc., contractor on the Broadway crossing project said today.

Recent rains held up the pavement work on the uptown side of the crossing project after concrete had been poured for some distance on the two outside lanes.

It was reported last month that the underpass will be opened for the winter whether concrete work is completed. Traffic will be run over a roadbed of stone, if the contractor is forced to quit pouring of concrete, the construction superintendent said.

The death rate in Denmark has dropped nearly 40 per cent during the last 15 years.

Woodstock Painters Represented in Exhibit

New York, Nov. 9 (Special)—Ten painters from Woodstock are among a group of American artists whose works are being shown, by the Whitney Museum of American Art here. They are: Arnold Blanch, Edward Chavez, Rollin Crampton, Wendell Jones, Doris Lee, Howard Mandel, Fletcher Martin, Edward Millman, William Pachner and John Taylor.

The show—the 1951 annual exhibition of contemporary American painting—comprises representative work by 150 of the nation's leading modern artists. All of them are in the annual by invitation. The collection, which will be on public view to January 6th, presents all shades, degrees and schools of current painting.

The Woodstock artists' paintings are: "Four Ships," by Blanch; "Procession," by Chavez; "No. 1," by Crampton; "The Bridge," by Jones; "Night Bathing," by Lee; "In Search," by Mandel; "Toy Birds," by Martin; "Sea Bones," by Millman; "Mother and Child," by Pachner, and "The Levee No. 2," by Taylor.

Harold Broskie Raps 703 Triple With 255-212-236 in Major Loop

Harold Broskie, an old hand at "700" triples, who has been hibernating from the big score department so far this bowling season, exploded with a "703" blast in the Ferraro Major League.

Meanwhile, the Central Rec Women's brilliant Jennie Spada, toppled 178-209-158-545.

Broskie shared honors with George "Curly" Flemings in another torrid scoring session in the major league. While Broskie, the timepiece of the bowling lanes, was knocking off solos of 255, 212 and 236, Flemings accounted for one of the top singles of the season with 277.

There were 14 triples of "600" or better and one standout team match between Jones Dairy and Miron Lumber. The Lumberjacks won a split decision with scores of 1032-1034-1010-3076, against Joneses' 984-992-1024.

Dasher Rolls 581

Other league leaders included Ed Dasher with 207-167-207-581 in the Commercial; Bill Pieper, 152-169-217-542, Nocando; Lou Navara, 129-185-181-495, Jacobson Mixed; Bea Arlensky, 163-159-158-480, Sisterhood; Bill Hornbeck, 180-169-173-522, Y Mercantile National; Arthur Carr, 212-176-144-532, Y Federation American.

The first five men in the Ferraro Major accounted for fifteen scores of "200" or better—exactly par for the course. Runnerup Harry Smith posted 220-208-245-673 and Elwood Robinson earned show spot with 233-200-229-662. Frank Leskie shot 215-226-219-660 and Bill Kuehn rounded out the "Big Five" with 213-213-225-651.

George Flemings managed 630 with his big 277. Randy Kelder posted 204-224-615; Hank Kemmerer 227-226-613; Tommy Amato 237-201-610; Larry Weishaupt 200-216-610; George Robinson 237-610; Johnny Ferraro 211-217-607; Frank Spada 231-235-605 (after a 139 opener); Bobby Jones 247-598; Buster Ferraro 219-588; George Shufeldt 226-584; Charlie Manfro 584; Ed Murphy 210-575; E. Vogel 217-571; Ken Joseph 212-201-570.

Eileen Hutton was runnerup to Jennie Spada with 468. Frances Van Buren shot 433; Margie DeWitt 426; Norma Hornbeck 424; Mae McCaffrey 418; Jean Carr 412 and E. Wolfersteig 411.

Grimaldi Raps 563

Runnerup Frank Grimaldi topped 208-563 in the Commercial. Other high scores included George Brown 527; E. Allen 511; Ray Lindhurst 209-506; C. Diffley 494; N. Carl 486 and Craig Plough 480.

Al Studt's 488 was second best in the Jacobson Mixer, with Joe Heidcamp rolling 463; Val Janaczek 433 and E. Hammond 428.

Other top Sisterhood keglerettes were E. Kreppel 475; B. Pekarsky 439; E. Singer 427; E. Naigles 413; Miriam Posner 404; Rosalie Eckdish 402.

Trailing Art Carr in the Federation American were Ralph Post 529; Doug Kennedy 527; R. Waltman 514; Edgar Tymeson 506; Leroy Brown 502.

Jerry Lavelle rolled 503 and B. Tobakman 493 in the Mercantile National. Other high scores were Sam Hayes 488; Clarence Hyde 482 and William Davis 487.

Nocando keglers accounted for a dozen "500" series. Runnerup Bill Thomas shot 538; Stan Colvin 201-533; H. Ferguson 516; George Johnson 512; Charlie Turck 510; Frank Norman and Percy Slover 506; Robert Smith 505; Paul Khederian 205-505; John Frederick and Bill Mohr 500; Herbie Kessman 499.

Baselice Bids For Scranton

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 9 (AP)—The deal for Scranton's Eastern League franchise still was hanging fire today.

It was supposed to be wrapped up yesterday, but all the prospective purchasers did was to look over the property. Then they left town.

Lou Baselice of Mount Vernon, N. Y., said to be the key man of a group interested in buying the Class A farm club from the Boston Red Sox, inspected the stadium yesterday. He was accompanied by several men he said were interested in the deal.

The parent Red Sox and Baselice's group are reported to have agreed on terms. The American League club put up the franchise for sale this fall, apparently because of dwindling attendance.

Baselice would not say whether he planned to move the club to Hazleton, Pa., if he bought it. Another Eastern League club, the two-time champion Wilkes-Barre Indians, will move into Reading's new stadium next spring. The switch was dictated by the parent Cleveland Indians after attendance lagged in Wilkes-Barre during the last two seasons.

RABBIT HUNTING

A SHOTGUN IS BEST FOR RABBITS IN MOST AREAS RATHER THAN A .22 RIFLE BECAUSE OF THE DISTANCE A .22 BULLET CAN RICOCHET UPON STRIKING A STONE, TREE BRANCH OR FROZEN GROUND.

WITHOUT THE USE OF A DOG IT'S BEST TO HUNT THE LEE SIDE OF HILLS, RAVINES OR BRUSHY COVER WHEN A COLD WIND IS BLOWING. IN IDEAL COVER, DON'T PASS UP BRUSH PILES, ETC. WITHOUT GIVING EACH A KICK AND TROMPING. RABBITS INVARIABLY RETURN TO THE SPOT WHERE A HOUND HAS JUMPED THEM AND THE HUNTER WHO REMAINS THERE USUALLY GETS A SHOT.

Eight Teams in New Y League

An eight-team Protestant Church basketball league was organized last night at the Y and team captains voted to play a four round schedule starting on Monday, Nov. 26.

The league will be split in two divisions—the "A" loop for boys 17 years and under; and the "B" for cagers 14 and under.

Games will be played at the Y gymn on Monday and Wednesdays and 5:30 p. m. for the "A" group; and on Saturday afternoons at 4 and 5 p. m. for the "B" division.

The "A" group includes teams from Trinity Lutheran, Trinity Methodist, Redeemer Lutheran and First Presbyterian. Teams in the "B" loop are: St. James, Methodist, Redeemer Lutheran, Trinity Lutheran and Fair Street.

Lou Schafer, Y physical director who will supervise the league, said the players must come from the church they represent and each contestant must have attended Sunday school at least two Sundays each month. No new player can be added to the list until he has attended two consecutive Sundays previous to his first game.

Hanover Shoe Farm Returns to Racing

Harrisburg, Nov. 9 (AP)—Hanover Shoe Farm, largest breed stable in the nation, plans on returning horses to harness racing competition next year. The farm discontinued racing in the late 1930's.

For a starter, Lawrence B. Sheppard, president of the horse-breeding corporation at Hanover, Pa., will enter Tar Heel and Solicitor, champion three-year olds he acquired at record prices yesterday.

Sheppard told a reporter of his plans after paying $125,000 for Tar Heel at the standard-bred horse sale in the Pennsylvania State Farm show building. It was the highest price ever paid at a horse auction.

The Hanover Shoe Farm operator also paid $100,000 for Solicitor. This too topped the previous high of $72,000 paid by J. J. McIntyre, Hollis, Va., for the yearling Imperial Hanover in 1949.

The only other harness horse in history ever to draw $125,000 was Arion, in a private purchase concluded in 1891 by J. Malcolm Forbes of Milton, Mass. The week-long show ends today.

Middlecoff Leads N&S Golf by Stroke

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 9 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis, Tenn., was top man by one stroke going into today's third round of the North and South golf tournament.

Middlecoff, the 1949 U. S. Open champion who six years ago became the only amateur in the tournament's 49-year history to finish first, came up with his second one-under par 71 yesterday for a 142 and a stroke edge over three rivals—Dick Chapman, the British amateur champion from Pinehurst; Jimmy Adams, Scotch member of the British Ryder Cup team, and Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C., professional.

Tied at 145 were Max Faulkner, British Open champion; Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill.; Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., and amateur William C. Campbell, Huntington, W. Va.

Famous Golf Architect Guest at City Dinner

Robert Trent Jones, the nation's leading golf architect, was principal speaker at the fourth annual city golf dinner last night at the Hotel Stuyvesant. Guest of honor was Leon Randall of Wiltwyck Golf Club who won the 1951 city crown by defeating George Hughes of Twaalfskill. Jones showed films of several of the world's greatest golf courses, notably St. Andrews and Pine Valley. At the speakers table in the usual order: George Hughes, Ulster county amateur champion; Leon Randall, city champion; Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor and master of ceremonies; Robert Trent Jones, guest speaker; Arthur A. Davis, Wiltwyck president; James A. Dwyer, Twaalfskill president and Dick McCarthy, WKNY sports director. Randall received the city championship trophy and was presented with a watch by members of Wiltwyck. Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., Wiltwyck tournament chairman, made the presentation. (Freeman Photo)

Bowl Aspirants Face Key Games; Southern Cal-Stanford Big One

Midwest Squawks On Football TV

Chicago, Nov. 9 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association doesn't intend to change its television program for college football games Saturday despite the gripes and growls of much of the sports-minded public.

NCAA officials obviously are smarting under criticism by thousands of football fans, sportswriters and even legislators. They issued a special explanatory statement last night, over the signature of Secretary-Treasurer Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson.

The statement ruled out any change this Saturday, or any other Saturday, in the experimental program set up for this fall. A change, said the NCAA, would jeopardize the entire project.

The first widespread complaints about the NCAA's 1951 TV programming appeared this week. On tap for television viewers, under the organization's plan of having special selected games telecast, are the Notre Dame-Michigan State and Navy-Maryland contests.

Notre Dame-Michigan State will be seen in eastern cities, Navy-Maryland in the west. Both games are sellouts. Twelve cities, including Washington, D. C., Chicago and Cleveland, will not sit in on any telecasts at all.

Midwesterners wanted especially to see the Notre Dame game at East Lansing, Mich.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

Pinehurst, N. C.—Cary Middlecoff's 71-71—142 gave him a one stroke lead at the half way mark of the North and South Open tournament.

New York—Army officials said Don Newcombe, Brooklyn pitching ace, will remain at Fort Jay hospital for at least three days pending clarification of his draft status.

N. D.-Michigan State Has Nation's Interest

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Major bowl scouts will have their binoculars trained on half a dozen stadia tomorrow but they'll painstakingly avoid one of the big football battles of the day.

That's the clash at East Lansing, Mich., between unbeaten, untied Michigan State, fifth ranked nationally, and once-defeated Notre Dame, bounding back toward its former heights.

Neither is bowl fodder. As a member of the Big Ten not yet able to partake of the western conference's Rose Bowl gravy, Michigan State is ineligible. The Fighting Irish simply shun post-season activity.

But elsewhere you'll find the pieces gradually falling into place in the giant jig-saw puzzle that makes up the Jan. 1 bowl program.

Feature games in this respect are at Los Angeles, where all-winning Stanford tackles once-defeated Southern California for the almost certain Rose Bowl plum, and at Austin, Tex., where Texas and Baylor vie to keep their post-season aspirations alive.

As of this moment, the major bowl games stack up like this:

Rose Bowl—Illinois (6-0) vs. Stanford (7-0) or Southern California (7-1).

Sugar Bowl—Maryland (6-0) vs. Tennessee (6-0).

Cotton Bowl—Texas Christian (5-2) or Texas (6-1) vs. Tennessee or Georgia Tech (6-0-1).

Orange Bowl—Georgia Tech vs. one of the top southwest teams (TCU, Baylor or Texas).

Big Coast Battle

A crowd of 90,000 is expected to turn out at Los Angeles to witness the battle of the western titans. If Stanford prevails, it must yet take the measure of Oregon State and California for a perfect league mark. Southern Cal, whose only blot is a 27-17 beat handed its third stringers by Camp Pendleton, has UCLA and Notre Dame remaining.

Illinois, ranked second behind Tennessee nationally, can wrap up the other Rose Bowl berth by conquering Iowa this week and then subduing Ohio State and Northwestern. It's a considerable order but Illinois has proved itself a considerable football team.

The southwest, which provides the host team in the Cotton Bowl, is in its usual stew, with no team dominant. TCU leads the league with a perfect record and after a rest this week takes on Texas, Rice and SMU in that order.

That puts a lot of significance on the game tomorrow between Texas and Baylor at Austin. The Longhorns, beaten only by Arkansas, are a slight favorite over the Baylor Bears, tied by Texas A&M and beaten last week by Texas Christian.

Tennessee Breezes

The other bowl aspirants have a fairly easy week of it. Top-ranked Tennessee is a strong choice over Washington & Lee at Knoxville and Maryland, No. 3, is favored to add to the woes of winless, downtrodden Navy at Baltimore.

Georgia Tech, tied by Duke last week, entertains Virginia Military Institute, no pushover but figured no match for the fast, offensive-minded engineers.

Princeton and its tailback wizard, Dick Kazmaier, are expected to have a breeze at Harvard and extend football's longest current winning streak to 20 games. The Tigers are fourth ranked nationally.

Wisconsin, still in the running for western conference and Rose Bowl honors in case Illinois should stub a toe, risks its No. 9 national ranking against Pennsylvania in one of the top intersectional frays.

Bucknell at Colgate, Detroit at Villanova, Dartmouth at Columbia, Marquette at Holy Cross, Michigan at Cornell, NYU at Temple, Ohio State at Pittsburgh, Syracuse at Penn State, Rutgers at Brown, the Citadel at Army, South Carolina at West Virginia.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Tar Heel and Solicitor, champion three-year old pacers this year, were auctioned to Lawrence Sheppard's Hanover Shoe Farms for record highs of $125,000 and $100,000, respectively.

Thorpe III

Philadelphia, Nov. 9 (AP)—Jim Thorpe, 63-year-old Indian athlete termed America's greatest of the last 50 years, undergoes a delicate operation today for what a hospital spokesman described as a form of skin cancer. Thorpe has been appearing at a Philadelphia cafe heading an all-Indian song and dance troupe. He entered Lankenau Hospital several days ago.

Jack Pierce is a Man who Cares

His tie, a distinctive design in beautiful silk, is a Countess Mara.

His whiskey is Carstairs, whose superb quality is preferred by Men who Care for better whiskey. He finds Carstairs tastes extra-smooth, extra-mellow and costs less than other fine whiskies.

Jerry Lavelle rolled 503 and B. Tobakman 493 in the Mercantile National. Other high scores were Sam Hayes 488; Clarence Hyde 482 and William Davis 487.

Nocando keglers accounted for a dozen "500" series. Runnerup Bill Thomas shot 538; Stan Colvin 201-533; H. Ferguson 516; George Johnson 512; Charlie Turck 510; Frank Norman and Percy Slover 506; Robert Smith 505; Paul Khederian 205-505; John Frederick and Bill Mohr 500; Herbie Kessman 499.

Barbers Union Aids Tourney

Members of Local 534 of the Barber's Union voted this week to pledge $50 to the 1952 New York State championship tournament fund.

The Barbers Union is the first local group to make an outright cash donation in support of the tenpin promotion that is expected to bring 10,000 bowlers to Kingston in the spring of 1952. The announcement was made by President Michael Amato.

RABBIT HUNTING

A SHOTGUN IS BEST FOR RABBITS IN MOST AREAS RATHER THAN A .22 RIFLE BECAUSE OF THE DISTANCE A .22 BULLET CAN RICOCHET UPON STRIKING A STONE, TREE BRANCH OR FROZEN GROUND.

WITHOUT THE USE OF A DOG IT'S BEST TO HUNT THE LEE SIDE OF HILLS, RAVINES OR BRUSHY COVER WHEN A COLD WIND IS BLOWING. IN IDEAL COVER, DON'T PASS UP BRUSH PILES, ETC. WITHOUT GIVING EACH A KICK AND TROMPING. RABBITS INVARIABLY RETURN TO THE SPOT WHERE A HOUND HAS JUMPED THEM AND THE HUNTER WHO REMAINS THERE USUALLY GETS A SHOT.

Baselice Bids For Scranton

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 9 (AP)—The deal for Scranton's Eastern League franchise still was hanging fire today.

It was supposed to be wrapped up yesterday, but all the prospective purchasers did was to look over the property. Then they left town.

Lou Baselice of Mount Vernon, N. Y., said to be the key man of a group interested in buying the Class A farm club from the Boston Red Sox, inspected the stadium yesterday. He was accompanied by several men he said were interested in the deal.

The parent Red Sox and Baselice's group are reported to have agreed on terms. The American League club put up the franchise for sale this fall, apparently because of dwindling attendance.

Baselice would not say whether he planned to move the club to Hazleton, Pa., if he bought it. Another Eastern League club, the two-time champion Wilkes-Barre Indians, will move into Reading's new stadium next spring. The switch was dictated by the parent Cleveland Indians after attendance lagged in Wilkes-Barre during the last two seasons.

Eight Teams in New Y League

An eight-team Protestant Church basketball league was organized last night at the Y and team captains voted to play a four round schedule starting on Monday, Nov. 26.

The league will be split in two divisions—the "A" loop for boys 17 years and under; and the "B" for cagers 14 and under.

Games will be played at the Y gymn on Monday and Wednesdays and 5:30 p. m. for the "A" group; and on Saturday afternoons at 4 and 5 p. m. for the "B" division.

The "A" group includes teams from Trinity Lutheran, Trinity Methodist, Redeemer Lutheran and First Presbyterian. Teams in the "B" loop are: St. James, Methodist, Redeemer Lutheran, Trinity Lutheran and Fair Street.

Lou Schafer, Y physical director who will supervise the league, said the players must come from the church they represent and each contestant must have attended Sunday school at least two Sundays each month. No new player can be added to the list until he has attended two consecutive Sundays previous to his first game.

Hanover Shoe Farm Returns to Racing

Harrisburg, Nov. 9 (AP)—Hanover Shoe Farm, largest breed stable in the nation, plans on returning horses to harness racing competition next year. The farm discontinued racing in the late 1930's.

For a starter, Lawrence B. Sheppard, president of the horse-breeding corporation at Hanover, Pa., will enter Tar Heel and Solicitor, champion three-year olds he acquired at record prices yesterday.

Sheppard told a reporter of his plans after paying $125,000 for Tar Heel at the standard-bred horse sale in the Pennsylvania State Farm show building. It was the highest price ever paid at a horse auction.

The Hanover Shoe Farm operator also paid $100,000 for Solicitor. This too topped the previous high of $72,000 paid by J. J. McIntyre, Hollis, Va., for the yearling Imperial Hanover in 1949.

The only other harness horse in history ever to draw $125,000 was Arion, in a private purchase concluded in 1891 by J. Malcolm Forbes of Milton, Mass. The week-long show ends today.

Middlecoff Leads N&S Golf by Stroke

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 9 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis, Tenn., was top man by one stroke going into today's third round of the North and South golf tournament.

Middlecoff, the 1949 U. S. Open champion who six years ago became the only amateur in the tournament's 49-year history to finish first, came up with his second one-under par 71 yesterday for a 142 and a stroke edge over three rivals—Dick Chapman, the British amateur champion from Pinehurst; Jimmy Adams, Scotch member of the British Ryder Cup team, and Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C., professional.

Tied at 145 were Max Faulkner, British Open champion; Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill.; Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., and amateur William C. Campbell, Huntington, W. Va.

Famous Golf Architect Guest at City Dinner

Robert Trent Jones, the nation's leading golf architect, was principal speaker at the fourth annual city golf dinner last night at the Hotel Stuyvesant. Guest of honor was Leon Randall of Wiltwyck Golf Club who won the 1951 city crown by defeating George Hughes of Twaalfskill. Jones showed films of several of the world's greatest golf courses, notably St. Andrews and Pine Valley. At the speakers table in the usual order: George Hughes, Ulster county amateur champion; Leon Randall, city champion; Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor and master of ceremonies; Robert Trent Jones, guest speaker; Arthur A. Davis, Wiltwyck president; James A. Dwyer, Twaalfskill president and Dick McCarthy, WKNY sports director. Randall received the city championship trophy and was presented with a watch by members of Wiltwyck. Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., Wiltwyck tournament chairman, made the presentation. (Freeman Photo)

Bowl Aspirants Face Key Games; Southern Cal-Stanford Big One

Midwest Squawks On Football TV

Chicago, Nov. 9 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association doesn't intend to change its television program for college football games Saturday despite the gripes and growls of much of the sports-minded public.

NCAA officials obviously are smarting under criticism by thousands of football fans, sportswriters and even legislators. They issued a special explanatory statement last night, over the signature of Secretary-Treasurer Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson.

The statement ruled out any change this Saturday, or any other Saturday, in the experimental program set up for this fall. A change, said the NCAA, would jeopardize the entire project.

The first widespread complaints about the NCAA's 1951 TV programming appeared this week. On tap for television viewers, under the organization's plan of having special selected games telecast, are the Notre Dame-Michigan State and Navy-Maryland contests.

Notre Dame-Michigan State will be seen in eastern cities, Navy-Maryland in the west. Both games are sellouts. Twelve cities, including Washington, D. C., Chicago and Cleveland, will not sit in on any telecasts at all.

Midwesterners wanted especially to see the Notre Dame game at East Lansing, Mich.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

Pinehurst, N. C.—Cary Middlecoff's 71-71—142 gave him a one stroke lead at the half way mark of the North and South Open tournament.

New York—Army officials said Don Newcombe, Brooklyn pitching ace, will remain at Fort Jay hospital for at least three days pending clarification of his draft status.

N. D.-Michigan State Has Nation's Interest

New York, Nov. 9 (AP)—Major bowl scouts will have their binoculars trained on half a dozen stadia tomorrow but they'll painstakingly avoid one of the big football battles of the day.

That's the clash at East Lansing, Mich., between unbeaten, untied Michigan State, fifth ranked nationally, and once-defeated Notre Dame, bounding back toward its former heights.

Neither is bowl fodder. As a member of the Big Ten not yet able to partake of the western conference's Rose Bowl gravy, Michigan State is ineligible. The Fighting Irish simply shun post-season activity.

But elsewhere you'll find the pieces gradually falling into place in the giant jig-saw puzzle that makes up the Jan. 1 bowl program.

Feature games in this respect are at Los Angeles, where all-winning Stanford tackles once-defeated Southern California for the almost certain Rose Bowl plum, and at Austin, Tex., where Texas and Baylor vie to keep their post-season aspirations alive.

As of this moment, the major bowl games stack up like this:

Rose Bowl—Illinois (6-0) vs. Stanford (7-0) or Southern California (7-1).

Sugar Bowl — Maryland (6-0) vs. Tennessee (6-0).

Cotton Bowl—Texas Christian (5-2) or Texas (6-1) vs. Tennessee or Georgia Tech (6-0-1).

Orange Bowl—Georgia Tech vs. one of the top southwest teams (TCU, Baylor or Texas).

Big Coast Battle

A crowd of 90,000 is expected to turn out at Los Angeles to witness the battle of the western titans. If Stanford prevails, it must yet take the measure of Oregon State and California for a perfect league mark. Southern Cal, whose only blot is a 27-17 beat handed its third stringers by Camp Pendleton, has UCLA and Notre Dame remaining.

Illinois, ranked second behind Tennessee nationally, can wrap up the other Rose Bowl berth by conquering Iowa this week and then subduing Ohio State and Northwestern. That's a considerable order but Illinois has proved itself a considerable football team.

The southwest, which provides the host team in the Cotton Bowl, is in its usual stew, with no team dominant. TCU leads the league with a perfect record and after a rest this week takes on Texas, Rice and SMU in that order.

That puts a lot of significance on the game tomorrow between Texas and Baylor at Austin. The Longhorns, beaten only by Arkansas, are a slight favorite over the Baylor Bears, tied by Texas A&M and beaten last week by Texas Christian.

Tennessee Breezes

The other bowl aspirants have a fairly easy week of it. Top-ranked Tennessee is a strong choice over Washington & Lee at Knoxville and Maryland, No. 3, is favored to add to the woes of winless, downtrodden Navy at Baltimore.

Georgia Tech, tied by Duke last week, entertains Virginia Military Institute, no pushover but figured no match for the fast, offensive-minded engineers.

Princeton and its tailback wizard, Dick Kazmaier, are expected to have a breeze at Harvard and extend football's longest current winning streak to 20 games. The Tigers are fourth ranked nationally.

Wisconsin, still in the running for western conference and Rose Bowl honors in case Illinois should stub a toe, risks its No. 9 national ranking against Pennsylvania in one of the top intersectional frays.

Bucknell at Colgate, Detroit at Villanova; Dartmouth at Columbia, Marquette at Holy Cross, Michigan at Cornell, NYU at Temple, Ohio State at Pittsburgh, Syracuse at Penn State, Rutgers at Brown, the Citadel at Army, South Carolina at West Virginia.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Tar Heel and Solicitor, champion three-year old pacers this year, were auctioned to Lawrence Sheppard's Hanover Shoe Farms for record highs of $125,000 and $100,000, respectively.

Thorpe III

Philadelphia, Nov. 9 (AP)—Jim Thorpe, 63-year-old Indian athlete termed America's greatest of the last 50 years, undergoes a delicate operation today for what a hospital spokesman described as a form of skin cancer. Thorpe has been appearing at a Philadelphia cafe heading an all-Indian song and dance troupe. He entered Lankenau Hospital several days ago.

Jack Pierce is a Man who Cares

Many things show that Jack is a man who cares for better things:

His suit, a luxurious cashmere, is tailored by G.G.G. Clothes, "architects of men's clothing since 1895."

His tie, a distinctive design in beautiful silk, is a Countess Mara.

His whiskey is Carstairs, whose superb quality is preferred by Men who Care for better whiskey. He finds Carstairs tastes extra-smooth, extra-mellow and costs less than other fine whiskies.

His suggestion to you is to try Carstairs yourself. You'll find it a better drink at a better price—so ask for it at bars and package stores today!

The name Jack Pierce is not that of a specific person, but is rather a type—the Man who Cares.

Kingston-Port Game Is Rated Tossup

NFA Favored Over Poughkeepsie Blues

The final phase of the 1951 DUSO football campaign gets under way on two fronts Saturday—in Port Jervis where the Red and Black decides Kingston's future in the pennant scramble and in Newburgh where Coach Sam Kalloch's Poughkeepsie Blues get a chance to nail down a championship in their first year of return to the conference.

All squads are reported in top physical condition and two titanic battles are promised, with Newburgh rated the choice over Poughkeepsie and the Kingston-Port Jervis contest strictly a toss-up, take your pick.

There are so many "ifs" and possible combinations in the final DUSO standings that it is a waste of time and sheer folly trying to list them all.

Suffice to say that Coach Bill Burke and the Maroon followers realize the unenviable position of the local forces. They must defeat Port Jervis, a traditionally stubborn opponent on Glenette Field and then take the Turkey Day traditional from Newburgh. This combination would assure them of nothing worse than a tie for the championship . . . if, and it's a big one, Poughkeepsie doesn't beat Newburgh on Saturday.

Blues Can Do It

If Kalloch's Blues achieve the unexpected and knock off the Goldbacks the 1951 pennant is theirs and the remainder of the season is reduced to the two Thanksgiving Day traditionals involving Kingston, Newburgh, Middletown and Port Jervis.

On the basis of pre-game performances, the Kingston-Port Jervis contest shapes up as a low-scoring battle. Most of the action is expected on the ground, although the Jim Ferraro-Charlie Tiano-Harry Craft forward passing combination cannot be discounted as a tried and tested weapon in the Kingston arsenal.

Port Jervis had a good running squad that will test the Kingston line. Maroon supporters are also hopeful that Gene Massa, Al Carpino and company will continue the fine running attack they flashed against Oneonta.

Anyway you look at it, that football outing in Port Jervis tomorrow will be no tea party.

Boys Shoot Shark

Corner Brook, Nfld. (AP)—Harold Heath and Albert Layden went hunting for rabbits but came back with a 6-foot ground shark. The boys were pushing their boat off to return when they spotted the shark's fin, and Heath killed it with his rifle.

Expect Record Crowd For Little Leaguers

Mel Allen, Holmes Are Guest Speakers

Early ticket reservations for the annual Little League dinner on Tuesday, Nov. 13, at the high school gym indicate an attendance of better than 400, President Bob Umpleby of the Kingston Athletic Association, said today.

The banquet will feature Mel Allen, voice of the New York Yankees, and Tommy Holmes, Boston Braves manager, as principal speakers.

Umpleby reported that Carl E. Stotz, national commissioner of Little League, will not be able to attend because of a Little League promotional trip through Tennessee and Alabama.

Members of the four teams making up the 1951 Little League in Kingston—the Yankees, Giants, Red Sox and Dodgers—will be guests of KAA.

"This will be a family type audience," Umpleby said, "with a large percentage of the parents and relatives of the youngsters in attendance."

Various team and individual awards will be made at the banquet. The KAA president is also expected to announce the name of a third prominent speaker.

The attendance is expected to set a new record for KAA functions, the previous high being a 357 turnout to hear Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame.

Open to Public

The Little League dinner is open to the public. Ticket reservations can be made through President Bob Umpleby at Stuyvesant Motors.

The return of Mel Allen to Kingston will be, of course, the highlight of the program, particularly in view of the fact that the Yankees won the pennant in the Little League.

Allen's name is a byword in sports broadcasting and the Alabama born barrister who went on to win fame in the broadcasting field is an able, humorous and hard hitting public speaker.

"We feel very fortunate in being able to get Mel to come to Kingston," Umpleby said, "and we know he'll have a real sock message for the kids."

The year 1950 found the famous "how about that!" man established as the absolute tops in his profession. He was awarded the Radio-Television Academy of Arts and Sciences "Michael", which is equivalent to the movies "Oscar."

Other national awards for Allen were the Radio Daily's annual prize as the No. 1 sports announcer of the nation; the Sporting News prize for the fifth consecutive year as the best baseball announcer in the American League; and Look magazine's TV award for excellence in sports broadcasting.

Tommy Holmes, the Brooklyn-born Boston Brave manager who made a couple of appearances as a Brave player, is also rated a top-notch speaker with particular appeal to major league fans in the audience.

NPA Says It May

ects of a military or defense-supporting nature.

In making allotments of steel, copper and aluminum for the office buildings, banks, stores, churches, service stations and other structures approved, NPA said it provided only 15 per cent of the steel requested, 3.6 per cent of the copper, and none of the aluminum.

A total of 3,834 applications was filed. Of these, 2,419 were denied. Another 907 proved to be exempt from control because the amount of materials needed did not exceed the limits fixed by NPA building regulations.

Of the altered price regulations for manufacturers, Price Director Michael F. DiSalle said yesterday the changes were necessitated by the Capehart amendment to the economics controls law. This requires that price ceilings reflect nearly all cost gains that occurred from the outbreak of the Korean war to last July 26.

This is the amendment which President Truman denounced as "an economic boobytrap" and which Senator Capehart (R.-Ind.) and other backers upheld as simple fairness.

Manufacturers affected by the regulations include producers of a wide variety of things, such as processed foods, furniture, household appliances, farm machinery, chemicals, hardware, tools and rubber goods.

DiSalle said the revisions "undoubtedly will result in some increases in manufacturers' ceilings and permit a generally higher level of prices."

At the same time, DiSalle said there may be some price rollbacks for manufacturers who raised prices faster than costs after the Korean outbreak, and in fields where materials costs may have declined since the general price freeze last Jan. 26.

OPS said the current revisions are the first of a series to be issued within the next few days implementing the Capehart amendment requirements. Among these is a revision to the automobile pricing regulation, described as likely to mean higher prices for passenger cars.

Times Says . . .

reply was: 'You can't join a party just to run for office. What reason have you to think I have ever been a Democrat?'"

The story said Eisenhower told about the proposition to a friend on his recent visit to this country, with the remark:

"You know I have been a Republican all my life and that my family have always been Republican."

Krock said evidence was growing that President Truman had offered to support Eisenhower in "the culminating point in a major enterprise by important Democrats that seems to have failed."

The writer made his statements in a follow-up to an article published yesterday in which he had said a "thoroughly reliable and informed source" told him Mr. Truman had offered such support.

The President commented: "There's not a word of truth in it."

And, in Europe, aides at Eisenhower's supreme allied headquarters described the original story as "purely fictional."

There was no immediate comment from Mr. Truman or Eisenhower on Krock's second story.

But Krock commented in today's story that his original informant was sticking by his guns.

And the correspondent added that the source was "a northern Democrat" who "has no conceivable motive in giving out misinformation on the subject, and his credentials as one who would know the facts are excellent."

In Kansas City, Senator Taft (R.-Ohio), avowed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said he had great respect for the accuracy of the Times and thus thought "there probably was something" to the story.

But Senator Anderson (D.-N.M.), an old friend of the President and former secretary of agriculture, said he had talked by telephone with Mr. Truman, who convinced him "there wasn't a word of truth in it."

Interviewed on a radio program (MBS' Reporters Roundup), Anderson said the President thought the story might have been a "plant" by "someone wishing to damage Eisenhower."

Replying to a question, Anderson said the story had been "of benefit to the Taft forces."

He said "the sky had begun to cloud up a little for Taft" when Eisenhower supporters became active.

Krock's first article said the general implied rejection of Mr. Truman's offer, but neither specifically accepted nor rejected it.

Kingston-Port Game Is Rated Tossup

NFA Favored Over Poughkeepsie Blues

The final phase of the 1951 DUSO football campaign gets under way on two fronts Saturday—in Port Jervis where the Red and Black decides Kingston's future in the pennant scramble and in Newburgh where Coach Sam Kalloch's Poughkeepsie Blues get a chance to nail down a championship in their first year of return to the conference.

All squads are reported in top physical condition and two titanic battles are promised, with Newburgh rated the choice over Poughkeepsie and the Kingston-Port Jervis contest strictly a toss-up, take your pick.

There are so many "ifs" and possible combinations in the final DUSO standings that it is a waste of time and sheer folly trying to list them all.

Suffice to say that Coach Bill Burke and the Maroon followers realize the unenviable position of the local forces. They must defeat Port Jervis, a traditionally stubborn opponent on Glenette Field and then take the Turkey Day traditional from Newburgh. This combination would assure them of nothing worse than a tie for the championship . . . if, and it's a big one, Poughkeepsie doesn't beat Newburgh on Saturday.

Blues Can Do It

If Kalloch's Blues achieve the unexpected and knock off the Goldbacks the 1951 pennant is theirs and the remainder of the season is reduced to the two Thanksgiving Day traditionals involving Kingston, Newburgh, Middletown and Port Jervis.

On the basis of pre-game performances, the Kingston-Port Jervis contest shapes up as a low-scoring battle. Most of the action is expected on the ground, although the Jim Ferraro-Charlie Tiano-Harry Craft forward passing combination cannot be discounted as a tried and tested weapon in the Kingston arsenal.

Port Jervis had a good running squad that will test the Kingston line. Maroon supporters are also hopeful that Gene Massa, Al Carpino and company will continue the fine running attack they flashed against Oneonta.

Anyway you look at it, that football outing in Port Jervis tomorrow will be no tea party.

Boys Shoot Shark

Corner Brook, Nfld. (AP)—Harold Heath and Albert Layden went hunting for rabbits but came back with a 6-foot ground shark. The boys were pushing their boat off to return when they spotted the shark's fin, and Heath killed it with his rifle.

Expect Record Crowd For Little Leaguers

Mel Allen, Holmes Are Guest Speakers

Early ticket reservations for the annual Little League dinner on Tuesday, Nov. 13, at the high school gym indicate an attendance of better than 400, President Bob Umpleby of the Kingston Athletic Association, said today.

The banquet will feature Mel Allen, voice of the New York Yankees, and Tommy Holmes, Boston Braves manager, as principal speakers.

Umpleby reported that Carl E. Stotz, national commissioner of Little League, will not be able to attend because of a Little League promotional trip through Tennessee and Alabama.

Members of the four teams making up the 1951 Little League in Kingston—the Yankees, Giants, Red Sox and Dodgers—will be guests of KAA.

"This will be a family type audience," Umpleby said, "with a large percentage of the parents and relatives of the youngsters in attendance."

Various team and individual awards will be made at the banquet. The KAA president is also expected to announce the name of a third prominent speaker.

The attendance is expected to set a new record for KAA functions, the previous high being a 357 turnout to hear Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame.

Open to Public

The Little League dinner is open to the public. Ticket reservations can be made through President Bob Umpleby at Stuyvesant Motors.

The return of Mel Allen to Kingston will be, of course, the highlight of the program, particularly in view of the fact that the Yankees won the pennant in the Little League.

Allen's name is a byword in sports broadcasting and the Alabama born barrister who went on to win fame in the broadcasting field is an able, humorous and hard hitting public speaker.

"We feel very fortunate in being able to get Mel to come to Kingston," Umpleby said, "and we know he'll have a real sock message for the kids."

The year 1950 found the famous "how about that!" man established as the absolute tops in his profession. He was awarded the Radio-Television Academy of Arts and Sciences "Michael", which is equivalent to the movies "Oscar."

Other national awards for Allen were the Radio Daily's annual prize as the No. 1 sports announcer of the nation; the Sporting News prize for the fifth consecutive year as the best baseball announcer in the American League; and Look magazine's TV award for excellence in sports broadcasting.

Tommy Holmes, the Brooklyn-born Boston Brave manager who made a couple of appearances as a Brave player, is also rated a top-notch speaker with particular appeal to major league fans in the audience.

NPA Says It May

ects of a military or defense-supporting nature.

In making allotments of steel, copper and aluminum for the office buildings, banks, stores, churches, service stations and other structures approved, NPA said it provided only 15 per cent of the steel requested, 3.6 per cent of the copper, and none of the aluminum.

A total of 3,834 applications was filed. Of these, 2,419 were denied. Another 907 proved to be exempt from control because the amount of materials needed did not exceed the limits fixed by NPA building regulations.

Of the altered price regulations for manufacturers, Price Director Michael F. DiSalle said yesterday the changes were necessitated by the Capehart amendment to the economics controls law. This requires that price ceilings reflect nearly all cost gains that occurred from the outbreak of the Korean war to last July 26.

This is the amendment which President Truman denounced as "an economic boobytrap" and which Senator Capehart (R.-Ind.) and other backers upheld as simple fairness.

Manufacturers affected by the regulations include producers of a wide variety of things, such as processed foods, furniture, household appliances, farm machinery, chemicals, hardware, tools and rubber goods.

DiSalle said the revisions "undoubtedly will result in some increases in manufacturers' ceilings and permit a generally higher level of prices."

At the same time, DiSalle said there may be some price rollbacks for manufacturers who raised prices faster than costs after the Korean outbreak, and in fields where materials costs may have declined since the general price freeze last Jan. 26.

OPS said the current revisions are the first of a series to be issued within the next few days implementing the Capehart amendment requirements. Among these is a revision to the automobile pricing regulation, described as likely to mean higher prices for passenger cars.

Times Says . . .

reply was: 'You can't join a party just to run for office. What reason have you to think I have ever been a Democrat?'"

The story said Eisenhower told about the proposition to a friend on his recent visit to this country, with the remark:

"You know I have been a Republican all my life and that my family have always been Republican."

Krock said evidence was growing that President Truman had offered to support Eisenhower in "the culminating point in a major enterprise by important Democrats that seems to have failed."

The writer made his statements in a follow-up to an article published yesterday in which he had said a "thoroughly reliable and informed source" told him Mr. Truman had offered such support.

The President commented: "There's not a word of truth in it."

And, in Europe, aides at Eisenhower's supreme allied headquarters described the original story as "purely fictional."

There was no immediate comment from Mr. Truman or Eisenhower on Krock's second story.

But Krock commented in today's story that his original informant was sticking by his guns.

And the correspondent added that the source was "a northern Democrat" who "has no conceivable motive in giving out misinformation on the subject, and his credentials as one who would know the facts are excellent."

In Kansas City, Senator Taft (R.-Ohio), avowed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said he had great respect for the accuracy of the Times and thus thought "there probably was something" to the story.

But Senator Anderson (D.-N.M.), an old friend of the President and former secretary of agriculture, said he had talked by telephone with Mr. Truman, who convinced him "there wasn't a word of truth in it."

Interviewed on a radio program (MBS' Reporters Roundup), Anderson said the President thought the story might have been a "plant" by "someone wishing to damage Eisenhower."

Replying to a question, Anderson said the story had been "of benefit to the Taft forces."

He said "the sky had begun to cloud up a little for Taft" when Eisenhower supporters became active.

Krock's first article said the general implied rejection of Mr. Truman's offer, but neither specifically accepted nor rejected it.

There are at least 20,000 known species of fish according to the National Geographic Society.

Awards Approved In Supreme Court

Supreme Court Justice Kenneth A. MacAffer has confirmed the first separate report of Commissioners of Appraisal Bernard A. Culloton, George Kernet and Joseph Heller following an application for confirmation made at the regular special term held in this city on November 2. At that time a motion was made for the court's approval of awards made by the commissioners to property owners as a result of the City of New York reservoir takings. Denis M. Hurley, corporation counsel of New York, by Paul L. Owens, moved for approval. Martin F. Comeau represented the claimants.

Silas Kelly, claimant, $500.

Gerald Cross, claimant, $500.

Harold Dierfelter, claimant, $700.

Vernon H. Gridley, claimant, $500.

David C. Groo, claimant, $500.

John C. Smith, claimant, $500.

Wilson Van Wagenen, claimant, $750.

Carson Eighmey, claimant, $800.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN ELECTRIC RATE SCHEDULE

Rate Schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Electricity issued September 5, 1951, as amended October 22 and October 26, 1951, has been filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York to become effective and supersede rate schedule P.S.C. No. 10—Electricity on November 26, 1951. The new schedule, P.S.C. No. 11—Electricity, includes four service classifications as follows: S.C. No. 1 applicable to service supplied for residential and religious purposes: S.C. No. 2 applicable to service supplied for all purposes except in individual residences; S.C. No. 3 applicable to customers guaranteeing payment for a demand of 75 kilowatts; and S.C. No. 4 applicable to construction of aqueducts in the Town of Neversink.

In S.C. No. 1, the block rate applicable where the demand is not determined is $1.10 gross, $.95 net for the first 12 Kw.h. or less per month; 5.5c gross, 5.3c net per Kw.h. for the next 60 Kw.h. per month; 3.8c gross, 3.7c net per Kw.h. for the next 68 Kw.h. per month; and 2.2¢ gross and net per Kw.h. for all additional usage unless an approved electric storage water heater is installed in which event the charge becomes 1.95c gross and net per Kw.h. for the portion of the usage between 200 and 600 Kw.h. per month. The minimum monthly charge is $1.10 gross, $.95 net. Where the demand is determined the energy charges are the same as the block rate for the first 2,000 Kw.h. per month and $1.75 gross and net per Kw.h. for additional usage; the demand charge is $1.55 gross, $1.50 net per Kw. of the demand in excess of 10 Kw.; a fuel adjustment related to increases in the cost of coal over 8.90 per net ton at the Danskammer Point Steam Electric Generating Plant is applicable to all usage in excess of 2,000 Kw.h. per month; and the bill, exclusive of the fuel adjustment, is limited to the charge under the block rate for the first 2,000 Kw.h. monthly usage plus 3.7c gross and net per Kw.h. of the additional usage. The demand will be determined whenever the consumption has exceeded, or it is estimated will exceed, 4,000 Kw.h. in each of two consecutive bimonthly billing periods.

A customer operating a commercial establishment which is incidental to his residence may purchase service for his combined requirements under S.C. No. 1 if the connected load of the equipment used for commercial purposes does not exceed 1,500 watts.

In S.C. No. 2 the block rate applicable where the demand is not determined is $1.10 gross, $.95 net for the first 12 Kw.h. or less per month; 5.5c gross, 5.3c net per Kw.h. for the next 60 Kw.h. per month; and 3.8c gross, 3.7c net per Kw.h. for additional usage. Where the demand is determined the energy charges are the same as the block rate for the first 1,000 Kw.h. per month; .225c gross, 2.2c net per Kw.h. for the next 9,000 Kw.h. per month; and 1.75c gross and net per Kw.h. for additional usage; the demand charge is $1.55 gross, $1.50 net per Kw. of the demand in excess of 5 Kw.; and the bill, except for minimum charges, is limited to the charge under the block rate for the total usage. A fuel adjustment related to increases in the price of coal over $8.90 per net ton at the Danskammer Point Steam Electric Generating Plant is applicable to all usage in excess of 1,000 Kw.h. per month. The minimum monthly charge is $1.10 gross, $.95 net per month increased by $1.03 gross, $1.00 net per Kw. of measured demand in excess of 1 Kw. when polyphase service is provided. The demand will be determined whenever the consumption has exceeded, or it is estimated will exceed 2,000 Kw.h. in each of two consecutive bimonthly billing periods or 1,000 Kw.h. in each of three consecutive monthly billing periods. Where service supplied under this classification is used as auxiliary, standby or breakdown service the demand, minimum charge, and term of service will be established and the rate applied as specified in Special Provision 2.2 of the classification.

Additional charges are payable where the company furnishes circuits or fixtures for street lighting for whose operation electricity is supplied under this classification.

In S.C. No. 3 the monthly demand charges for primary service are $153.00 gross, $150.00 net for the first 75 Kw. or less of demand and $1.53 gross, $1.50 net per Kw. of additional demand. The energy charges for primary service are 1.785c gross, 1.75c net per Kw.h. for the first 10,000 Kw.h. per month; 1.53c gross, 1.5c net per Kw.h. for the next 15,000 Kw.h. per month; 1.224c gross, 1.2c net per Kw.h. for the next 225,000 Kw.h. per month; and .918c gross, .9c per Kw.h. for additional usage. A fuel adjustment related to increases in the cost of coal over $8.90 per net ton at the Danskammer Point Steam Electric Generating Plant is applicable to all usage under this classification. The minimum charge is the demand charge. Where the measured demand exceeds 300 kilowatts or 350 kilovolt amperes the billing demand will be taken as 85% of the demand in kilovolt amperes but not less than 300 kilowatts. Where service is supplied from a secondary network the bills computed under the above rate are increased by 5%. If a customer's usage is substantially more during off-peak hours the demand charge will be based on the demand during specified on-peak hours plus one-half the additional demand during other hours.

S.C. No. 4 is the same as S.C. No. 4 in the superseded Schedule No. 10—Electricity except that the energy charge for all usage under this classification is 1.0c per Kw.h. in the new schedule.

Chairman

BRUCE SHEAR

Bruce Shear, associate supervisor, bureau of guidance, State Education Department, Albany, will serve as chairman for the two-day guidance workshop to be held at State Teachers College, New Paltz on November 15 and 16.

Shear, formerly director of pupil personnel services for the first supervisory district of Westchester county, is now charged with the promotion and supervision of school guidance programs in the mid-Hudson, metropolitan and Long Island areas.

As conference chairman, Shear brings to the workshop a wide experience in guidance activities. He has served as counselor at Port Washington and guidance director at Cobleskill and Delmar, as well as instructor at Teachers College, Columbia University.

The workshop will bring together school administrators and guidance personnel from Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster counties to discuss the role of guidance in the state-wide program for the readjustment of high school education.

Members of the guidance department, Miss Karl, Miss Kirshenblum, Clifford Miller, who are counselors, and James Tobin, director of guidance, plan to attend the conference. John Martin, principal of Kingston High School, and Harry Gumaer, principal of Myron J. Michael School, also will attend.

Central Operates

P.S.C. instruct the railroad to prepare such a breakdown for inclusion in the record. Examiner Williamson said Stang's request would be taken under advisement.

In his testimony, Hart recalled that last spring the railroad had cooperated with local groups by scheduling two special trains to run from Kingston to Albany on Sunday nights for the convenience of those attending the Women's Bowling Association tournament here. The first train, scheduled to leave Kingston at 9:30 p. m. April 16, 1950, was in readiness, but not one passenger "showed up," Hart testified. The following Sunday, the same thing happened, he said.

W. R. Main testified that in his opinion, trains leaving from Weehawken were equal to those leaving from Grand Central Station "insofar as cleanliness is concerned." He also said that West Shore trains ran "on time" between 92 and 93 per cent of the time.

Newsprint Still Is Scarce

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP)—Supplies of newsprint will continue scarce through next year, the National Production Authority said yesterday, although it looks for a continued increase in production. NPA officials reported to publishers who make up the newspaper industry advisory committee that production this year approximate 6,600,000 tons in North America compared with 6,200,000 tons last year. Agency officials also estimated that from 40,000 to 50,000 tons probably will be needed in the first half of next year to make emergency shipments to friendly foreign countries.

Port Ewen Show Slated Next Week

The annual minstrel sponsored by Port Ewen Drum Corps is scheduled for November 14 and 15 in Town of Esopus Auditorium, and will be entirely different, according to Donald Decker, general chairman of the project.

Tickets are selling rapidly, Decker reported, and crowds are expected on both nights.

Endmen, all from the corps, are John Jordan, Arthur Fitzpatrick, Spencer Myers and John Carter. John Bach is interlocutor.

There will be an acrobatic specialty by Betty Bunce and Kathleen Mehm.

The chorus is made up of Walter Baschnagel, Robert Sanford, James Strubel, Lorin Beehler, Thomas Gorham, Frederick Schabot, William Webster, John Benton, Ronald Costello, John Stephano, Thomas Dugan, Donald Deyo, Francis O'Reilly, Donald Ferraro, Vincent Van Bramer, Joseph Fay.

Cold Snap Persists In Many Sections

(By The Associated Press)

The cold snap which gave an unseasonable chill to the southeastern third of the country remained in force today with many points reporting freezing temperatures.

Interior sections of the South Atlantic and East Gulf States today continued in the unfamiliar early November role as part of the nation's ice-box. Below normal temperatures prevailed over the entire section of the country east of the Mississippi river.

Except for a few snow flurries in the northern Appalachians and light rain on the Washington coast, the weather was generally fair throughout the country.

Temperatures included Chicago 26, Detroit 26, St. Louis 32, New York 40, Miami 58, New Orleans 38, Fort Worth 59, Minneapolis 30, Seattle 47, Los Angeles 57 and Phoenix 54. Houghton, Mich., was one of the coldest spots with 17 above.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN ELECTRIC RATE SCHEDULE

Rate Schedule P.S.C. No. 11—Electricity issued September 5, 1951, as amended October 22 and October 26, 1951, has been filed with the Public Service Commission of the State of New York to become effective and supersede rate schedule P.S.C. No. 10—Electricity on November 26, 1951. The new schedule, P.S.C. No. 11—Electricity, includes four service classifications as follows: S.C. No. 1 applicable to service supplied for residential and religious purposes; S.C. No. 2 applicable to service supplied for all purposes except in individual residences; S.C. No. 3 applicable to customers guaranteeing payment for a demand of 75 kilowatts; and S.C. No. 4 applicable to construction of aqueducts in the Town of Neversink.

In S.C. No. 1, the block rate applicable where the demand is not determined is $1.10 gross, $.95 net for the first 12 Kw.h. or less per month; 5.5c gross, 5.3c net per Kw.h. for the next 60 Kw.h. per month; 3.8c gross, 3.7c net per Kw.h. for the next 68 Kw.h. per month; and 2.2c gross and net per Kw.h. for all additional usage unless an approved electric storage water heater is installed in which event the charge becomes 1.95c gross and net per Kw.h. for the portion of the usage between 200 and 600 Kw.h. per month. The minimum monthly charge is $1.10 gross, $.95 net. Where the demand is determined the energy charges are the same as the block rate for the first 2,000 Kw.h. per month and $1.75 gross and net per Kw.h. for additional usage; the demand charge is $1.55 gross, $1.50 net per Kw. of the demand in excess of 10 Kw.; a fuel adjustment related to increases in the cost of coal over 8.90 per net ton at the Danskammer Point Steam Electric Generating Plant is applicable to all usage in excess of 2,000 Kw.h. per month; and the bill, exclusive of the fuel adjustment, is limited to the charge under the block rate for the first 2,000 Kw.h. monthly usage plus 3.7c gross and net per Kw.h. of the additional usage. The demand will be determined whenever the consumption has exceeded, or it is estimated will exceed, 4,000 Kw.h. in each of two consecutive bimonthly billing periods.

A customer operating a commercial establishment which is incidental to his residence may purchase service for his combined requirements under S.C. No. 1 if the connected load of the equipment used for commercial purposes does not exceed 1,500 watts.

In S.C. No. 2 the block rate applicable where the demand is not determined is $1.10 gross, $.95 net for the first 12 Kw.h. or less per month; 5.5c gross, 5.3c net per Kw.h. for the next 60 Kw.h. per month; and 3.8c gross, 3.7c net per Kw.h. for additional usage. Where the demand is determined the energy charges are the same as the block rate for the first 1,000 Kw.h. per month: .225c gross, 2.2c net per Kw.h. for the next 9,000 Kw.h. per month; and 1.75c gross and net per Kw.h. for additional usage; the demand charge is $1.55 gross, $1.50 net per Kw. of the demand in excess of 5 Kw.; and the bill, except for minimum charges, is limited to the charge under the block rate for the total usage. A fuel adjustment related to increases in the price of coal over $8.90 per net ton at the Danskammer Point Steam Electric Generating Plant is applicable to all usage in excess of 1,000 Kw.h. per month. The minimum monthly charge is $1.10 gross, $.95 net per month increased by $1.03 gross, $1.00 net per Kw. of measured demand in excess of 1 Kw. when polyphase service is provided. The demand will be determined whenever the consumption has exceeded, or it is estimated will exceed 2,000 Kw.h. in each of two consecutive bimonthly billing periods or 1,000 Kw.h. in each of three consecutive monthly billing periods. Where service supplied under this classification is used as auxiliary, standby or breakdown service the demand, minimum charge, and term of service will be established and the rate applied as specified in Special Provision 2.2 of the classification.

Additional charges are payable where the company furnishes circuits or fixtures for street lighting for whose operation electricity is supplied under this classification.

In S.C. No. 3 the monthly demand charges for primary service are $153.00 gross, $150.00 net for the first 75 Kw. or less of demand and $1.53 gross, $1.50 net per Kw. of additional demand. The energy charges for primary service are 1.785c gross, 1.75c net per Kw.h. for the first 10,000 Kw.h. per month; 1.53c gross, 1.5c net per Kw.h. for the next 15,000 Kw.h. per month; 1.224c gross, 1.2c net per Kw.h. for the next 225,000 Kw.h. per month; and .918c gross, .9c per Kw.h. for additional usage. A fuel adjustment related to increases in the cost of coal over $8.90 per net ton at the Danskammer Point Steam Electric Generating Plant is applicable to all usage under this classification. The minimum charge is the demand charge. Where the measured demand exceeds 300 kilowatts or 350 kilovolt amperes the billing demand will be taken as 85% of the demand in kilovolt amperes but not less than 300 kilowatts. Where service is supplied from a secondary network the bills computed under the above rate are increased by 5%. If a customer's usage is substantially more during off-peak hours the demand charge will be based on the demand during specified on-peak hours plus one-half the additional demand during other hours.

S.C. No. 4 is the same as S.C. No. 4 in the superseded Schedule No. 10—Electricity except that the energy charge for all usage under this classification is 1.0c per Kw.h. in the new schedule.

Chairman

BRUCE SHEAR

Bruce Shear, associate supervisor, bureau of guidance, State Education Department, Albany, will serve as chairman for the two-day guidance workshop to be held at State Teachers College, New Paltz on November 15 and 16.

Shear, formerly director of pupil personnel services for the first supervisory district of Westchester county, is now charged with the promotion and supervision of school guidance programs in the mid-Hudson, metropolitan and Long Island areas.

As conference chairman, Shear brings to the workshop a wide experience in guidance activities. He has served as counselor at Port Washington and guidance director at Cobleskill and Delmar, as well as instructor at Teachers College, Columbia University.

The workshop will bring together school administrators and guidance personnel from Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster counties to discuss the role of guidance in the state-wide program for the readjustment of high school education.

Members of the guidance department, Miss Karl, Miss Kirshenblum, Clifford Miller, who are counselors, and James Tobin, director of guidance, plan to attend the conference. John Martin, principal of Kingston High School, and Harry Gumaer, principal of Myron J. Michael School, also will attend.

P.S.C. instruct the railroad to prepare such a breakdown for inclusion in the record. Examiner Williamson said Stang's request would be taken under advisement.

In his testimony, Hart recalled that last spring the railroad had cooperated with local groups by scheduling two special trains to run from Kingston to Albany on Sunday nights for the convenience of those attending the Women's Bowling Association tournament here. The first train, scheduled to leave Kingston at 9:30 p. m. April 16, 1950, was in readiness, but not one passenger "showed up," Hart testified. The following Sunday, the same thing happened, he said.

W. R. Main testified that in his opinion, trains leaving from Weehawken were equal to those leaving from Grand Central Station "insofar as cleanliness is concerned." He also said that West Shore trains ran "on time" between 92 and 93 per cent of the time.

Newsprint Still Is Scarce

Washington, Nov. 9 (AP)—Supplies of newsprint will continue scarce through next year, the National Production Authority said yesterday, although it looks for a continued increase in production. NPA officials reported to publishers who make up the newspaper industry advisory committee that production this year approximate 6,600,000 tons in North America compared with 6,200,000 tons last year. Agency officials also estimated that from 40,000 to 50,000 tons probably will be needed in the first half of next year to make emergency shipments to friendly foreign countries.

There will be an acrobatic specialty by Betty Bunce and Kathleen Mehm.

The chorus is made up of Walter Baschnagel, Robert Sanford, James Strubel, Lorin Beehler, Thomas Gorham, Frederick Schabot, William Webster, John Benton, Ronald Costello, John Stephano, Thomas Dugan, Donald Deyo, Francis O'Reilly, Donald Ferraro, Vincent Van Bramer, Joseph Fay.

Cold Snap Persists In Many Sections

(By The Associated Press)

The cold snap which gave an unseasonable chill to the southeastern third of the country remained in force today with many points reporting freezing temperatures.

Interior sections of the South Atlantic and East Gulf States today continued in the unfamiliar early November role as part of the nation's ice-box. Below normal temperatures prevailed over the entire section of the country east of the Mississippi river.

Except for a few snow flurries in the northern Appalachians and light rain on the Washington coast, the weather was generally fair throughout the country.

Temperatures included Chicago 26, Detroit 26, St. Louis 32, New York 40, Miami 58, New Orleans 38, Fort Worth 59, Minneapolis 30, Seattle 47, Los Angeles 57 and Phoenix 54. Houghton, Mich., was one of the coldest spots with 17 above.

Revived at Morgue, Woman, 60, Lives

San Francisco, Nov. 9 (AP)—A 60-year-old widow clung precariously to life today after having been pronounced dead, then reviving at the city morgue.

The apparently lifeless body of Mrs. Theresa Butler was found in the bathtub of her fashionable apartment yesterday noon. A doctor pronounced her dead. Two hours later, an assistant coroner heard a faint gasp as he unloaded her "body" at the city morgue.

Startled, James Leonard turned to see Mrs. Butler's jaw drop open, then quiver slightly. She was rushed to a hospital. Again she seemed dead . . . no pulse, no apparent respiration and no measurable blood pressure.

More startled even than Leonard was Dr. Edward McLin, the 36-year-old physician who had pronounced her dead.

'Dead as They Come'

"She looked as dead as they come," he reported. "She lay in a tub of cold water. Her flesh was cold and there was no heart sound, no respiration and no reflex of the eye."

Police had listed her as an apparent suicide after finding two empty sleeping pill bottles and notes to her daughter directing cremation and giving instructions for the disposal of her estate.

The daughter, Betty Butler, of nearby San Jose reported her mother had been despondent over a 30-year illness and the recent death of her husband.

Authorities agreed Dr. McLin's appraisal of death probably would have been confirmed by any physician under the circumstances. The doctor said the jolting movement of the coroner's ambulance en route to the morgue may have had the effect of artificial respiration.

Scant Hope

Today, doctors held scant hope for Mrs. Butler's complete recovery. They said it will be another day before they know if she will survive, and then she may be paralyzed, sightless or deaf, due to prolonged lack of blood pressure to supply oxygen to her brain.

Plans Announced For Yule Garlands

Early plans call for Christmas decorations extending from St. James street to Delaware avenue, a spokesman of the Central Businessmen's Association reported today.

However, the spokesman explained that in order to accomplish this the group needs the cooperation of every merchant in the area.

Representatives of the business group will make calls at an early date on merchants in that district to determine whether the Yule decorations will be carried out as planned.

Another meeting will be held next Thursday night at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium, 23 Grand street, to which all merchants in the area are invited.

Stone Ridge Residents Collect Clothes for Koreans

A branch of the national organization "Relief for Korea" has recently been formed in Stone Ridge and is believed to be the first in the county. Summer and winter clothes are being collected at the stores of Harry Cornish, Milton Elmendorf, Irving Feinberg, post office, Sturges Locker plants, and all the schools in the district. The campaign which opens today will continue until Thanksgiving Day, when the clothes will be taken to the New York headquarters for shipment and distribution in Korea. The local committee expects that the Koreans will have the clothes before Christmas. Committee members in the photo are Mrs. William Hasbrouck, Miss Sara Lounsbery, Mrs. Peter Scott, Mrs. Nino LaSavio, Mrs. LeRoy Van Der Burgh, and Mrs. John Basten. (Freeman Photo)

Esopus Legion Will Honor War Dead

Members of the Town of Esopus Post, 1298, American Legion, will conduct memorial services for members who lost their lives in World War 1 and 2 at Ulster Park Sunday at 11 a. m.

The rites will be held at the World War 1 monument. Members will leave the Post Home in a body at 10:30 a. m.

Roger Mabie, commander, requests a large turnout of members to pay homage to the dead veterans.

Nuckols Has . . .

was a key issue involved in the current dispute.)

Nuckols said the UN command was "beginning to view with some misgivings the idea of a formalized line."

This represents a change in the allied attitude in the past two weeks, Nuchols admitted. When cease-fire talks were resumed recently after a two months break, the UN itself proposed a tentative buffer zone. This was similar to the zone the Reds are now proposing except for the Kaesong area in the west.

Nuckols said the step was taken because "there were indications they were ready for solution." But, he said, it is becoming "more and more apparent" the Reds want to make any zone a final zone.

Murray Re-elected

come the differences which split them 17 years ago.

Talks about a merger broke off in August, 1950.

No Direct Talks

In the meantime, the AFL pointed out, there have been no direct talks about merger. AFL leaders blamed Murray, who has been ill a large part of the past 12 months.

On the other hand the CIO, in its resolution and in speeches of convention speakers, blamed the AFL for breaking up the United Labor Policy Committee two months ago.

The unity question, along with a declaration on political activity, remained for action today by the delegates in advance of election of officers.

The fact that Murray had no opposition for another year as president was in itself a development, because early in September he told his nine vice-presidents that he wanted to step out.

The convention last night adopted a resolution on foreign policy which, in effect, supported President Truman's apparently fruitless appeal to Soviet Russia to help end the armament and atomic race.

Police Will Take Promotion Exams

Nineteen members of the local police department will take promotional examinations at the high school Nov. 17, the Municipal Civil Service Commission announced today.

The top vacancy is that of police captain left by the retirement of William T. Roedell earlier this year.

The two lieutenants, William J. Leonard and James P. Martin, will take the captain's examination, and the four sergeants, Lemuel F. Howard, Robert F. Murphy, James E. Cullum, and William H. Messing will try for lieutenant.

The moving up will leave a patrolman vacancy, which will be filled some time after the other appointments have been made.

The commission said that 13 patrolmen will try the examination to fill the vacancy left by the appointment of a sergeant to the lieutenancy.

Similar promotional examinations will be held in other communities throughout the state on the same date.

Claims Overlooked By Many Veterans

State Veteran Counselor Donald G. Moore revealed today that only 50 per cent of those eligible as former prisoners of war or civilian internees have applied for the benefits to which they are entitled under the Federal War Claims Act.

Counselor Moore said that persons eligible for benefits under this act include military personnel who were prisoners of war in any theatre in World War 2 and certain American civilians who were interned by the Japanese in the Philippines, Midway, Guam, Wake Island or any Territory or Possession of the United States attacked or invaded by the Japanese on or after December 7, 1941. In some instances survivors may be eligible for the benefits in case of the death of the prisoner of war or civilian internees.

Former prisoners of war may receive $1 for each day of imprisonment on which the enemy failed to provide adequate food and under certain conditions, civilian internees may be entitled to $60 for each month of their internment.

Claim forms are available at the local office of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main street and must be filed with the War Claims Commission before March 31, 1952.

Eddyville Man Held

Joseph Bandes, 20, of Eddyville, was arrested by Detective Clarence Brophy at police headquarters yesterday afternoon on a charge based on a section of law relating to rape, but which, police said, constitutes an indictable misdemeanor because the defendant is under 21 years old. The case was put over for a week when Bandes was brought before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today, and bail was fixed at $1,000. Police said the girl allegedly involved is under 16.

Now's the Time to SELL SCRAP!

How YOU Can Help in The Scrap Drive
1. Collect every pound of iron and steel scrap—every day!
2. Scrap all machines worn out or broken beyond repair.
3. Pass the word around to your personnel to gather up scrap at home.
4. Sell your scrap to a scrap dealer. He will see that it gets into steel production.

Scrap prices are high—the nation's steel plants need scrap badly. Chances are you have many dollars worth of loose odds and ends lying around . . . worn-out tools, scrap of all kinds—iron and steel scrap you've long meant to have hauled away. We'll pay you well for every piece. Most important you'll render a vital service to our national defense—and boost the production of steel products you yourself use.

Revived at Morgue, Woman, 60, Lives

San Francisco, Nov. 9 (AP)—A 60-year-old widow clung precariously to life today after having been pronounced dead, then reviving at the city morgue.

The apparently lifeless body of Mrs. Theresa Butler was found in the bathtub of her fashionable apartment yesterday noon. A doctor pronounced her dead. Two hours later, an assistant coroner heard a faint gasp as he unloaded her "body" at the city morgue.

Startled, James Leonard turned to see Mrs. Butler's jaw drop open, then quiver slightly. She was rushed to a hospital. Again she seemed dead . . . no pulse, no apparent respiration and no measurable blood pressure.

But, with the administration of oxygen, blood transfusions, drugs and artificial respiration, she began a slow climb back from the edge of the grave.

More startled even than Leonard was Dr. Edward McLin, the 36-year-old physician who had pronounced her dead.

'Dead as They Come'

"She looked as dead as they come," he reported. "She lay in a tub of cold water. Her flesh was cold and there was no heart sound, no respiration and no reflex of the eye."

Police had listed her as an apparent suicide after finding two empty sleeping pill bottles and notes to her daughter directing cremation and giving instructions for the disposal of her estate.

The daughter, Betty Butler, of nearby San Jose reported her mother had been despondent over a 30-year illness and the recent death of her husband.

Authorities agreed Dr. McLin's appraisal of death probably would have been confirmed by any physician under the circumstances. The doctor said the jolting movement of the coroner's ambulance en route to the morgue may have had the effect of artificial respiration.

Scant Hope

Today, doctors held scant hope for Mrs. Butler's complete recovery. They said it will be another day before they know if she will survive, and then she may be paralyzed, sightless or deaf, due to prolonged lack of blood pressure to supply oxygen to her brain.

Plans Announced For Yule Garlands

Early plans call for Christmas decorations extending from St. James street to Delaware avenue, a spokesman of the Central Businessmen's Association reported today.

However, the spokesman explained that in order to accomplish this the group needs the cooperation of every merchant in the area.

Representatives of the business group will make calls at an early date on merchants in that district to determine whether the Yule decorations will be carried out as planned.

Another meeting will be held next Thursday night at the Ruzzo Bowlatorium, 23 Grand street, to which all merchants in the area are invited.

Stone Ridge Residents Collect Clothes for Koreans

A branch of the national organization "Relief for Korea" has recently been formed in Stone Ridge and is believed to be the first in the county. Summer and winter clothes are being collected at the stores of Harry Cornish, Milton Elmendorf, Irving Feinberg, post office, Sturges Locker plants, and all the schools in the district. The campaign which opens today will continue until Thanksgiving Day, when the clothes will be taken to the New York headquarters for shipment and distribution in Korea. The local committee expects that the Koreans will have the clothes before Christmas. Committee members in the photo are Mrs. William Hasbrouck, Miss Sara Lounsbery, Mrs. Peter Scott, Mrs. Nino LaSavio, Mrs. LeRoy Van Der Burgh, and Mrs. John Basten. (Freeman Photo)

Esopus Legion Will Honor War Dead

Members of the Town of Esopus Post, 1298, American Legion, will conduct memorial services for members who lost their lives in World War 1 and 2 at Ulster Park Sunday at 11 a. m.

The rites will be held at the World War 1 monument. Members will leave the Post Home in a body at 10:30 a. m.

Roger Mabie, commander, requests a large turnout of members to pay homage to the dead veterans.

Nuckols Has . . .

was a key issue involved in the current dispute.)

Nuckols said the UN command was "beginning to view with some misgivings the idea of a formalized line."

This represents a change in the allied attitude in the past two weeks, Nuchols admitted. When cease-fire talks were resumed recently after a two months break, the UN itself proposed a tentative buffer zone. This was similar to the zone the Reds are now proposing except for the Kaesong area in the west.

Nuckols said the step was taken because "there were indications they were ready for solution." But, he said, it is becoming "more and more apparent" the Reds want to make any zone a final zone.

Murray Re-elected

come the differences which split them 17 years ago.

Talks about a merger broke off in August, 1950.

No Direct Talks

In the meantime, the AFL pointed out, there have been no direct talks about merger. AFL leaders blamed Murray, who has been ill a large part of the past 12 months.

On the other hand the CIO, in its resolution and in speeches of convention speakers, blamed the AFL for breaking up the United Labor Policy Committee two months ago.

The unity question, along with a declaration on political activity, remained for action today by the delegates in advance of election of officers.

The fact that Murray had no opposition for another year as president was in itself a development, because early in September he told his nine vice-presidents that he wanted to step out.

The convention last night adopted a resolution on foreign policy which, in effect, supported President Truman's apparently fruitless appeal to Soviet Russia to help end the armament and atomic race.

Police Will Take Promotion Exams

Nineteen members of the local police department will take promotional examinations at the high school Nov. 17, the Municipal Civil Service Commission announced today.

The top vacancy is that of police captain left by the retirement of William T. Roedell earlier this year.

The two lieutenants, William J. Leonard and James P. Martin, will take the captain's examination, and the four sergeants, Lemuel F. Howard, Robert F. Murphy, James E. Cullum, and William H. Messing will try for lieutenant.

The moving up will leave a patrolman vacancy, which will be filled some time after the other appointments have been made.

The commission said that 13 patrolmen will try the examination to fill the vacancy left by the appointment of a sergeant to the lieutenancy.

Similar promotional examinations will be held in other communities throughout the state on the same date.

Claims Overlooked By Many Veterans

State Veteran Counselor Donald G. Moore revealed today that only 50 per cent of those eligible as former prisoners of war or civilian internees have applied for the benefits to which they are entitled under the Federal War Claims Act.

Counselor Moore said that persons eligible for benefits under this act include military personnel who were prisoners of war in any theatre in World War 2 and certain American civilians who were interned by the Japanese in the Philippines, Midway, Guam, Wake Island or any Territory or Possession of the United States attacked or invaded by the Japanese on or after December 7, 1941. In some instances survivors may be eligible for the benefits in case of the death of the prisoner of war or civilian internees.

Former prisoners of war may receive $1 for each day of imprisonment on which the enemy failed to provide adequate food and under certain conditions, civilian internees may be entitled to $60 for each month of their internment.

Claim forms are available at the local office of the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main street and must be filed with the War Claims Commission before March 31, 1952.

Eddyville Man Held

Joseph Bandes, 20, of Eddyville, was arrested by Detective Clarence Brophy at police headquarters yesterday afternoon on a charge based on a section of law relating to rape, but which, police said, constitutes an indictable misdemeanor because the defendant is under 21 years old. The case was put over for a week when Bandes was brought before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today, and bail was fixed at $1,000. Police said the girl allegedly involved is under 16.
